Suppose the teacher is receiving three thousand dollars a year and arrives at the age of seventy, perfect as far as mental faculties are concerned, and is then forced on the pension list at fifteen hundred dollars a year. Someone else has got to get his or her place at a salary of three thousand dollars a year, and the pension list has been actually stung for fifteen hundred dollars. Now, anybody who has arrived at the age of seventy years, if he has all his faculties required in that business, calling or profession, he should not be forced to retire, if he can still conduct his work right. If he cannot do his work right, there is a board that decides that question. When you come to the question of favoritism, that argument ought not to exist, because we all know as Americans and Pennsylvanians that the conduct of the affairs of this State have been remarkably free from favoritism, and we know that the school system as a proposition, has been handled in an honest and square manner. It seems to me that the bill is a good act and has merit in it, and I believe that it ought to pass.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, if this bill treated all teachers alike, we would have no objection to it whatsoever. This measure specifies that it shall not extend to the heads of astronomical departments in the State, of which there is only one in Pennsylvania. This is evidently special legislation, and as it does not take in the heads of all departments and of all schools, we object very strenuously to it, and hope that you will vote this bill down.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Martin). This bill looks to me like class legislation. If it included all the teachers, I would be favorable to it, but if you are only going to take in certain people, when there are probably others in some other school who should benefit by it, you are depriving them here of that privilege. If you make this bill to include all of them, I think every member of the House would vote favorably. But as it is, I think it is class legislation.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Martin) and the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Dunn) at the same time.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Dunn) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether, if this bill included all the teachers, he would support it.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I would.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Martin) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I would also like to ask the gentleman whether he would support the bill if it included all teachers.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I would.

Mr. PALMER. Then, Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill be placed on the postponed calendar for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Education for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. SINCLAIR. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1368 (Senate Bill No. 392), entitled

An Act to provide for outstanding liability losses of insurance companies transacting the business of insuring any one against loss or damage resulting from accident to or injury suffered by an employe or other person for which the person insured is liable and also for outstanding losses incurred under the workmen's compensation act of one thousand nine hundred fifteen and repealing existing laws

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WILLIAM T. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title by striking out the word "revenues" and inserting "reserves," first line.

Amend line 2, page 2, by striking out "unit" and inserting "suit."

Amend line 28, page 3, by striking out "term" and inserting "terms."

Amend line 18, page 4, by inserting after the word "the" the word "first."

Amend line 23, page 4, by striking out "for" and inesrting "to."

Amend line 10, page 6, by striking out "valuating" and inserting "valuing."

Amend line 10, page 6, by inserting after the word "promulgated" the words "and approved by the Insurance Commissioner."

Amend line 11, page 6, by striking out "such insurers" and inserting "any insurer under his supervision."

Amend line 11, page 6, by striking out the word "reserves."

Amend line 12, page 6, by inserting after "basis" the words "greater or lesser reserves than those hereinbefore provided for."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objections? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1477, as follows:

An Act to protect bituminous coal miners in the determination of the amount of coal to be used as a basis for calculating wages providing that payment shall be made for the quantity mined irrespective of size requiring mine cars to be of uniform capacity granting the miners the right to employ check-weighmen or check-measurers and prescribing their powers and duties imposing certain duties on mine inspectors and providing penalties

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act any miner employed by an individual association co-partnership or corporation for the purpose of mining bituminous coal shall be entitled to receive from his employer and failing to receive then to collect by due process of law at such rates as may have been agreed upon between the employer and the employed full and exact wages accruing to him for the mining of all sizes of merchantable coal so mined by him whether the same shall exist in the form of nut or lump coal and in the adjudication of such wages seventy-six pounds shall be deemed one bushel and two thousand pounds net shall be deemed one ton of coal Provided that nothing contained in this act shall be construed to prevent operators and miners contracting for any method of measuring and screening the coal mined by such miners as they may contract for

Section 2 That at every bituminous coal mine in this Commonwealth where coal is mined by measurement all cars filled by miners or their laborers shall be uniform in capacity at each mine no unbranded car or cars shall enter the mine for a longer period than three months without being branded by the mine inspector of the district wherein the mine is situated and any owner or owners or their agents violating the provisions of this section shall be subject to a fine of not less than one dollar per car for each and every day as long as the car is not in conformity with this act and the mine inspector of the district where the mine is located on receiving notice from the check-measurer or any five miners working in the mine that a car or cars are not properly branded or not uniform in capacity according to law are used in the mine where he or they are employed then inside of three days from the date of receiving said notice it shall be his duty to enforce the provisions of this section under penalty of ten dollars for each and every day he permits such car or cars to enter the mine Provided That nothing contained in this section shall be construed or applied to those mines that do not use more than ten cars

Section 3 That at every bituminous coal mine in this Commonwealth where coal is mined by weight or measure the miners or a majority of those present at a meeting called for that purpose shall have the right to employ a competent person as check-weighman or check-measurer as the case may require who shall be permitted at all times to be present at the weighing or measurement of coal also have power to weigh or measure the same and during the regular working hours to have the privilege to balance and examine the scales or measure the cars Provided That all such balancing and examination of scales shall only be donc in such way and in such time as in no way to interfere with the regular working of the mines And he shall not be considered a trespasser during working hours while attending to the interests of his employers And in no manner shall he be interfered with or intimidated by any person agent owner or miner And any person violating these provisions shall be held and deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof he shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty dollars and not exceeding one hundred dollars or by imprisonment for a period not exceeding sixty days at the discretion of the court It shall be a further duty of check-weighman or check-measurer to credit each miner with all merchantable coal mined by him on a proper sheet or book to be kept by him for that purpose When differences arise between the check-weighman or check-measurer and the agent or owners of the mine as to the uniformity capacity or correctness of scales or cars used the same shall be referred to the mine inspector of the district where the mine is located whose duty it shall be to regulate the same at once and in the event of said scales or cars proving to be correct than the party or parties applying for the testing thereof to bear all costs and expenses thereof but if not correct then the owner or owners of said mine to pay the costs and charges of making said examination Provided

Further That should any weighman or weighmen agent or check-measurer whether employed by operators or miners knowingly or willfully adopt or take more or less pounds for a bushel or ton than as provided for in the first section of this act or wilfully neglect the balancing or examining of the scales or cars or knowingly and willfully weigh coal with an incorrect scale he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the county jail for three months

Section 4 Nothing in this act contained shall be taken to affect or repeal any of the provisions of the act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and seventy-two) entitled "An Act for the appointment of county and city inspectors of weights and measures providing for their compensation and expenses prescribing their duties prohibiting vendors from giving false or insufficient weights and fixing the penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof" or of any of the amendments thereto

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 1655 (Senate Bill No. 535), entitled

A Supplement to an act, entitled "An Act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations," approved the 29th day of April, Anno Domini 1874, providing for the incorporation and regulation of telephone companies, defining the rights, powers and privileges of such corporations, authorizing and regulating the purchase, acquisition, and leasing the whole or any part of the properties, systems, capital stock and securities of other corporations, associations and persons engaged in the telephone business, and authorizing existing telegraph corporations to accept the provisions of this act, was recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Corporations, be reconsidered.

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill of great import. It is a bill that ought to be thoroughly discussed, and for that reason it was sent to the Committee on Municipal Corporations, as it originally belonged there. This bill attempts to wipe out the independent telephone companies. The smaller communities are vitally interested in this matter. Throughout this State we have a number of independent telephone companies which are of great service and great convenience to the subscribers thereto, and I hope the House will vote down the motion to take this bill away from the Municipal Corporations Committee, for the reason that we ought to have a thorough hearing on this matter and get at the bottom of this question.

Mr. COX. When this bill came from the Senate it was consigned to the Committee on Corporations, which committee reported the bill out after it had been heard in committee. I have no objection as to how important the measure is, but I do have objection to discourteous treatment on the part of any member to a committee. This bill belongs to the Committee on Corporations. It was there, and if the gentleman wanted it to be re-committed, it should be sent back to the committee of which I have the honor of being the chairman. I have no objection to having a hearing on the bill, and I believe this House will agree with me that if it is to be recommitted, it should be recommitted to that committee; and I ask the House to reconsider the vote by which this bill was recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Corporations, and then recommit it to the Committee on Corporations, and I will promise the House that it will have a fair and impartial hearing before the committee.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Corporations for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 16, 1919.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

An Act relative to the payment over to the county treasurer of certain counties of taxes collected by tax collectors of county taxes passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 550 was agreed to on third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 550 be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. COX. I second the motion.
The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILLS NOS. 44, 126, 127, 128, 129, 259, 562, 668, 792, 934, 962, 1022, 1074 and 1138.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 44, entitled "An Act making an appropriation to provide for a deficiency in the maintenance of the Pennsylvania Training School for Feeble Minded Children, Elwyn, Delaware County, Pennsylvania."

Also: House Bill No. 126, entitled "An Act providing for the payment into the State Treasury of unclaimed funds in the hands of fiduciaries, defining the term fiduciary, providing for the refunding of such funds from the State Treasury with interest to persons entitled thereto, and making an appropriation therefor; prohibiting the discharge of such fiduciaries, the release of their sureties or the final distribution of funds in their possession until after compliance with the provisions of this act and imposing penalties."

Also: House Bill No. 127, entitled "An Act providing for the payment into the State Treasury of the amounts of unclaimed distributive shares from the assets of corporations, unincorporated associations and limited partnership associations in process of dissolution; requiring reports of such amounts to be made to the Auditor General by the liquidating trustees or other persons charged with the dissolution of unincorporated associations and limited partnership associations; further providing for the refund of such amounts from the State Treasury with interest thereon to persons entitled thereto and making an appropriation therefor and providing penalties."

Also: House Bill No. 128, entitled "An Act providing for the payment into the State Treasury without escheat of certain moneys and property subject to escheat under the provisions of any act of the General Assembly, and for the refund thereof with interest to persons entitled thereto, and making an appropriation for such refund."

Also: House Bill No. 129, entitled "An Act to amend the second section of an act entitled "An Act relating to unclaimed deposits in saving banks and transfer of stock," approved the seventeenth day of April, Anno Domini, one thousand eight hundred seventy-two (Pamphlet Laws sixty-two), so as to provide that the Auditor General, State Treasurer and Attorney General may upon satisfactory proof of ownership order the refund to persons entitled thereto of the amounts of deposits paid into the State Treasury under the provisions of said act with interest thereon in place of requiring a suit for such refund to be instituted in the court of common pleas of Dauphin County."

Also: House Bill No. 259, entitled "An Act to amend section six of an act approved the twentieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and eighteen), entitled "An Act relating to the appointment of persons to the police department in cities of the third class; providing for and regulating examinations, the manner of appointments and the manner and power of removal of employes of said department, and providing a method for fixing compensation," so as to permit temporary suspensions by the Superintendent of Public Affairs."

Also: House Bill No. 562, entitled "A Supplement to the act approved the twenty-fifth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Appropriation acts page two hundred and sixty five), entitled "An Act making an appropriation to the trustees of the State Hospital for the Insane for the Southeastern District of Pennsylvania, located at Norristown, Pennsylvania."

Also: House Bill No. 668, entitled "An Act supplementing the act approved the twenty-fifth day of July, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, entitled "An Act making an appropriation to the Trustees of the State Hospital for the Insane of the Southeastern District of Pennsylvania, located at Norristown, Pennsylvania," and extending the unexpended portion of the appropriation for purchase of lands and providing for condemnation proceedings of land that cannot be acquired by purchase at a proper price."

Also: House Bill No. 792, entitled "An Act to revise, amend and consolidate the law relating to fish in certain boundary lakes and penisular waters."

Also: House Bill No. 934, entitled "An Act authorizing any company incorporated under the laws of any other State for the purpose of cutting, harvesting, storing, transporting and selling natural ice, or for any of said purposes; to erect and maintain buildings and storage houses, and to have and to hold either by leases for terms of years or by deed in fee simple real estate to an amount necessary and proper therefor."

Also: House Bill No. 962, entitled "An Act providing a method of establishing title to land acquired at a sale for unpaid taxes or municipal claims."

Also: House Bill No. 1022, entitled "An Act to provide for the licensing and regulation of public dance halls and ball rooms and for the regulation supervision of public dances and balls in cities of the first, second and third classes."

Also: House Bill No. 1074, entitled "An Act providing for the time during which pupils may be taught in Institutions for the Instruction of the Blind in this Commonwealth."

Also: House Bill No. 1138, entitled "An Act authorizing the Commonwealth to rebuild county bridges over eight hundred feet in length located on State highways where such bridges have been heretofore destroyed by fire; providing for the appointment of viewers and inspectors and for the payment of the costs of rebuilding such bridges and imposing certain charges upon counties."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

ADDRESS ON DEATH OF HONORABLE JOHN M'KAY.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Luzerne (Mr. Powell).

Mr. POWELL. Mr. Speaker, just when joy filled the hearts of the people at the home coming of the boys, and while his fellow-members of the House of Representatives were viewing the great parade of the Twenty-eighth, or Iron Division, at Philadelphia, on Thursday, May 15, the shadow of gloom is spread over this House on the departure from life of our distinguished member, faithful friend and statesman, the Honorable John McKay, one of the Assembly's most active workers and one of Luzerne county's most respected, best beloved, upright, conscientious citizens. Death came to his bedside following an illness of a few days; and, while the reaper's call had been expected, its coming leaves genuine sorrow and suffering in its wake, to his many, many friends. His loss will be a great one to the people of the Sixth Legislative District of Luzerne county and the Commonwealth in general. His place will be hard to fill. We, who have associated with him in the Legislative Halls at Harrisburg, will miss him greatly. Mr. McKay was an upright man. The story of his life is one that tells the reward of honesty, persistency, good living, good companionship, splendid citizenship, church worker and official. From a coal miner in the bowels of the earth, he climbed the ladder of successful citizenship to the membership in the House of Representatives. It was a struggle in which there were howls of discouragement, but it was a contest in which the spirit never failed, and high ideals were never lost. John McKay succeeded because he had an ideal and because he had faith in God to make it real. Mr. McKay was a modest and unassuming gentleman; but he was real and he was active; he was a doer of real things and ideals and not a dreamer of them. He was a hard worker. He worked long hours in his earlier days. He was faithful and devoted to his people whom he had the pleasure and honor to represent in the Assembly Halls, at Harrisburg. It is little wonder that in the passing away of such a man, so real, so earnest, so faithful and good that a great Commonwealth bows its head in grief and great sorrow and, through the lumps that clog the throat and the grief that palpitates the heart, is able to say, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, well done."

ADJOURNMENT OUT OF RESPECT TO THE MEMORY OF HONORABLE JOHN M'KAY.

Mr. POWELL, Mr. Speaker, I now move that this House adjourn out of respect to the memory of the Honorable John McKay, late member of the House of Representatives from the Sixth Legislative District of Luzerne County.

Mr. CHARLES A. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 11.35 o'clock P. M.) the House adjourned until to-morrow morning at 11.00 o'clock.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1919 123rd of the General Assembly

Vol. 5. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MAY 20, 1919. No. 50.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, May 20, 1919.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward E. Beidleman) in the chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, with the opening of Congress yesterday in Washington, called into extraordinary session by President Wilson from Paris, our nation has entered upon the most crucial period of its glorious history. Grave problems of national and world-wide importance will be presented to this Congress for solution. The great destiny of our nation in its international relations hangs in the balance. The problems facing our American statesmen were never more momentous and opportune than in this crisis. We pray that this Reconstruction Congress may be guided by Divine wisdom in all their deliberations and legislative enactments. May the ideals and traditions of our great nation be safeguarded as far as the international welfare of humanity will permit. These favors we ask in our Saviour's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. GRAFF, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 698, entitled:

An Act providing that failure to carry lights on vehicles other than motor vehicles shall be prima facie evidence of negligence in any suit for the recovery of damages

And said bill having been read the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Murdoch.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Murdoch, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MURDOCH. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator why he makes a distinction between motor vehicles and other vehicles.

Mr. MURDOCH. Mr. President, because the law covers motor vehicles.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator whether he thinks a person who has a vehicle other than a motor vehicle, where there is a collision, and where there is a great personal damage done, that his right to recover should be denied him by the law if there is negligence on the part of the person defending?

Mr. MURDOCH. Mr. President, I would answer that in this way, that only last evening, driving less than forty miles from here, there was one of these wagons, or tanks, with the pole sticking over four feet on the highway on one side and another wagon on the other side. I will say I think anybody who does not put a light on a vehicle other than a motor vehicle is liable for damage.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to interrigate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Murdoch.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Murdoch, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MURDOCH. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator if the Mearkle bill, which we have already passed, and which is now on the calendar in the House, will not amply take care of lights on vehicles on country roads.

Mr. MURDOCH. Mr. President, the only trouble with the Mearkle bill is that they want to tie a lantern on a bull and cow, and they cannot tie it, I think on this one.

And the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Donahue,	Martin,	Snyder,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 705 (House Bill No. 954), entitled:

An act to amend section six of an act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws ten hundred and fifty-five) entitled "An Act authorizing the release on probation of certain convicts instead of imposing sentences the appointment of probation and parole officers and the payment of their salaries and expenses regulating the manner of sentencing convicts in certain cases and providing for their release on parole their conviction of crime during parole and their rearrest and reconviction for breach of parole and extending the powers and duties of boards of prison inspectors of penitentiaries."

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I hope the Senate will vote down Senate Bill No. 705. I am informed that this bill is drawn in the interest of one man, who was the head of a private bank and embezzled funds of the bank, to the distress of the depositors, and that the parole law is to be amended in the interest of this individual. I consider that to be vicious kind of legislation, and I hope the Senate will vote it down.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, May 20, 1919.

The House met at 11:00 o'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

Lord God of Sabbaoth, truly we can say, if the Lord had not been on our side, well might Israel say, as we have now, in the dawning of peace and our own internal conditions as we entered into the fearful fray, in the hour of trial, we are always ready to cry unto Thee, let us not forget Thee in the hour of peace; and above all things grant unto us that the lessons wherein we were weak and faulty, wherein we were thoughtless, that these may be brought home to us for correction and for revision. Grant that we may not ever be found in the condition of unpreparedness in which we were found in the fearful, crucial hour when the destiny of our Nation hung in the balance. Grant, we also beseech Thee, that wise men may take counsel together and make such provision for the days of the future that we shall never have such an occurence again in our history. Bless us, we pray Thee, and grant that all men may work towards one end, the uplift, and not the curse and destruction of the race; and grant unto this House a special place to do something towards that great approach of a day wherein peace and concord and confraternity may prevail. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on motion of Mr. GRIEST, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? The Chair hears no objection, and leave is granted.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: This is the same resolution that I tried twice last night to get introduced, which caused the curiosity of the members of the House. Both times I was unsuccessful. Attached to the resolution is the signature of every member of the Allegheny County delegation in the House, something rare and unusual from Allegheny County, a unanimous decision on anything; but it only signifies our respect and esteem for our good friend, Ed. Brackney. When I was refused permission last evening to get this resolution before the House, after having explained its purpose to our good Speaker, I felt a good bit like an Irishman named Murphy. There were two Irishmen came to Pittsburgh many years ago by the name of Mike Murphy and Pat Casey, and both were employed on the Pennsylvania Railroad as section hands. Murphy, in his common, ordinary way, dogged along at the same job for forty years; but Casey, because of his shrewdness and aptness, advanced to the superintendency of the division, and when this news came to Murphy he says to his wife: "Mary," he says, "my good friend, Pat Murphy is now superintendent of the road: I never had a pass over the road as long as I worked for it. I think I will go to see Pat and get a pass, and we will take a trip to New York." So he goes out and he gets on the train and he goes into the superintendent's office and he is asked who he wants to see. He says, "I want to see Pat Casey." He is ushered into Mr. Casey's office, and he says, "How are you Pat Casey, you old son-of-a-gun. I haven't seen you for these forty years." And Casey says to him, "What do you mean coming here in that way and talking to me in that vulgar manner? Don't you know I am superintendent of the road? I want you to come in here in the proper way. You can come in and address me properly and you will say, 'How do you do, Mr. Casey?' and I will say, 'How do you do, Mr. Murphy? What can I do for you?' and you will say, 'I would like to have a pass to New York,' and you will get it." And he says, "Now you come back tomorrow and you will say, 'How do you do, Mr. Casey?' and I will say, 'How do you do, Mr. Murphy? What can I do for you?'" Murphy went out, down-trodden and humiliated, and he went home and came back the next morning, and went into the superintendent's office and he says, "How do you do, Mr. Casey?" and Mr. Casey says, "How do you do, Mr. Murphy, and what can I do for you?" And Murphy says, "You can go to H——; I have got a pass over the B. & O."

But after due consideration, all I have to say to our good friend, the Speaker, is not to spoil a good administration near its close by treating your friends too roughly; for, as a former member of the House, Honorable Theodore Morgan, so well said:

"Stand up, old man; stare fate in the eye;
Keep a stiff upper lip and never say 'die;'
For we love the man who can stand the gaff,
Who can take the punch and come back with a laugh."

Perhaps our good Speaker, being a single man, cannot fully appreciate the pleasure and happiness in a married man's life upon the arrival of a new baby. To my mind, it is the greatest gift God can give to man, whether it be the first child or whether it be the fifth child; and the greatest sorrow that can befall one is when one of our children is taken away from us, save only the loss of a mother, which is the greatest loss of all. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, I do not speak lightly, but sincerely and feelingly, for I have had the pleasure and the blessing of five children in my home, and I have also had the sorrow of losing two of them, as well as the sorrow of losing my mother and father. So I know the joy, and I know the sorrow.

To you, Mr. Brackney, we congratulate you and your good wife and may the baby born last Friday live long and grow to womanhood, and you both live to be cheered by that baby in your old days. I thank you.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

SENATE MESSAGE.

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

House Bill No. 1049.

An Act to amend section one hundred and twenty of an act approved the fourteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred and forty) entitled "An Act concerning townships and revising amending and consolidating the law relating thereto" by providing for the election of a township assessor and an assistant township assessor in townships of the first class containing a population of ten thousand inhabitants or more and fixing the compensation of such assistant assessor payable by the county

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title ,page 1, line 8, by striking out the words "two township assessors" and inserting in lieu thereof the following "a township assessor and an assistant township assessor;" also lines 11, 12 and 13, by striking out the words "and providing for the division of such townships by county commissioners of the respective county" and inserting in lieu thereof the following "and fixing the compensation of such assistant assessor payable by the county."

Amend section 1, page 3, line 5, by striking out the words "two township assessors" and inserting in lieu thereof "one township assessor and one assistant assessor;" also line 9, page 3, by striking out the words "two township asssessors" and inserting in lieu thereof the following "a township assessor and an assistant assessor;" also line 19, page 3, by striking out the word "additional" and inserting in lieu the word "assistant;" also line 23, page 3, by inserting after the word "assessor" the words "or one assistant township assessor as the case may be;" also line 29, page 3, by striking out the words "two township assessors;" also page 4, by striking out on lines 1 to 7, inclusive, the following "The county commissioners of the several counties containing townships of the first class having a population of ten thousand inhabitants or more shall as nearly as possible equally divide such townships into two parts and the assessments in each of such parts of the township shall be made by one of said assessors to be designated by the county commissioners."

and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"One township assessor and one assistant township assessor in addition to the two assistant assessors now provided for to assist in the valuation of real estate at the triennial assessment

The compensation of the assistant township assessor shall be the same as now provided for by law for the township assessor and shall be paid by the county"

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 19, 1919.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen: I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed a resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives, recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 281.

Accordingly the original bill is herewith returned.

WM. C. SPROUL.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 281.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 281, entitled

An Act to amend sections one two and three of the act approved the seventeenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws ten hundred and twelve) entitled "An Act regulating the business of loaning money in sums of three hundred ($300) dollars or less either with or without security to individuals pressed by lack of funds to meet immediate necessities fixing the rate of interest and charges therefor requiring the licensing of lenders and prescribing penalties for the violation of this act" passed finally, be reconsidered.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill was agreed to on third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 1, page 3, line 27, by striking out "supervision" and inserting in lieu thereof "provisions."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instruction of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1424, entitled

An Act providing a method whereby highways the center line of which constitutes a dividing line between a city and a township in an adjacent county may be altered or improved and the cost thereof apportioned between the city county and township and providing the procedure to be followed where such city and the township or the county in which such township is situated do not or cannot agree with respect to the method of such alterations or improvements or the apportionment of the cost thereof

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time from page 18 of to-day's calendar, House Bill No. 1523, file folio 4565, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. William Davis.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1523, entitled

An Act to establish a separate orphans' court in and for the County of Cambria

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill which affects Cambria County, and in which you may not be particularly interested. However, in a way, it affects the whole State, and I would like to call to your attention the way in which this bill is presented and some of the features which I think might appeal to you. First of all, I come from a city representing nearly half of the population of Cambria County. I am the lone representative of this district. I am not only willing but am very glad to represent here a sentiment against the bill, believing that I represent the sentiment of the majority of the people of that city, and a very large majority. The last census showed a population of one hundred and sixty-six thousand. Our court there consists of two judges, one of whom was appointed about five years ago. The population of our county has grown rapidly, but at the present time is perhaps diminishing due to the war influx. It is true that at this time there are less men working in our great industrial district than at any time in ten years. That is the report given out by the Cambria Steel Company. The people in our county, when the last judge was appointed, was very much opposed to the appointment. If there ever was a time we needed a judge at all we needed him at that time. Now, however, it does seem that we should not have another judge. And now for the reason of this bill being presented. Possibly some two or three months ago the Senator from our county was asked to present this bill, and he did not see fit to do so. He came to me repeatedly and asked me to do it, but knowing the sentiment of my people I refused. He then approached Mr. Griffith, my worthy colleague from Cambria County, and he also refused to do so. So our other colleague, Mr. Davis, saw fit to present this bill. This bill was born in the mind of a judge in Cambria County, whom, I believe, it would be a very wise proposition to take out of the field in the next campaign as a candidate for judge. It also provides an office which may be peddled or dickered with. It might even take care of and feather the nest of my worthy colleague who presented the bill. I am willing to stand here and oppose this bill, believing that I represent the sentiment in my county. I take my case in my own hands, and I do not hesitate to ask you, as members of this House, not to be a party to a political dicker in Cambria County, for which the people are not appealing to any person here. I do not believe there is a single member in this House who has received a personal letter from anybody in Cambria County, urging him to vote for this bill, so I urge you most earnestly and sincerely to vote against it. I feel that you will not be causing any hardship in so doing, and I believe that you will be perfectly safe in your action. I would like to give you some statistics from our court. In 1918, we had fifty-one audits; in 1912, 258 letters were issued; in 1913, 288; in 1914, 250; in 1915, 321; in 1916, 320; in 1917, 359; in 1918, 431, which shows a marked increase in business, it is true, but you must consider that in that time we have had an additional judge. If you would go to Cambria County you would find one judge who does not give a very large portion of his time to his work, but who has time to go to other counties. We have one judge who performs his duty well and who is on the job, but the other is not on the job and has time to visit other courts. This is no more than a political dicker, and I ask you to vote it down.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, Cambria County had a population at the last census of over one hundred and sixty-six thousand, and under the language of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, we were entitled then to ask this honorable body to pass a bill of this kind. Section twenty-two of the Constitution makes it mandatory, and not declaratory. The gentleman has been talking on a subject that he does not know is against the Constitution, otherwise he would not take the floor on this proposition. Section twenty-two of the Constitution reads as follows,—just one sentence. "In every county wherein the population shall exceed one hundred and fifty thousand, the General Assembly shall, and in any other county may, establish a separate orphans' court to consist of one or more judges." So you see the Constitution says that where the population is less than one hundred and fifty thousand the General Assembly "may," but in this case says "shall." There is not a single county in the State of Pennsylvania that has ever waited for nine years after the census of 1910 to put in a bill of this character, but had the bill passed the very next session. Some of them in Pennsylvania have had Orphans' Court judge bills passed prior to attaining a population of one hundred and fifty thousand. You did the same thing two weeks ago.

In addition to the increased work in the orphans' court of our county, I would like to add one figure to what the gentleman from Johnstown—lately from Bedford—has said. According to the first four months in 1919, January, February, March and April, the record of our orphans' court shows that we have increased more than twice in the amount of work from nine years ago, when we were entitled to the orphans' court judge under the Constitution,—more than twice. All of you who know something, or know anything, about the orphans' courts, know this, that the work of the orphans' court never comes before the common pleas court unless by exception, and the result is that two-thirds of the estates upon which Letters have been issued, are outstanding. That is the case in our county. So states the register, and he ought to know.

There are three classes of people I know of who talk against the Constitution of Pennsylvania. There are the I. W. W., the Anarchist and the Bolshevist. I do not know which class my friend from Johnstown belongs to. He may classify himself. He talks about representing a majority of the people of Cambria County. Gentlemen of this House, I am a native of that county, and not a new son from Bedford. I represent the whole county, from top to bottom, of over two hundred thousand population; and what is justly due all of the other counties of the State of Pennsylvania, wherein they are today over thirty orphans' court judges, is also justly due to Cambria County under the Constitution. No matter what I say, it does not make any difference, and it does not make any difference what the gentleman across the way says. Under the Constitution, we are entitled to have it; and I will ask you, in behalf of Cambria County, to vote for the measure.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, it is true that in this increased-population period mentioned by my colleague (Mr. William Davis) we have had an additional judge created in Cambria County, and if the Legislature saw fit to do so, it might make an orphans' court judge of him. It is also true that we have increased in population to two hundred or more thousand of people. We may have them or we may not have them. It is true that the great Cambria Steel Works, the greatest industry in Cambria County, is employing about thirty-three and one-third per cent. less now than were formerly employed, the lowest number that have been employed by them at any time in the last ten years. The situation there is such that we may have an increased population for a while, and then we may have the opposite. At the present time is an exodus. The conditions there do not demand, according to the court sessions of Cambria County, an additional judge. We have court every three months, March, June, September and December, the first and second weeks of those months, and the business has not been such as to show the people of Cambria County that there is any need for another judge. We might rather use the one we have there to greater utility.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria (Mr. Horne).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria (Mr. Horne) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, how long has the gentleman lived in Cambria county?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, sixteen years.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, how many days has the gentleman spent in the orphans' court in Cambria County?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I have never spent a day in the orphans' court.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman ever been there one day?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I have never been there a day.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman further.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, was the gentleman here when the vote was taken on the Orphans' Court Judge Bill for Washington County?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, yes.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, how did the gentleman vote on that bill?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I voted against it.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, thank you; that is all. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman one more question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria (Mr. Horne) permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman make a speech against the Constitution and against that measure two weeks ago?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I did not.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, then why did the gentleman make a speech against the Constitution today?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, because this bill affects me, and affects my people directly, and I have a right to do so.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, how many judges of Cambria County authorized the gentleman to oppose this measure?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, how many authorized the gentleman from Cambria (Mr. William Davis) to favor the measure?

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, two.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I did not come here by their authority or sanction.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I do not know that that is any reason for the gentleman coming here and supporting a bill to increase the judges.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, two of the judges talked to me about the bill and authorized me to speak for it. Mr. Speaker, I notice by the vote taken two weeks ago on the Washington County Orphans Court Bill, that one hundred and eighty-one voted for the measure, in a county having a population of one hundred and forty-three thousand, and only two voted against it, and they were my friend from Johnstown (Mr. Horne) and someone he picked up beside him—I mean besides him, not beside him— for he made no speech against that bill stating that it was unconstitutional; and any man that can do that will show his purpose and principle. I do not like to see personalities enter into legislation. They should be relegated and ought to be wiped out; any personality of this kind to be kept out. If the gentleman does not like the speaker, I do not care; if we are not in love with each other in this House I don't give a continental.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria (Mr. William Davis).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria (Mr. William Davis) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman state he presented this bill because of the sanction or because of the dictum of any of the judges?

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I did not ask any of the judges; but I know two are in favor of it.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, what is the purpose of the gentleman in presenting this bill?

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, it is a constitutional measure.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, would it be necessary for the Legislature to pass on it?

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, it has been the custom in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman interested in any man who might fill this position if it were made?

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that this is not a convention to nominate candidates for office. Is my point well taken?

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will defer decision on the gentleman's point of order.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, that is all.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

Mr. ROBERT L. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I second the call.

The SPEAKER. The roll will be verified.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time from Page 13 of to-day's calendar, House Bill No. 1195 (Senate Bill No. 248), bills on third reading postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from postponed calendar by Mr. Dithrich,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1195 (Senate Bill No. 248), entitled

An Act to amend section one two three nine ten and eleven and to amend also section four five and seven as amended by an act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and nine (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and twenty-one) entitled "An Act to provide for State Registration of nurses to establish a State Board of Examiners in connection therewith and to provide penalties for the violation of certain provisions regarding such registration" by providing for a change in membership of said board for an increase in salary of the secretary and educational director and for the registration of persons properly qualified as licensed attendants for the care of the sick

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, the bill under consideration is the result of a conference between State Commissioner of Health, Colonel Martin, Judge Johnson, president of the State Board of Charity, and the head of the Nurses' Society of Pennsylvania. It makes a change in the organization of the registration board. At the present time, the board is composed of three doctors and two nurses. These changes are made so that there will be three nurses, one of whom is the directoress of the training school and the other is the secretary of the board. The nurses, with very becoming modesty, have said that they did not think that they were better qualified to pass upon the qualification of the candidates to be registered as nurses, but they feel that they are well qualified, and I will go further to add, that I think they are better qualified. The directoress of the training school, who has been nursing, is familiar with the work they are doing and is required of them, and the secretary and the others understand the work that is to be done and they are better qualified. We believe that they who have received this experience receive a better training for that purpose than the doctors. When the lawyers go before a board to pass the State Board examination, they go before a board composed of lawyers and not of judges. With doctors, it may be the same way. Now, this bill provides, in addition to that, for registration or licensed attendants. In school institutions—schools for feeble-minded children—there are a great many people among the attendants who do not receive the training required that is received by nurses, and they will have to be registered somewhat the same as a qualified assistant, as a pharmacist is registered or as a law studied is registered. I think the nurses are entitled to that if for no other reason than for the splendid work that they have done during the "Flu" epidemic and during the war. If any of you gentlemen who were in Philadelphia this week and saw those thousands of the Twenty-eighth returning with fathers and mothers lining the streets, and saw those mothers and fathers who stood there with aching hearts and quivering lips but with heads held high, and saw their tear-dimmed eyes those scarred men who originally went out with the Twenty-eighth Division, and as they passed by and later saw the nurses rolling along on automobiles, those nurses who were in touch with those boys and who restored them to health and enabled them to return to their mothers and sisters and sweethearts and wives and to their fathers and brothers, the men who were in the service, and if you will now tell them that the nurses of Pennsylvania have come to the Legislature of Pennsylvania seeking recognition for that service ,their kin will grasp you by the hand and say "God bless you." I was in a hospital for four months, and I was hovering between life and death. I was fortunate in having splendid treatment, but my recovery was due as much to the nursing I received as to the medical treatment which I received, and I am proud and glad that I have the privilege to present this bill which stands for recognition on the part of the work of the nurses. During the war the women all over the world performed wonderful service in all branches of endeavor, in knitting and providing bandages and in many efforts for the welfare of the soldiers; in Red Cross work and in innumerable other activities; but those who will live forever in the hearts of the American doughboys are the nurses who will always command their love and affection and confidence, and their respect, together with the same respect for the Salvation Army lassie, the American Red Cross nurses will live in their memories. I ask you in voting for this bill, that you will do nothing more than recognize the nursing profession, which is one of the noblest professions in the world. Vote for this bill and do this thing that is a tribute to the Rose of No Man's Land.

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, this bill has nothing to do with the Salvation Army lassies or the Rose of No Man's Land. This bill has no sweet aspect to it; it is a jobbery bill and a salary raiser and an attempt to steal from the physicians of this State the right to pass upon the qualifications of their assistants. This bill is a deliberate jobbery that is being attempted to be put across in the way of legislation. This Rose of No Man's Land bill raises the salary of the secretary of the board from $100 to $2,500 a year. The law as it exists at the present time, if you will refer to your files, will show you that the secretary of the board at the present time receives $100 for her salary. With this proposed law, that section is amended to the effect that the secretary of the board shall receive a salary "not exceeding $2,500 a year," and so on down through the different provisions the various officers are getting a tremendous boost in their salaries. This bill is put in here to create places for certain favorite nurses and is designed to favor a certain nurse from Pittsburgh. This bill was designed to take away from the physicians the right to pass upon nurses and pass unpon them in examination. Now they seek to load the examination board with a majority of nurses instead of doctors; that is what this bill attempts to do. But it goes further: It attempts to lower the standard of these wonderful Red Cross nurses, these Roses of No Man's Land, because this bill has something in it that does not exist under the present law. It provides instead of having only registered nurses, they must measure up to the requirements placed by the board with an entirely new class, who must come in as nurses in Pennsylvania and pay a nominal fee of five dollars, and so it does not say as to special training in the nurse, but anyone who may at any time have done some nursing at any place. Under the circumstances it is a jobbery bill, a salary raiser, attempting to steal from the physicians of the State their prerogatives and inasmuch as the medical association of Pennsylvania, comprising practically the doctors all over the State ,at an informal meeting passed a formal resolution denouncing this bill and calling upon the Legislature to defeat it, and I say that we should vote it down.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Milner) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if a particular member of the board would be put in office if this bill becomes a law? And is he not a resident of his district?

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, the third member of the board?

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, there are two members, Colonel Martin and Dr. Baldi.

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, I don't know of any physician in my district who has any hopes of being put on this board or who is upon it at the present time.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, this bill has the sanction of Colonel Martin, the State Commissioner of Health, and Mr. Baldi of the Board. It is no attempt to steal away offices from the physicians. It is simply the purpose to recognize the nursing profession, and why the doctors are jealous of them I don't know. The gentleman in his remarks concerning the Salvation Army lassies and the American Red Cross nurses shows that he has no proper appreciation of the Salvation Army lassies or the Red Cross nurses, or he would not make such remarks as he made this morning.

A good trained nurse, steadily employed can earn as much as proposed in the practice of her profession. All over the State of Pennsylvania there was abundant evidence, every man in this House had evidence in his own town, on the street and in his ward, of the scarcity of nurses during the last "flu" epidemic, and particularly during the war when so many were called away; when they appealed to women to leave their homes, that the thing they needed more than anything else was for the women to take up the practice of nursing, and this act will encourage that practice. It does not attempt to steal anything away from the doctors. I know hundreds of doctors in Pittsburgh and I have not heard from a single doctor or medical man who cares to fuss around and take up his time, except one man who will probably lose his position of five dollars a day for sitting on this board and that selfish interest is the only one in opposition to this bill. I have a doctor who is a colleague from my district. He has not said, "Will you oppose this bill." They are all too big and too broad minded to stand in the way of nurses being recognized and the nurses controlling their own board. I say they are well qualified, better qualified than doctors to pass upon the requirements of nurses to be registered. As far as the licensed attendants are concerned, these women are not admitted as registered nurses. They are simply what the act says, licensed attendants; and later, after they have taken a course, they can be registered as nurses when they have passed their examination and have been found competent. Let me repeat, that it is not an attempt to steal anything away from the doctors; it is not an attempt to provide a large salary for any person. What this bill proposes simply is that the board shall be controlled by the nurses who are best qualified to pass upon the qualifications of the claimant for registration.

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to state that with respect to Red Cross nurses, I do not place my regard below that of the gentleman from Allegheny. They have all of my respect and admiration, and we all admire and appreciate the work that they have done. The gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Dithrich) insists on calling attention to the Red Cross nurse in order to camouflage the real intent of this act. This has nothing to do with the war zone. This is a practical bill attempting to amend the present law of this State with respect to the licensing of nurses, and in order to uphold the Red Cross nurse and all other nurses, the standard should be maintained, and we should not lower that glorious profession by laying down the bars and passing a job bill such as this.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I do not believe there is anything in this bill that necessarily has to be camouflaged. The bill is for the sole and express purpose of placing the responsibility for certain things in the hands of certain people who ought to assume and direct that responsibility. This bill deals exclusively with the nurses. At present the nurses are governed by three doctors and two nurses. The bill changes the status of that so that the organization known as the nurses will be placed in the proper hands and will be placed in their hands. Instead of the doctors governing the nurses, the nurses will govern themselves and there is no possibility of the nurses governing the doctors. It is an utter impossibility even for such a thing to happen and if we have an institution for the purpose of doing as much good as the nurses do, not only for the people but for the doctors,—because I apprehend that a good nurse is just as essential in all of these critical cases as a good doctor, and I have heard it said repeatedly that a good nurse, while she is directed by a doctor to a very great extent, is worth almost as much as the attending physician. I say, if they are entrusted with our lives at a very critical time, ought we not to go to work and entrust them with their organization and say that the doctors ought to be represented on that board but that the nurses ought to govern that board. There is nothing in the story with reference to the salary raiser. Twenty-five hundred dollars a year is not a salary raiser under the term used as a salary raiser because the average person can get twenty-five hundred dollars a year without being confined, as this person would be, during the entire year. I know that the majority of doctors in and about our section of the State are absolutely in favor of this bill. I know that the best institution that we have in the western end of the State, known as the West Penn Hospital, that the superintendent of that institution, admittedly one of the best superintendents that we have in the State, is very much in favor of the bill because he feels that the nurses are perfectly capable of taking care of their own organization and that it should be placed in their hands. I know that the present Commissioner of Health of the State of Pennsylvania is very much in favor of this bill, and feels just exactly as all reputable physicians feel, that the nurses are perfectly capable of taking care of their own affairs and it should be left to them to decide the question as to who shall become registered nurses and who shall become qualified assistants. The idea of talking about a qualified assistant being a registered nurse is all bosh. They are nothing more or less than people who have trained and are worthy of some recognition, and they become qualified assistants after registering and paying the fee. Now, why wouldn't they be fit? Doctor Baldi, one of the present members of the board. I know is very much in favor of this bill, and he is in favor of it on the broad ground that the organization should govern themselves and not be governed by outside influences. Therefore, I ask this House to vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Milner).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Milner) permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. MILNER. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Dithrich) will proceed.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to put the question again that I put a few moments ago, but in slightly different form. The home of the gentleman I am addressing is 1703 South Thirteenth St., Philadelphia, I believe.

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman not know that Dr. William S. Higbee lives at 1703 South Broad St., and that Dr. Higbee—

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, I do. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Dithrich).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Dithrich) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, with pleasure.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Milner) will proceed.

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he knows whether Dr. Higbee hopes to have any position under this new act?

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, as I understand, most of the opposition comes from Dr. Higbee, and it is my hope that he cannot have any position under this new act.

Mr. MILNER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to state that I do not know personally whether Dr. Higbee is on this board or if he hopes to get on this board. I do not know what interests he may have except that he, together with the other members of the State Medical Association, have gone on record as opposed to this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time from page 13 of to-day's calendar, House Bill No. 1288 (Senate Bill No. 678), bills on third reading postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from postponed calendar by Mr. HESS,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1288 (Senate Bill No. 678), entitled

An Act defining cold storage and regulating time of storage of certain articles of food and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know if there is any member in the House who can explain the necessities of this bill and the purposes of it.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Heyburn) permit himself to be interrogated to explain this bill?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I will. The purpose of this bill is to make Pennsylvania as nearly as possible uniform with the other states doing the great storage business in this country. In Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, New York, New Jersey, California and those other states, they have a bill very similar to this one, practically the same bill from which this is copied. They are extending the months in which the cold storage food products may be stored. In this State we are not allowed the same length of time, and naturally we have worked a great disadvantage to those in this great industry, inasmuch as, practically, you can count the storage houses in this State on the fingers of your hands, while the storage interests in other states are rapidly growing. The reason for that is that they have a more liberal law than we have, and it gives our people in this State no protection. We are governed and controlled by the Dairy and Food Commissioner of this State, and the same thing is in the bill here, but so far as the other states are concerned, the Dairy and Food Commissioner of this State cannot regulate them, for the reason that he has no access to the books. The result of this is that you are driving the business out of our State and forcing the men who are in the business and own cold storage houses, into other states, on account of the more liberal laws that they have in the other states, and yet we can store goods in these other states and ship the commodities into this state, regardless of the law that you have here.

Now, gentlemen, there is nothing unfair in this. During the war the Food Administrator had the Governor of our State set aside our present law because it was unfair. Now the same conditions exist now as then. There is a shortage of food products and we should use every effort to preserve and care for these food stuffs properly. Now I want to say to you, Mr. Speaker, and for the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Glass), that this is an important proposition, not only to the producer and consumer, but to the business of the State. This is one of the cases that is an advantage to us. When the surplus, or rather, the supply, is greater than the demand, then the storage house is of benefit to us. We can take care of this food stuff in the storage houses when the market is supplied with more than can be consumed, and we can then dispose of it when the supply is not equal to the demand. What we are after in this bill is to put through a liberal law in Pennsylvania to encourage this industry, and to put us on an equal footing with the storage companies in the other states. It will not in any way change the condition of things so far as the people are concerned.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to further interrogate the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Heyburn).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Heyburn) permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, if the purpose of this bill is to extend the time in which certain commodities may be held in cold storage, why was not an amendment offered to the Act of 1913, including that very thing about which the gentleman just spoke?

MR. BALDRIGE IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that would in any way change the position of this bill. This is practically the same law that they have in those states that I have mentioned, and we are trying to make this proposition uniform. I will concede to the gentleman that I would rather see a uniform cold storage act throughout the country, but as it is impossible to have that, then the next best thing to do is to have a law along the lines of this one.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I do not intend to take up much of your time in discussing the merits of this bill. All that I want to do is to call your attention to the fact that this particular bill under discussion repeals the cold storage act of 1913. The Act of 1913 was passed after considerable debate and after careful study on the part of people interested in this cold storage proposition. By the provisions of the Act of 1913, the consumer is protected, or at least, an attempt is made to protect him as much as possible. Now, I do not intend to go into the question of the length of time that commodities are held in storage under the Act of 1913, but under this proposed act, I want to call the attention of the members of the House to this fact, that if this bill becomes a law, you will have no protection to the public as far as cold storage products are concerned, and I say that advisedly, because this act repeals the Act of 1913, and in the Act of 1913 is the following provision: "Section 11. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, to place in any cold storage warehouse or to keep therein and to offer or expose for sale any diseased or otherwise unwholesome food." This, Mr. Speaker, is repealed by this particular act under discussion now. Instead of this particular section, they have in this bill another section which I will read to you, "Section six, on page 1397, which provides as follows:

"Section 6 No article of food intended for human consumption shall be placed received or kept in any cold storage warehouse if knowingly diseased tainted or otherwise unfit for human consumption or knowingly in such condition that it will not keep wholesome for human consumption"

Now, Mr. Speaker, you can readily see the purpose of this. Under this act, under which we are operating at the present time, a man who is the owner of a cold storage plant, if he has in his warehouse any article of food which is unwholesome, he is amenable to the law and he can be prosecuted. Under this proposed act he could not be prosecuted because he can say, "I did not put it in there, John Doe, who works for me put it in there," and then when you ask John Doe he says, "I did not know that it was tainted," and he gets away with it. In other words, all the protection afforded to the consumer is removed, if you pass this act.

Now there is another provision of the Act of 1913, which is also repealed because it is not contained in this particular act, this: "Section 15—which provides—it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation, or any agent thereof, to sell, or offer or expose for sale, or have in possession with intent to sell, at wholesale, any food which is not marked or distinguished, on the outside of each container, in a conspicuous place, by a placard with the words 'wholesome cold storage food.'" In other words, if you are taking anything out of cold storage and you desire to sell it, you must mark on the package "wholesome cold storage food," which is notice to the public that this is not fresh stuff but cold storage stuff."

This bill has no provision of that kind. There is also an omission in this bill with reference to cold storage products brought in from another state. Under the act of 1913, if a cold storage product is brought in from another state, it can be allowed to remain in a cold storage warehouse in Pennsylvania for another period of time. Then the law provides for taking into consideration the length of time it has already been in cold storage elsewhere.

Mr. Speaker, several weeks ago a bill was presented to the Governor of this Commonwealth for his approval, and he vetoed that bill. In his veto message the Governor said:

"In my opinion, the pure food laws of this Commonwealth should not be tampered with, and certainly not weakened by amendment; they should be strenghtened where possible."

Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I do not think this is the proper time to weaken our food laws; I think the public is entitled to some protection; and if you enact this bill into law and repeal the law of 1913, instead of the price you now pay for a certain commodity, you will be paying even more. I hope the members will defeat this bill.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Glass).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Glass) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me how many cold storage warehouses there are in Pennsylvania that are actually engaged in the business of cold storage?

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I am not in the cold storage business; I do not know anything at all about the cold storage business, and anything that is in this bill certainly would not help.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I want to inform you that not one cold storage warehouse in the State—it is not the small warehouses in Pennsylvania that are interested, but the large ones in the West, they do not carry on their business as they do in the West. In regard to what the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Glass) told you so far as the healthful condition of the food in storage is concerned, I want to say it is not changed in the least by this bill. It was put in the hands of the Dairy and Food Commissioner, and it will still be the duty of the Dairy and Food Commissioner to decide, and does not change the condition of our people in the least.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, the gentlemen from Philadelphia (Mr. Glass) with very much earnestness asks you to vote down this bill. If he believed that this bill were properly drawn, of course, he would be on this side; but I believe the gentleman has made a mistake in his calculations. This bill is exactly in line with the National Food Administration ideas on the subject. It also conforms to the laws of other states, and of the several states surrounding Pennsylvania. As to the argument relative to the keeping of unwholesome goods, the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Glass) surely must know that this is controlled by the Pure Food Act, or even under the common law, being an offense against public health, it would be unlawful to sell any goods which were unwholesome. The law is wide enough certainly to cover that ground, and I do not think there is any further argument on that point. This provides that goods put in on December 31st must be sold before March 1st, or taken out of cold storage. The season to season idea is maintained in this law. Under the act of 1913, for which the gentleman entertains a patriotic prejudice, they keep them in for the length of time allowed by the law, and then they ship them out, and bring them back to you, only it is a longer cold storage proposition; thus violating in spirit the law of 1913. As to the protection to the consumer, it is just the same as the provision of the act of 1913. There must be marked upon these goods "cold storage," plainly and conspicuously, so that every purchaser may know the history of the article which he is buying. Under the act of 1913, they keep them in the cold storage warehouses to the limit, and then take them out and bring them back again, and sell them to you. This will do away with that proposition. Now besides this, it also depends upon the action of the Food Administrator or the Dairy and Food Commissioner, whether it shall stay there. "Gentlemen of the jury"—Gentlemen of the Assembly—inasmuch as cold storage is a thing which we must necessarily have, the expert testimony is that instead of increasing the price to the consumer, it will decrease the price to the consumer, and on the same principle for which the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Glass) stands, namely, that it will decrease the price to the consumer. "Gentlemen of the jury"—Gentlemen of the Assembly I am for this bill and I believe it is much less irksome and less tangled than the act of 1913. It will benefit every merchant in Pennsylvania, and I ask you to pass it.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill (Mr. Palmer).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill (Mr. Palmer) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, in order that there may be no misapprehension I desire to ask the gentleman from Schuylkill (Mr. Palmer) if he is acquainted with sections 17 and 18 of the act of 1913?

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, being ignorant of laws in general, I must admit that I am not acquainted with those sections.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, for the benefit of the gentleman I will read those two sections in answer to the argument of the gentleman from Schuylkill (Mr. Palmer).

"Section 17. After food has been withdrawn from a cold storage warehouse, for the purpose of placing it on the market for sale, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to return such food, or any portion thereof, to such warehouse or any other similar warehouse. Subject to such regulations as shall be prescribed by the Dairy and Food Commissioner, food may be transferred from one cold storage warehouse to another: Provided, That the total length of time such food shall remain in cold storage, for the purpose of sale, shall not exceed the time specified in section sixteen (16) of this act."

Section 16 of this act provides as follows:

"No person, firm, or corporation shall sell, offer, or expose for sale, any of the herein named foods which shall have been held for a longer period of time than herein specified, in a cold storage warehouse or warehouses, to wit: Whole carcasses of beef, or any parts thereof, four (4) months; whole carcasses of pork, or any parts thereof, six (6) months; whole carcasses of sheep, or any parts thereof, six (6) months; whole carcasses of lamb, or any parts thereof, six (6) months; whole carcasses of veal, or any parts thereof, three (3) months; dressed fowl, drawn, five (5) months; dressed fowl, undrawn, ten (10) months; eggs, eight (8) months; butter, nine (9) months, and fish, nine (9) months."

Now section 18 of the act provides that:

"No food shall be sold, or offered or exposed for sale, in this State, which shall have been placed or stored in any cold storage warehouse outside of this State, unless it first shall have been marked as provided for in section fifteen (15) of this act: Provided, however, That no such food shall be sold, or offered or exposed for sale in this State if the total length of time that such food has remained in cold storage shall exceed that specified in section sixteen (16) of this act."

And as the gentleman from Schuylkill (Mr. Palmer) said, "gentlemen of the jury"—you are the jury to decide what this act means—I ask you to vote this bill down, because it is not a protection to the consumer, but it is intended to help the profiteer in food products.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, after the gentleman promised to read to me the sections of the act on which he was going to base his argument, he turned his back to me and read it to somebody else—

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I will read it again.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, but I heard it notwithstanding. I just want to make this remark to show the discourtesy of the gentleman.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to say at this time—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Schuylkill (Mr. Palmer) has the floor.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I will not yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia at this time. The gentleman from Philadelphia is mistaken about the "profiteers." There is no such thing to this bill. That is a final appeal to you gentlemen. When you have not any other good reason you attempt to work in something in the way of appeal to the patriotism of the members of this House to turn a meritorious piece of legislation. To use the words of the gentleman from Fayette: Where they take it out of cold storage under the act they dare not return it to cold storage and it is a perfectly good act, as it has to be taken out of the State and they ship it into the dealer who sells it. If you have to have this evil, the cold storage laws, make the cold storage requirements accordingly. This has been taken up by the experts on all sides of this question and the conclusion they reached on this bill is to this effect, that there can be no doubt that cold storage as a general thing has done a great thing. It is only when food is held too long or for the purpose of undue profits that there is objections to the system. These objections are met by the new bill, and as it should prove of value to the producers and to the middlemen and the consumers, it should be favorably acted upon without delay and without being prejudiced, and everybody should be unprejudiced and perfectly fair.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, we have heard from one farmer and a producer of foodstuffs and then we hear a discussion between two lawyers on cold storage. I am going to try in a few minutes to represent the consumer, not being a farmer or a lawyer. I recall a statement which was made by the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Bennett) a few weeks ago, in discussing a piece of legislation on the floor of this House, to the effect that if we were to remain stationary in reference to conditions and changes in laws, we would never be here year after year, passing upon statutes, amending them, or regulating them, according to what we believe has been the advancing idea of the State. This piece of legislation occupies the same position. Many of us recall the 1913 session in reference to cold storage. Many of us contended at that session that the season to season storage idea was one in which the benefit accrued to the masses and also to the producer. That was contended for hours upon this floor. We, of course, have since that time called the attention of each legislative session to the fact that the cold storage law of 1913 needed to be rebuilt. We passed such amendments and such rebuilding of cold storage at later session and the Governor of the Commonwealth felt in his wisdom the right to veto it, and, my friends, as in all else in this age in which we are living, this great conflict across the water has changed almost every idea, and when it becomes necessary to serve the masses with food in Pennsylvania, and for the benefit of the people of Pennsylvania, then the Governor of the Commonwealth set aside this great statute of 1913 as not equal to the crisis, for the benefit of the people of Pennsylvania, and that is the reason why we are here now, asking you men to support the very ideas that the federal food administration who had the condition at their fingers' end throughout the entire war, asked this Commonwealth to set aside its laws that this particular act or an act as near to this as possible might be put into effect. We have had this law, my friends, since 1913, and the death rate of Pennsylvania has not been bettered. In Illinois, in Ohio, Iowa, Massachusetts and New Jersey they are working under an act similar to this and they do not die any quicker because of tainted foods than we do.

My friends, there is nothing to this act except that it produces a better condition for the mass of people for Pennsylvania or else the great food administration of the nation would not have felt it necessary to set aside our 1913 law. To my mind every proposition is covered, as to safeguarding the public in this act. Goods must be marked "Cold storage goods" and it cannot remain in cold storage longer than the act calls for, and if the cold storage house is not up to the standard, then the food administrator shall revoke that license, and I set that up against the argument of the gentleman from Philadelphia wherein he calls this act "weak." It was put in the old act to revoke the license, because the man must knowingly have a knowing fact that the goods in his storage is tainted. If it is tainted, my friends, then it cannot be sold, and that storage house is responsible and the food administrator shall revoke the license of that storage house. I can see nothing, my friends, in this act except a step forward for the benefit of the masses, as demonstrated by the food administrator who had charge of this great country, during the dark hours, that helped to win the war on the field of Flanders. Gentlemen, I ask you to support this measure.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Ramsey).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Ramsey) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Glass) will proceed.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman what particular section of the Act of 1913 he has objections to?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I have objections to the whole act, and am trying to pass a new one.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether it is not a fact that all he is seeking to do is to extend the length of time that certain articles may be kept in storage?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I have stated what we are trying to do: That is, to pass a cold storage act which will be in uniformity with the statute of other states, based upon the study of the Food Administration of the United States as being a practical proposition.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. RAMSEY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if a man who is the owner of a cold storage plant has a customer who puts tained food in his cold storage plant, do you think that that man ought to be amenable to the law?

Mr. RAMSEY. I think so, Mr. Speaker; but he should know the fact that it was tainted when it went in there, and if it was not tained when it went in there and is tainted now, then the act takes care of his cold storage house and puts it out of business.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask whether the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Ramsey), is acquainted with section six of the bill we are now discussing.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, section six?

Mr. GLASS. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. RAMSEY. (Reading)

"Section 6. No article of food intended for human consumption shall be placed, received or kept in any cold storage warehouse if knowingly diseased, tainted or otherwise unfit for human consumption, or knowingly in such condition that it will not keep wholesome for human consumption."

I ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, what he desires to know of my knowledge?

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of asking this question is to ascertain whether you can state, under this particular section, that you can prosecute a cold storage owner for keeping tainted or unwholesome food in his place?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, as an attorney, the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Glass) knows that you can prosecute them for anything. I think you could convict him even under this act.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: Here is the crux of the whole situation, right in this particular section. The act of 1913 provided certain safeguards, and by reason of those safeguards the public were protected. This safeguard was to the effect that every person, firm or corporation, who had in his possession in his cold storage plant, tainted food, that he was responsible to the law. At the present time, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, the small storekeeper who has food which is unwholesome or tainted, is responsible to the law notwithstanding the fact that he knows it to be tainted or not. The burden is on him, and the law says, "You are responsible; this stuff is tainted, and it is against the law." Now this act provides nothing of the sort; in fact, it is the very thing which this act intends to do; it intends to remove that particular safeguard, and this section is so worded as to put the burden on the fellow who works in a cold storage plant. Let me illustrate: Suppose John Doe is working for a storage plant and John Doe puts a whole lot of tainted and unwholesome food in the cold storage warehouse. You cannot prosecute the owner of the cold storage warehouse because there is nothing in the act which says you can, and you cannot prosecute this man who put it in because he will say, "I did not know it was tainted." because the act says, "knowingly." I think, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, that would explain the situation and ought to clarify the different arguments that were advanced by the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Ramsey) and the gentleman from Schuylkill (Mr. Palmer). If the purpose of this act was simply to extend the time that you allow goods to remain in cold storage then I ask you why was not the act of 1913 amended in that particular without repealing the entire law and removing all the safeguards?

Mr. WILLERT. Mr. Speaker, I wish to reiterate every word that the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Ramsey) has said. He has explained the act most admirably. I happen to be a salesman of food products for the last twenty-five years, and I know that the statutes of Pennsylvania have not been in conformity with those of the Federal government. This present bill is trying to make the law of Pennsylvania conform with that of the Federal government. Many a poor merchant has violated the law in Pennsylvania in a way which was not contrary to the law of the United States. We are trying to rectify this trouble, and I trust that you will vote for the measure.

Mr. KUNKLE. Mr. Speaker and gentleman of the House: I feel sure that you are safeguarded and protected by the new or proposed bill for it is practically taking the act of 1913 and incorporating it into this present bill. Do you know the further fact that many of our larger producers have been taking their products out of Pennsylvania and storing them in states right outside of Pennsylvania and, when the time comes, bringing them back into the State of Pennsylvania and selling them? Do you know that they borrow their money in those states where they store their goods, and therefore our banks are robbed of that added business? I think the time is here to take that which the act of 1913 has, and incorporated into this new bill we have here which is adapted to the conditions that we have today. I am for this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1509, as follows:

An Act requiring licenses to sell transportation tickets or orders for transportation to or from foreign countries and providing penalties

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That no person co-partnership association or corporation other than railroad or steamship companies shall hereafter engage within this State in the sale of steamship tickets or orders for transportation or shall advertise or hold themselves out as authorized or entitled to sell such steamship tickets or orders for transportation without being a citizen of the United States and having first procured from the commissioner of banking a license to carry on such business Such license shall be granted upon application to the commissioner of banking designating the place where the business for which a license is sought is to be carried on after such applicant shall cause a copy of his application to be advertised in one daily newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the applicant intends to do business and also in the legal journal of such county if any there is and if not then in the legal journal of the next adjacent county having such journal for thirty days

The application shall be accompanied by such satisfactory proof of good moral character and fitness to conduct such business properly and any other information required by the commissioner of banking Such license shall be granted upon approval of the application by the commissioner of banking and the payment to said commissioner for the use of the banking department of a fee of fifty dollars and shall be renewed on payment of a like fee annually unless revoked for cause by the commissioner of banking Every license shall contain the name of the licensee the city street and number of the house in which the licensee is authorized to carry on business and the number and date of such license Such license shall not be transferred or assigned nor authorize the licensee or his agents to transact business or to advertise or hold himself or themselves out as authorized and entitled to transact such business at any place other than that designated in the license The license shall run to the first day of July next following the date thereof and no longer unless sooner revoked by the commissioner of banking Provided however That the issuance of such license shall not thereby impose on such licensee the necessity of obtaining any further license from the commissioner of banking for the conduct of any business in conjunction with the sale of steamship tickets or orders for transportation where by existing law such business as now conducted is not required to be licensed by the commissioner of banking

Section 2 Bonds The commissioner shall require the applicant for a license to file with the application therefor a bond in the form approved by the commissioner of banking to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the penal sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) with two or more sufficient sureties who shall be freeholders within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or an approved surety company bond Such bond shall be conditioned that the obligor will duly account to all persons or parties having an interest for all moneys received for steamship tickets or orders for transportation and that the obligor will not enter engage in or be guilty of any fraud or misrepresentation to any purchaser of such tickets or orders and shall be further conditioned that a suit to recover on the bond required to be filed under the provisions of this article may be brought by or on the relation of any party aggrieved in any court of competent jurisdiction and in the event that the obligor on said bond has entered engaged in or been guilty of such fraud or misrepresentation may be enforced by the commissioner of banking in the name of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to recover the full penalty thereof and all penalties recovered under the provisions of this act shall be paid to the commissioner of banking for the use of the banking department

Section 3 Revocation of Licenses In the event that any licensee shall enter engage in or be guilty of any such fraud or misrepresentation or shall fail to account for any moneys paid in connection with the sale of any tickets or order for transportation the said commissioner shall be empowered on giving such notice to the licensee as he shall deem sufficient and an opportunity to answer any charges made against such licensee to revoke the license under which such business shall be carried on

Section 4 Penalties for Conducting Business Without Licenses et cetera Any person firm co-partnership or corporation conducting or carrying on the business specified in this article without having obtained from the commissioner of banking a license therefor shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction thereof be fined not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500) or by imprisonment not exceeding one year either or both at the discretion of the court

Section 5 This act shall take effect on July one one thousand nine hundred nineteen except that applications for such licenses may be filed with the commissioner of banking

Section 6 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1557, as follows:

An Act amending section twelve of an act entitled "An Act establishing a court for the country of Philadelphia prescribing its jurisdiction and powers providing for the service of its writs process or warrants by the proper officers of the county or city of Philadelphia regulating the procedure therein and appeals therefrom and providing for the expense thereof approved the twelfth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen by changing the procedure in civil actions"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section twelve of an act approved the twelfth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen entitled "An Act establishing a court for the county of Philadelphia prescribing its jurisdiction and powers providing for the service of its writs process or warrants by the proper officers of the county or city of Philadelphia regulating the procedure therein and appeals therefrom and providing for the expense thereof" which heads as follows

"Section 12 All civil actions in said municipal court shall be begun by filing a statement of the plaintiff's claim without the issuance of any formal writ The said statement shall consist of a concise recital of the facts which the plaintiff claims give rise to his cause of action divided into paragraphs consecutively numbered only one averment of fact so far as possible being included in one paragraph Where any contracts or other writings are material to the validity of the plaintiff's claim he must annex copies of the same in accordance with the practice now obtaining in the courts of common pleas This statement may be filed by the plaintiff or his counsel or may be orally stated to a clerk of the court whose duty it shall be to reduce the same to writing All statements shall be verified by the affidavit of the plaintiff or his duly authorized agent and shall be signed by the plaintiff or his counsel

The said clerk shall thereupon issue a summons under the seal of the court requiring defendant to appear and file an answer to the plaintiff's claims within ten days after service of the statement upon him In default of the filing of an answer within ten days the plaintiff may take judgment against the defendant as of course In order to prevent judgment as aforesaid defendant must file within ten days of the service of the summons and statement upon him as aforesaid an answer which shall consist of a series of numbered paragraphs corresponding to the paragraphs in the plaintiff's statement of his claim and shall contain an admission or denial of each fact averred Provided that if defendant alleges himself to be ignorant as to the facts averred in any paragraph he may so state and place the plaintiff upon proof of the same as if they had been denied All facts which defendant does not deny or aver himself to be ignorant and demand proof as aforesaid shall be deemed to be admitted The answer may be filed by the defendant or his counsel or may be orally stated to a clerk of the court whose duty it shall be to reduce the same to writing All answers shall be verified by the affidavit of defendant or his duly authorized agent and shall be signed by defendant or his counsel After defendant has filed an answer the case shall be at issue without any formal pleas unless he sets up new matter in separate numbered paragraphs in addition to those answering plaintiff's averments in which case plaintiff may within five days answer the same in the same manner and all new matter so averred by defendant and not denied by plaintiff or of which he does not declare himself to be ignorant and demand proof shall be deemed to be omitted The case shall then be at issue Plaintiff may move for judgment for want of a sufficient answer for all or a portion of his claim

Every statement of claim before it shall be received by the prothonotary shall contain on the back thereof an endorsement signed by plaintiff or his counsel as follows "Jury trial demanded" or "It is agreed that this case be tried by a judge without a jury" If plaintiff demands a jury trial he shall at the time of filing his statement pay to the prothonotary a jury fee of four dollars Every answer where plaintiff has not demanded a jury trial shall contain on the back thereof a similar endorsement and if defendant demands a jury trial he shall at the time of filing his answer pay to the prothonotary a jury fee of four dollars If both parties as aforesaid have filed agreements that the case may be tried by a judge without a jury it shall be so tried under such rules of procedure as the court shall prescribe.

When a case is at issue it may be immediately ordered upon the trial list by either party It shall be the duty of the judges of the said court to so arrange their trial list that cases shall be tried as promptly as possible For the purpose of promptly disposing of all motions and rules in connection with its business it shall be the duty of said court to have at least one judge sitting continuously as many hours per day as he may be needed Except as modified by this act or its own rules duly adopted by a majority of the judges the practice and procedure in the municipal court shall be the same as the practice and procedure in the courts of common pleas of Philadelphia County" be and the same is hereby amended so as to read

Section 12 In all civil actions hereafter brought in said municipal court the statement of claim before it shall be received by the prothonotary shall contain on the back thereof an endorsement signed by plaintiff or his counsel as follows "Jury trial demanded" or "It is agreed that this case be tried by a judge without a jury" If plaintiff demands a jury trial he shall at the time of filing his statement pay to the prothonotary a jury fee of four dollars Every affidavit of defence where plaintiff has not demanded a jury trial shall contain on the back thereof a similar endorsement and if defendant demands a jury trial he shall at the time of filing his affidavit of defence pay to the prothonotary a jury fee of four dollars If both parties as aforesaid have filed agreements that the case may be tried by a judge without a jury it shall be so tried under such rules of procedure as the court shall prescribe

Except as modified by this act or by its own rules duly adopted by a majority of the judges the practice and procedure in the Municipal Court shall be the same as the practice and procedure in the Courts of Common Pleas of Philadelphia county as fixed by the Acts of Assembly heretofore or hereafter enacted

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1583, entitled

An Act relating to the assessment of damages in favor of abutting property owners caused by a change of grade in any public street or highway providing that the center line of the street or highway shall be the basis upon which such assessments shall be made

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, this bill, No. 1583, introduced by my friend and colleague (Mr. McKim) from Allegheny County, attempts to upset two or three of the decisions of our Supreme Court and resurrect the old idea of our crossings in Allegheny that the center line of the street is the proper basis which was to be considered with reference to the change of the grade. This is an old dispute in our courts numbers 2 and 3 and our courts have decided that and finally the judge in one of the courts ruled flatly on the question and he was sustained by the supreme court, to the effect that the center line theory was the proper basis, assumed that as the proper theory and the proper procedure. We had three separate rulings in our courts: one of them held to the center line theory, and the other held to the extreme side of it, and when the supreme court saw the effect of the whole change as affecting any particular property on that street. My good friend McKim has at the present time a case of this character before the Board of Viewers that we tried out there and there has been no decision given down, but the idea of having this man come down here and try this case out of court, after Judge Evans has decided that and it is the best municipal law that we have had in Allegheny County.

Mr. McKIM. Mr. Speaker, my friend and colleague from Allegheny (Mr. Baldridge) gives me credit for a great deal of astuteness in trying to take advantage of him in the trial of a case before the court in which he and myself are interested. I think you will all agree with me that an act of this kind could not in any way affect pending conditions. On the other hand, I say to this House that this bill, while I sponsored it and while I stand for the principle which it attempts to correct, it did not come from me, but I have sponsored the bill at the request of a number of borough solicitors from the county of Allegheny. The bill, in effect, is nothing more than this; It regulates the manner of assessing damages and benefits where a street has been improved in a municipality. It affects districts similar to Allegheny County where the geographical conditions are such that the streets are built on hillsides and the ground is very rough and uneven. The only thing this bill says and which it tries to correct is where a street is laid out on a hillside and afterwards is improved by the municipality, that in the improvement of that street, if the borough in establishing the grade establishes the grade of the street as of the center line of the street corresponding with the physical grade of the street at the center line, then the process of improving the street is nothing more than a leveling process which entails a cut on the upper side of the street and an equal fill on the lower side of the street. You will all agree with me that that is the only feasible way to improve a hillside street and be fair to the abutting property owners on either side. By doing so the man on the lower side of the street is subject to a fill and the man on the upper side of the street is subject to a cut of equal dimension. That is what this bill attempts to do. A man, when he buys property on a hillside on an unimproved street, is put on notice that when that street is leveled the full width that the center line of the street, of the grade of the street is fixed as of the natural grade of the ground at the center of the street. Then there must necessarily be a cut and fill.

It is true that there has been some difference of opinion among the courts on this phase of the case. Some of the lower courts have held that the measure of damages should be based upon the cut as of the center of the street. Some of them refused to go that far and say that the jury has a right to decide, after viewing the property, whether or not there is any damage whatever. Now, this is a matter that is not beyond the pale of legislation. The improving of our streets is done by legislative enactments and statutory provisions, and this bill only tends to straighten out and make clear the method of assessing the damages along any street on a hillside. There would be no question of this sort in a street which is laid out on a level tract of land because there would be no damages, because there would be no change of grade; but on a hillside street, I say that in western Pennsylvania there are so many streets in boroughs and cities and townships confronted with this same proposition that it is the only equitable way of assessing the damages, and I ask that the bill be passed.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. McKim).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. McKim) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McKIM. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Baldrige) will proceed.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell the House whether this is a procedure act?

Mr. McKIM. Mr. Speaker, the act is a procedure act, yes, sir.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman, is it true or not true that you and I, at the present time, have two cases of this character pending in the Allegheny County courts and undetermined.

Mr. McKIM. Mr. Speaker, we have, it is true, two cases on the improvement of a certain street which is now before the Board of Viewers; the testimony has been taken and the case closed, as far as that Board of Viewers is concerned; but I take it that any person will agree with me that this act cannot in any way affect pending litigation, litigation that is now before the court. Furthermore, this bill is for the purpose of remedying and clarifying the assessment of damages in the future.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I have had about as much experience in both trying cases for municipalities and trying cases against them as any member of my age at the Pittsburgh bar. I was borough solicitor of my home borough for seven years and that borough was established and founded on three hillsides, and yet from the point of view of the borough solicitor we always contended that Judge Evans's decision for the benefit of the municipality was right; and after having had six years of experience on the other side of the fence, I still say that the opinion of Judge Evans, of Pittsburgh, as sustained by the supreme court, that the effect of the whole improvement on the particular property is still right. In many instances in Allegheny County, if this center line theory was allowed to prevail and the decision of the supreme court in this matter upset, many a poor man's property would be confiscated and damaged beyond repair without any chance of remuneration or compensation. I ask you to vote this bill down.

NAYS—1.

Geary,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1611, as follows

An Act prohibiting the establishment of branch banks or agencies by banks doing business in this Commonwealth except in cities regulating the operation of any branch banks of agencies and providing penalties for failure to comply with the provisions of this act

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be unlawful for any bank of this Commonwealth or of any other state to establish maintain or continue directly or indirectly in its own name or in the name of any one or more individuals in any manner or by any device whatsoever either for its sole benefit and profit or for the benefit and profit of its officers or any of them any branch or agency for the transaction of banking business except in cities where it shall be lawful for any bank to open and occupy in such city one or more branch offices for the receipt and payment of deposits and for the making of loans and discounts and other transactions incident to their business

Section 2 Before any such branch bank or office shall be opened or occupied or do business it shall have (a) complied with all the requirements of this act and received the written approval of the commissioner of banking and (b) the actual paid in capital of such bank shall be equal to the aggregate capital required for a like number of independent banks similarly located

Section 3 Any violation of this act by any bank in this Commonwealth after the passage of this act shall be deemed and held to be forfeiture of the charter of such bank The fact that any such bank is violating the provisions of this act shall be ascertained verified and determined in the same mode and manner as is now provided by the laws of the Commonwealth relative to the ascertainment verification and determination of offences committed by banks under the banking laws of the Commonwealth In case any such bank shall refuse or fail to pay its liabilities in gold and silver coin like proceedings shall be had as is now provided by the banking laws of the Commonwealth Any bank which shall continue any branch or agency contrary to the provisions of this act shall in each year of such continuance be subject to and pay quadruple the amount of all taxes chargeable to said bank for the current year in which such offense was committed

Section 4 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. CHARLES A. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 1, page 2, line 7, by striking out the following: "in such city."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. This amendment being merely to strike out, the House will proceed with the consideration of the bill.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Columbia (Mr. Charles A. Shaffer) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES A. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I will yield the floor to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. James A. Walker) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. With pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia——

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the gentleman from Clearfield is not privileged to speak from the place he now occupies.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken, and the gentleman from Clearfield will take his proper place in the House, and proceed with his interrogation.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia why this bill does not allow banks to establish smaller banks in smaller communities or localities. This bill provides that they shall not be established in cities under five hundred thousand.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, the amendments introduced last night wiped out the five hundred thousand inhabitants provision so that the bill as it now stands applies to all the cities in the State. I might say that this bill was forwarded to me by one of the national bankers in Philadelphia, but inasmuch as the Commission appointed to codify the banking laws—of which I have the honor to be a member—refused at this time to make any active effort to change the law, it was suggested that the bill be handed to the gentleman from Columbia, who was a personal friend of the gentleman who spoke to me about the bill. The five hundred thousand clause is out of the bill . It applies to all of the cities in the State so that any city might take advantage of it.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. James A. Walker) permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Is it not a fact that there is an Act of Assembly already on the Statute books which provides for the same thing?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, my recollection is that there is a bill which partly covers this, but it does not fully cover it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. James A. Walker).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. James A. Walker) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Does this prohibit a bank doing business in a borough from establishing a branch bank?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. That statement is correct, but the purpose of this bill is merely this: to prevent the big banks in the cities from going outside of the city limits and establishing branches of their big banks in the rural districts and thus taking away the business from the rural banks. For example, say the gentleman from Delaware has been conducting a banking business successfully in a locality for a number of years. Now I come from a district that has a big bank, say Philadelphia, and I establish a branch in his locality. That would seriously interfere with the progress and success of the gentleman from Delaware County. This bill would prevent that and it seems to me that it is a wise move. As I believe, this only applies to state banks, as our courts have ruled that trust companies are not state banks.

Mr. ALEXANDER. How about a bank in Media which has a branch at 69th street, which is also in Delaware County?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Will the gentleman kindly repeat his question?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Under this bill, a bank doing business in Media could not establish a branch bank at 69th street, which is also in Delaware County.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Not after the passage of this act. If it were created before the passage of this act, it would not apply.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Can you tell us the reason why the bank in Media should not be permitted to establish a branch any where in the county?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. There is a prohibition which was ruled upon by the Attorney General in 1895, which says that branch banks cannot be established anywhere in the State of Pennsylvania under the Constitution. That was changed by a subsequent ruling of the Attorney General, but whether these branch banks are properly established or not under the law is a mooted question. In the last session the Attorney General said that they could not be established.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I do not know of any reason why this should apply only to the cities. For instance, we have a bank in the city of Chester at the present time, that has a branch bank at Marcus Hook, and it does considerable business in Marcus Hook. It is to the advantage of the residents of Marcus Hook that that branch bank is located there. It is the same way with the bank in Media. They have a branch bank at 69th street. Now with this act enforced, it will prohibit the banks in the country districts from establishing branch banks anywhere else in the county for the convenience of the depositors or clients. It does not seem to me fair that they should be prohibited from doing this while the banks in the large cities are permitted to do so.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, would it meet with the approval of the gentleman if this bill were amended so as to provide for counties.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, that is to permit banks to have branches?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, to permit banks to have branches in the counties in which the bank is located?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, if the sponsor will approve, I would like to move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present so that it might be amended to meet the approval of the members of the House.

Alexander,	Rhoads,	Stadtlander,	Wells,
Glass,	Simpson,	Stevenson,	Williams,
Phillips,	Smith, E. R.,	Ulsh,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1572 (Senate Bill No. 840), entitled

An Act to relieve banks trust companies and bankers from liability to depositors because of the non-payment through mistake or error and without malice of a check which should have been paid unless the depositor shall allege and prove actual damage by reason of such non-payment and limiting the liability in such event

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BENCHOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to have someone explain this bill.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "noes" appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for and 68 gentlemen voting in the affirmative and 47 in the negative, the motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1370 (Senate Bill No. 506), entitled

An Act requiring certain private hospitals and other charitable institutions to submit plans for the erection of new buildings to the Board of Public Charities for approval and upon failure so to do to be prohibited from receiving State appropriations except for maintenance

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1573 (Senate Bill No. 863), entitled

An Act to increase the powers of building and loan associations incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire if there is anyone here who can explain this bill.

Mr. WELLS. Mr. Speaker, about one week ago we passed a bill precisely similar to this, the terms of which were exactly similar, as I understand it, a House bill.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I recall that last Wednesday we passed a bill exactly similar to this one, sponsored by myself.

The present bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator Baldwin, covering the same ground. If this bill passes, as my bill did last Wednesday, it will be unnecessary to further consider the bill the House sent over to the Senate last week. The bill simply provides this, that building and loan associations shall have the right—it does not compel them, they shall have the right if they wish—to become members of what is known as the Federal Home Loan Bank, which will give them the opportunity of borrowing money from the Federal Home Loan Bank in order to help them in the building and loan association business. I will say that this bill is particularly helpful to the members who represent or are interested in building and loan associations in the rural districts, because in those districts, if the banks are shy of money for building and loan association purposes, the associations, if they wish to become members of the Federal Home Loan Bank, may take shares in that system and get money from the Federal Government through that. This is all the bill provides. It is that the building and loan associations can take advantage of it if they desire.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that we passed a similar bill, and in order to save time, I move this bill be dropped from the calendar.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me we are acting in an extremely discourteous way to a very splendid member of the Senate. It is true we passed a bill that has gone into the Senate. If this bill has any merit in it, there is nothing to prevent the Senate from acting towards the bill that left the House for the Senate in exactly the way we are attempting to treat this bill. It seems to me that the easiest way and the quickest way to do it would be to permit this bill to pass tonight, and then it will be possible to prevent the bill in the Senate from going any farther. For what is the use of sending two bills to the Governor's desk, when this bill, having passed the Senate might go to the Governor if it passed in the morning. It seems to me, in the first place, a discourteous act; and in the second place, would require an extra amount of work in the Senate. I ask, if the bill has any merit in it, that you consider this bill, and then ask that the bill in the Senate be dropped.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, out of courtesy to the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. James A. Walker), I withdraw my motion.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my second.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1474, as follows:

An Act creating in counties having a population of from eight hundred thousand to one million five hundred thousand a board for the assessment and revision of taxes providing for the appointment of the members of such board by the county commissioners fixing their salaries payable by the county defining the powers and duties of such board and regulating the assessment of property and occupations for state and county purposes authorizing the appointment of subordinate assessors and clerks defining their duties and providing for their compensation payable by such counties imposing a penalty on subordinate assessors for failure to comply with certain provisions of this act and abolishing the office of ward borough and township assessor insofar as respects the assessment of property and occupations for State and county purposes

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in each county of the Commonwealth having a population of not less than eight hundred thousand nor more than one million five hundred thousand inhabitants there is hereby created a board to be designated as the board for the assessment and revision of taxes composed of seven persons citizens of the county The members of such board shall be appointed by the county commissioners of such county and shall hold their office for the term of four years and the county commissioners shall fill all vacancies in the board for the unexpired term thereof Each member of such board shall receive a salary of five thousand dollars per annum payable monthly out of the treasury of the county

Section 2 It shall be the duty of the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in each county to which this act applies to make and to have supervision of the making of all assessments and valuations of property whether real or personal taxable for State or county purposes and including also occupations

Section 3 The said board shall divide the county into convenient districts and shall appoint one subordinate assessor for each of said districts The subordinate assessors shall each receive the sum of five dollars per day for the time actually occupied in discharging their duties The board shall have the right to appoint such clerks as the salary board of the county or other proper authority may allow for the proper discharge of the duties of said board All salaries herein provided for shall be paid out of the county treasury

Section 4 The subordinate assessors shall make the assessment and valuations of all property taxable for state or county purposes together with a list of all persons taxable upon occupations within their respective districts and in so doing shall view all property in their district taxable for such purposes and shall make a personal house to house canvass of their district in order that such lists by persons taxable upon occupations may be accurate and correct insofar as it is possible to so make them All such assessors who shall fail to make such assessments and lists in the manner as herein provided shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars and in default of the payment of such fine and costs to undergo an imprisonment not exceeding ninety days

Section 5 The subordinate assessors shall begin such assessments of property and occupations on the first day of June of each year preceding the triennial assessment in such counties and shall file the same with the board for the assessment and revision of taxes on or before the first Monday of November of such year

Section 6 The board shall examine and revise the said assessments and valuations increasing or decreasing the same as in their judgment may seem proper and shall add thereto such property or subjects of taxation as may have been omitted After such revision the board shall by rule fix convenient times for the hearing of appeals from said assessments and valuations and after the hearing of said appeals and the making of whatever changes may be considered proper the valuations as so ascertained and revised unless changed in the manner hereinafter provided shall stand as the valuations for the assessments of all state and county taxes until the next triennial assessment

Section 7 When the triennial assessments shall be fixed either for the whole county or in districts thereof notice of that fact shall be given by publication in at least two newspapers of the county of the time when appeals will be heard After the hearing of appeals the board shall take such action in regard thereto as may be right and proper

Section 8 After action on such assessments by the board for the assessment and revision of taxes any taxpayer dissatisfied with the assessment on his property may within thirty days from the final fixing of the said assessment and valuation appeal therefrom to the court of common pleas of the said county and it shall be the duty of the court at once to hear and determine said appeal and if necessary to make such changes therein as may be right and proper

Section 9 The subordinate assessors shall between the triennial assessments revise any assessment or valuation according to right and equity by correcting errors and by adding thereto any property or subjects of taxation which may have been omitted or any new property or subjects of taxation which may have come into being since the last triennial assessment They shall also add thereto the names of any persons who may have moved into such district and strike therefrom the names of any persons who have removed from such districts since the last triennial assessment

The assessors shall also revise assessments and valuations between the triennial assessments by increasing or decreasing the same where the value of the property or subjects of taxation assessed or valued has changed by reason of any change of conditions thereon or adjacent thereto or in the vicinity thereof or for the reason that the property assessed or valued has been subdivided or laid out into a plan of lots or other subdivision or for the reason that improvements have been placed thereon or added thereto or for the reason that any public or other improvement has been made adjacent thereto or in the vicinity thereof or where for any other reason whatsoever the value of the property has changed and it seems to the board necessary and equitable to make a change in the valuation thereof

All assessments required to be made by the subordinate assessors in the years between the triennial assessment shall be commenced on the first day of July and shall be returned to the board for the assessment and revision of taxes not later than the thirty-first day of December of the year preceding the one for which it is made

Section 10 At least ten days written notice shall be given to any taxable person whose assessment shall be changed between triennial assessments setting forth any change which has been made and the time and place set for hearing objections thereto

Such notice shall be served by the board or any member thereof or by any subordinate assessor or by any other person authorized so to do by the board upon said taxable person if he or she can be found in the county or upon an adult person residing upon the property in question in case the taxable person cannot be found in the county

When no service is made upon the taxable person or upon an adult person residing upon the property assessed said notice shall be deemed to have been properly served if tacked or conspicuously posted upon the property assessed

No defect in service of any such notice shall be sufficient ground for setting aside any assessment so made but upon proof thereof being made the taxable person shall have the right to a rehearing before said board relative to said assessment and to appeal therefrom to the court of common pleas as hereinafter provided

Section 11 After the hearing of any objections thereto and the making of any changes that may be deemed proper the valuation as so ascertained shall unless changed in the manner herein provided stand as the valuations for the assessments for county taxes until the next triennial assessment

Section 12 Any taxable person dissatisfied with changes made in any assessment in the years between the trennial may within thirty days after the final fixing of the same appeal to the court of common pleas of said county and it shall be the duty of the court at once to hear and determine said appeal and if necessary make such changes therein as may be right and proper

Section 13 No appeal taken from any such assessments shall affect the validity of any taxes assessed but if such assessment shall thereafter be reduced an exoneration shall be granted or restitution ordered for the excess of taxes paid by reason of any improper increase in the assessment

Section 14 Upon request by any taxpayer he shall at any time receive from the board a statement of his taxable property and its valuation

Section 15 When the said valuations and assessments have been made all taxation for county and State purposes within the limits of such county shall be based upon such valuations

Section 16 The office of ward borough and township assessor as now existing in counties coming under the provisions of this act is hereby abolished in so far as respects the assessment and valuation of property and occupations taxable for state and county purposes

Section 17 The act approved the thirteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred ninety-two) entitled "An Act establishing in counties containing a population of from eight hundred thousand to one million four hundred thousand a Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes for State and county purposes prescribing the method of their appointment their powers and duties fixing their salary to be paid by the proper county and abolishing the office of ward borough and township assessors in so far as respects the assessment of State and county taxes" is hereby repealed

All other acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we thank Thee for the unsurpassable service rendered by the Salvation Army to the Allied soldiers of democracy. We thank Thee for the unselfish spirit that characterizes their work in every field of religious and social uplift. They have glorified Thy name with deeds of kindness and love wherever they go. Help us all to give just as cheerfully of our money to their Reconstruction Fund. By our generous gifts may we be able to give them unmistakable evidence of our appreciation of their great work and our confidence in their continued usefulness. These favors we ask in our Saviour's name. Amen.

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL NO. 888.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 888 (House Bill No. 1213), entitled:

An Act providing for assistance to certain mothers, providing for the appointment of boards of trustees for the several counties of the Commonwealth and for the appointment of a State Supervisor and assistants, and fixing the salaries of such State Supervisors and assistants, defining the powers and duties of boards of trustees including the power of appointing assistants and investigators and the distribution of funds at their disposal, providing for the apportionment of the State appropriation among the several counties, and requiring counties coming under the provisions of the act to appropriate certain moneys, and providing penalties.

passed finally.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Smith.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Smith, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, may I ask the Senator from Dauphin the purpose of reconsidering the vote of the Senate on this bill?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, for the purpose of recommitting the bill to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, this bill has been put over from time to time for three or four weeks. I have been interviewed by the Secretary of the Mothers' Pension Fund of Allegheny County, Mrs. John W. Thomas, who has been active in this capacity for a long, long time, urging that this bill be passed. I have also been urged by the legislator from the Twelfth Legislative District, Mr. John W. Vickerman, to do what I could to see that the bill was passed, and he couldn't understand why the bill was being put over from time to time and shoved back into committees, unless it was because he was the author of the bill. He told me that the Governor favored the passage of the bill and that as soon as it came to him he would sign it. These people are without funds. The amount of money that they have asked for is not going to be adequate, but they are going to be satisfied and get along the very best way they know how. Mrs. John W. Thomas has submitted in a letter today that they will be over $10,000 short even with the one-twelfth of $1,000,000 coming into the Treasury of Allegheny County and I scarcely think it is fair on the part of this Senate to hold up the bill any longer, after it has had the consideration in the committee that it has had and been put over, from time to time, with practically no excuse except that it has been held over, and I would ask the Senators here to vote for the passage of this bill, that the mothers and orphans of this State, and there are many more now than there were before this war, that they be given a square deal.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I move that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make reports from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. DAIX, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 1060, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the 7th day of February, 1905 (P. L. 3), entitled "An Act to create the Department of Public Printing and Binding, to carry out the provisions of section twelve, article three, of the Constitution in relation to the public printing and binding and the supply of paper and other materials therefor," as amended.

Also from the Committee on Appropriations re-reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 983, entitled:

The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Thou who are pouring down upon hillside and plain the enriching power of Thy love which shall make for our creature comfort, grant unto us, we pray Thee, and unto all men higher and better blessings, not because of our selfishness but because of our attachment and love, do we particularly pray for the people of this Commonwealth, the high and lowly, the rich and the poor, the great and all would we bring before Thee for Thy consideration and Thy love. But especially is our mind this morning turned toward those who have come to us from other shores, whose conditions there were poor and here are better; who have been lured here by the wage or else the opportunity of life; grant unto us, who enjoy one or more removes from foreign influences, that we may indeed have a broad and sympathetic mind to approach them with the sprit of consideration and seek to help and lift. And may we indeed realize that we have more to do than to exploit them for their labor, but that we must become missionaries of all of our noble principles and exalted ideas, and show them the loftiness that knows no distinction and admires none and accepts none except the Eternal King, whose sovereignty we must all acknowledge. Grant, then, that we may take our place, teaching them the highest and best, and thus insure safety for ourselves and our children to come. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on motion of Mr. RICHARD CURRY, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as there might be some misapprehension and some misunderstanding about this bill, I would like to explain the measure in just a few words. Under the present law and regulation of the Department, after January 1st next all the bake shops belonging to small bakers who have less than nine-foot head room—that is, the cellar bake shops—will be driven out of business. That would be a calamity ,particularly at this time, with business in a partially chaotic state. With the consent of the Department, this bill was drawn up and presented in order that the small bake shops would not be driven out of existence, but the hygenie prineiples required by the Department must be maintained. I understand the bill was approved by the small bakers throughout the State, and the big bakers have not registered any complaint. Of course the large bakers would benefit, but the small baker, the baker on the corner, I believe is the one that the people ought to protect, and this bill saves them from being driven out of business on January 1st next. The bill provides that a seven-foot head room is sufficient if the ventilation is adequate for the number of employes.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

SPEAKER SPANGLER IN THE CHAIR.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 1430.

Mr. ALEXANDER asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer the following motion:

Moved by Mr. ALEXANDER, seconded by Mr. MARSHALL, that the vote by which House Bill No. 1430, file folio 3693, on page 6 of the calendar of May 13, 1919, entitled

An Act fixing the time within which any person arrested shall be conveyed before a magistrate alderman or justice of the peace to be dealth with according to law and providing a penalty was defeated on final passage be reconsidered.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was on final passage Mr. Marshall and I both voted against it, and it is the intention of the sponsor of the bill to place it back in the committee, after it has been reconsidered, for amendment, and the amendment which he suggests is perfectly satisfactory to us, and I think it will be a proper bill then. That is the reason I have moved to have it reconsidered.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "noes" appears to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, and 65 gentlemen having voted in the affirmative, and 52 in the negative, the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the House agreed to this bill on third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. ARON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Local.

Mr. ARON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1499 (Senate Bill No. 901), entitled

An Act to amend section one of an act approved March twenty-second Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one entitled "An Act to authorize and empower any railroad corportion of this Commonwealth which shall own at least two-thirds of the whole capital stock of any other like corporation of this Commonwealth and shall have a railroad connecting with the railroad of the latter to acquire the franchises property rights and credits of the latter"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. HOLLINGSWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1469 (Senate Bill No. 73), entitled

An Act to provide a method upon petition of owner with notice to wife of bankrupt for ascertaining determining and charging statutory interest inchoate on lands of bankrupt sold under order of United States Court by report of viewers and decree of court of common pleas in certain cases freeing and discharging part of such lands from such statutory interest inchoate and charging same upon a portion of lands formerly owned by bankrupt in case of death of wife during life of bankrupt or after his death to discharge the lands from such statutory interest inchoate or statutory interest fixed by decree of court providing for services of rules and notices and for appeal from final decree of such court

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Speaker, I should like to inquire if any member of the House can explain the purposes of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Is there any member present who can explain this bill?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WHITEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1919 — 123rd of the General Assembly

Vol. 5. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, MAY 26, 1919. No. 52.

SENATE.

MONDAY, MAY 26, 1919.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward E. Beidleman) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we realize that the duties of leadership in every department of life were never more exacting than they are to-day. The spirit of unrest is universal. Democracy is undergoing the severest test in its history. Help us all to meet this test of American citizenship in a spirit of serious thought and self-denial. May we emerge from this great crisis into better living conditions, larger prosperity and wider opportunities to all classes of our people. These favors we ask in our Saviour's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. CROW, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PETITIONS.

FAVORING THE PASSAGE OF SENATE BILL NO. 840.

Mr. PATTON presented the following petition of the Philadelphia Board of Trade favoring the passage of Senate Bill No. 840 which was committed to the Committee on Banks and Building and Loan Associations.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
In Assembly met:
This memorial of the Philadelphia Board of Trade respectfully represents:—

That the Committee on Currency and Banking of the Board has carefully considered the provisions of Senate Bill No. 840, providing that no Bank, Trust Company or Banker shall be liable to a depositor because of non-payment, through mistake or error and without malice, of a check which should have been paid, unless the depositor shall allege and prove actual damage by reason of such non-payment;

That in such event the liability shall not exceed the amount of damage so proved;

That the proposed legislation provides relief for the banks and like institutions from being mulcted in damages out of all proportion to the damage suffered in the past by suits of law in case of non-payment of checks through error and without proof of malice; Therefore

Your Memorialist, the Philadelphia Board of Trade, petitions your Honorable Bodies and urges your favorable consideration of Senate Bill 840 for the reasons set forth in the foregoing.

And your Memorialist will ever pray.

PROTESTING AGAINST THE PASSAGE OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1336.

He also presented the following petition of the Philadelphia Board of Trade protesting against the passage of House Bill No. 1336, which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary Special

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
In Assembly met:
This memorial of the Philadelphia Board of Trade respectfully represents:—

That H. R. Bill No. 1336, the provisions of which make lawful 2000 pounds as the retail weight of a ton of Anthracite Coal in Pennsylvania, is a measure considerably more in the interest of the coal dealer than the public, which has every reason to fear the operation of the Bill should it become law;

That there is no reasonable assurance that the coal dealers will not take advantage of the change in weight to practically add to the cost of coal by the consumer, thus increasing living costs now most burdensome;

That no hope is entertained that the percentage of reduction in weight will be followed by a proportionate reduction in the price of coal; Therefore

Your Memorialist, the Philadelphia Board of Trade, petitions your Honorable Bodies to defeat H. R. Bill No. 1336, making lawful 2000 pounds as the retail weight of a ton of Anthracite Coal.

And your Memorialist will ever pray.

Philadelphia Board of Trade,
Wm. M. Coates
President.

Secretary.

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR SENATE BILL NO. 842.

Mr. BUCKMAN offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 26, 1919.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That Senate Bill No. 842, File Folio No. 1975, entitled "An Act authorizing boroughs maintaining a sewerage system and sewage disposal works to supply sewage service and extend sewer mains and pipes outside of the limits of the borough, provided such privilege shall not conflict with the rights of any sewer company or other borough, and granting the right of eminent domain for such purpose, and prescribing the procedure thereunder," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR SENATE BILL NO. 799.

Mr. SMITH offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 26, 1919.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That Senate Bill No. 148, entitled "An Act authorizing recorders of deeds in counties having a population of from one hundred and fifty thousand to five hundred thousand inhabitants to appoint a solicitor prescribing the duties of said solicitor and fixing his term of appointment and salary," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION PROTESTING AGAINST REPEAL OF PROHIBITION LAW EFFECTIVE JULY 1, 1919.

Mr. BARNES offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

Whereas, The Federal amendment to the Constitution of the United States prohibiting the manufacture and sale of all intoxicating beverages was recently passed by the forty-five of the forty-eight States of our Union and,

Whereas, The said Federal amendment was signed on November 21, 1918, making the Nation dry on July 1, 1919, and

Whereas, The said amendment was written in the Constitution in February of this year thereby showing an overwhelming sentiment of the people of the United States against the booze business, and in favor of National prohibition, and

Whereas, The Honorable Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States has asked Congress to repeal the said amendment in so far as it relates to beer and wine, which would, if repealed be a crime against High Heaven, as well as a violation of the Constitution he has sworn to defend, therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate of Pennsylvania, (the House concurring therein), That we as a legislative body resent this most unjust interference with the expressed wish of a vast majority of the people of the United States as subversive of their interests and against the rule of the people.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to our United States Senators the Honorable Boise Penrose and the Honorable P. C. Knox, also to the members of Congress from our State, urging them in the interest of a square deal, to stand by the expressed wish of our people, and the provisions of our Constitution, as opposed to any autocratic dictation from even the President of these United States.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I move that the resolution just read be referred to the Committee on Law and Order for further consideration.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR SENATE BILL NO. 148.

Mr. SASSAMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 26, 1919.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That Senate Bill No. 148, entitled "An Act authorizing recorders of deeds in counties having a population of from one hundred and fifty thousand to five hundred thousand inhabitants to appoint a solicitor prescribing the duties of said solicitor and fixing his term of appointment and salary," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. DAIX from the Committee on Judiciary Special reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 1000 (House Bill No. 1236), entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the seventh day of May, one thousand nine hundred and seven (Pamphlet Laws one hundred sixty-one), entitled "An Act regulating and defining the powers and duties of the Dental Council and the State Board of Dental Examiners, providing for appointment of examiners, defining qualifications of applicants for examination condition of granting licenses, regulating and limiting the practice of dentistry, prohibiting practice by or employment of unlicensed persons, and providing punishment therefor and disposition of fees and fines, and fixing the appropriation to the Dental Council," as amended.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1077, entitled:

A joint resolution proposing an amendment to article four section eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania prohibiting after adjournment the appointment to office of any person whose nomination the Senate failed to confirm

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARNES. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BARNES. Mr. President, I would like to ask what the purpose of this bill is?

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, this amendment will have the effect of making the Constitution mean what it was intended to mean when it was framed and adopted. Either confirmation by the Senate ought to mean something or they ought to be eliminated, and this amendment is framed to cure the defects in the Constitution as laid down by the Supreme Court in the case of Lafean vs. Snyder. Either confirmation by the Senate ought to mean something or they ought to be eliminated from the Constitution.

Mr. BARNES. Mr. President, in other words the action previous to this has been unconstitutional according to your idea.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, not at all they were constitutional.

MOTION TO PLACE SENATE BILL NO. 382 ON THE CALENDAR.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 382, known as the "Pilot Bill," entitled:

An Act to further amend an act approved the thirtieth day of March, one thousand eight hundred ninety-nine, entitled "An Act to amend the first section of an act approved the eleventh day of May, one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine, entitled 'A further supplement to an act, entitled "An Act to establish a Board of Wardens for the Port of Philadelphia and for the regulation of pilots and pilotage and for other purposes,'" approved March twenty-nine, one thousand eight hundred three, and for regulating the rates of pilotage and number of pilots" be placed upon the calendar notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. MEARKLE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. President, in asking to have this bill, negatived by the committee, placed on the calendar I want to state to the Senate that during my legislative experience of twenty years this is the first time that I have ever felt called upon to ask the legislative body in which I was serving to place upon the calendar a bill which had been negati- by the committee. I want to say to the Senate I do not believe there is any Senator who has a higher regard for the decisions of the committee, yet I know so well, Mr. President, that we are liable to err, even in matters during our daily life we come frequently in contact with and feel that we know. In these legislative halls every member knows how many of the various subjects of legislation come before us, every member knows, I think, without me reminding him, that there are many very technical questions come before the members of this Senate, on the floor as well as in this committee. I know as well as the other Senators in this body that it is almost impossible to give a careful and thorough examination of all of the bills that are submitted to us. I want to say, Mr. President, that there has perhaps not been a bill introduced into the Senate this session that has been so technical as Senate Bill 382. I firmly feel that if all the facts were known and were carefully weighed that surround this question, the committee would have made a different decision. I am so firmly convinced that I feel it is my duty to try to clarify the proposition as contained in Senate Bill 382.

In the first place I recognize that a large part of this membership comes from the inland part of the State. I realize that there are but few Senators here that are acquainted with the duties of a pilot, or his vocation. I might say that the duties of a pilot on the Delaware River and Delaware Bay is to have a thorough knowledge of the most difficult channel that leads into any port in the United States. Sixty-five miles out of one hundred and three from a line drawn from Cape May to Cape Henlopen where the bay opens out into the Atlantic Ocean is a channel but two hundred feet wide. The Legislature of Pennsylvania and the National law making body at Washington recognized in the earliest days of this Republic that the responsibilities of a pilot were such that some legislation regulating their activities should go on the National statute books and they were placed there. I do not think it is necessary for me to say to the members of this Senate the great danger to life and property if some men were allowed to act as pilot and board a sea-going vessel at the opening of Delaware Bay and undertake to pilot it to the City of Philadelphia. The Legislature of Pennsylvania, which has the right of the National statute to regulate this subject, in their wisdom decided that before a man could be a pilot on the Delaware River that he had to serve six years and then pass an examination. I might say you must serve an apprenticeship of four years before you can be a pilot of the third class. When you had received a license, and mark you, before you can be even entered as an apprentice you must put up a bond of not more than five hundred dollars or less than three hundred dollars, then after serving four years you may act as a third class pilot. After you have acted one year as a third class pilot you can become a second class pilot and after you have served six years practically at apprenticeship then you can receive a license in the State of Pennsylvania to be a first class pilot. You have spent six years of your life securing a training or profession which you can carry on nowhere else in the world. And why? It applies only to the Delaware River and the States of Delaware and Pennsylvania. Now there have been letters sent to this body stating that the Pilots Association is a close corporation. Now I want to say to you, my friends, that the pilots themselves have no control over the membership. They have no voice even in saying who shall be an apprentice. The Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania very likely in its wisdom decided that there should not be more than forty-two pilots from the State of Pennsylvania receive licenses, nor more than forty-two from the State of Delaware. I might state in explanation that the only two states to deal with the subject are the State of Pennsylvania and the State of Delaware regulating pilots that operate on the Delaware River and Delaware Bay. The Legislature in its wisdom in 1913 increased the number from forty, which was the former limit, to forty-two. That was six years ago. The Legislature in its wisdom by previous enactment decided what the salary or the income of these men shall be. The Legislature of Pennsylvania has not conceded any additional pay for these services since 1899, twenty years ago. Now, Senate Bill No. 382 simply provides for an increase of ten per cent. The income of the pilots covering almost this entire period are as follows:

In 1911 the income per man was $3,024; the income for the period of 1918 for piloting was $2,790 per man. The income for the past twelve years has varied between that figure and $2,487, practically remaining stationary up to this period. Surely the members of this Senate will agree with me that if the Legislature in 1899 believed that was the proper compensation, the changed conditions, the enormous increase in expenses, authorize an increase of ten per cent, and that is what this bill provides.

What are the objections to the passage of this bill, and from whence do they come? Who asks for the increase? the pilots of course, endorsed by some of the most important people in the State of Pennsylvania. Now my friends the pilot is not a water man. The business of a pilot is a skilled calling. Any man in any other calling in private life, that gives the time that these men are required to give by law, in a professional offering but one field, would feel justified in asking a legislative body to give him an increase. It has been said in opposition that this Association is top-heavy. In other words you have from certain interests a number of communications claiming that if they would reduce their number, their income would be provided for. In other words they have within themselves the power to fix their own salaries by reducing the number. I do not want to take the time of the Senate while I have the statutes here but I will say to you that the pilots, the pilots themselves, have no power to reduce their number and the interests who sent those letters here know that it cannot be limited by the methods they suggest and they know it when they sent those communications to the Senate. Now I want to say to this Senate that it is disappointing to me to find big interests sending their ablest lawyers here to camouflage the proposition, because they know the law. They know that their proposition is absolutely impracticable when they suggest it, because the law fixes the number and in addition to that as I said to you previously no young man can take up this calling as an apprentice unless the commissioners of navigation say he may. What is the situation at the present time? At the present time there are seventy-one pilots. Under the law there could be eighty-four first class pilots. I am speaking of two states acting jointly. There could be eighty-four first and second class pilots and twenty third class pilots and as many apprentices as the commissioners see fit to appoint or pass.

As against that which is the legal limit making a total of one hundred and two. As against that the actual number is seventy-one, so completely refuting the statements by those interested in defeating this legislation, that I think it is very very unfair and I do firmly believe that it is because of the confidence of the members of this Senate taking for granted communications from organizations such as the Philadelphia Martine Exchange the Commercial Exchange of Philadelphia, the Philadelphia Board of Trade and the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce. What do those four communications represent? On the face we would say that they represent the expression of those four organizations. The facts are that this subject was never presented to either one of those organizations in a body or as a body, or that the members ever knew they took the subject up. The facts are that a coterie of men, less than twelve in either of these organizations, took that subject up and decided to put up this protest against the bill. In their protest filed with the Judiciary General Committee. I know that it was filed in the Judiciary General Committee in the House, which is considering a bill identical, letter for letter, word for word, I do not have the record of what was said before the committee in the Senate, but as the same gentleman practically appeared in the Senate at that time we had no stenographer to take down the testimony, but before the House I took the advantage to have a stenographer. Now these are the same interests that sent out the protest against the bill: Bowring & Co. Ltd., London; Sun Company; Sun Shipbuilding Company; L. Westergaard Company; Cunard Steamship Company; International Mercantile Marine Company; Atlantic Transport Line; American Line; Societa Italo-Americana Pet Petrollo; Leyaldn Line; White Star Line; Panama Pacific Line; The American Hawaiian Steamship Company; American Petroleum Company; Luckembach Steamship Company; American Indian Steamship Line; Novia Scotia Steel and Coal Company; Gailey Davis and Company; S. L. Burgess Company; Atlantic Refining Company; Anglo-American Oil Company; Holland American Line; Standard Oil Company; Red Star Line; Lloyd Royal Belge; Muson Steamship Line; Standard Oil Company of New York; International Petroleum Company; American-Mediterranean-Levant Line; Bombay-American Line; Ellerman and Bucknall Steamship Lines; Earn Line Steamship Company; La Columbia Soc Marito; Scandinavian-American Lines; potential in itself, taking it on its face, perhaps when you know the facts it will not sound so potential. What are the facts? The signatures of this protest under the names that I have presented to you contain P. F. Young, manager of the International Mercantile Marine Company; Atlantic Transport Lines and the American Lines and to these he might have properly signed as manager of the Red Star Line. To make the paper appear more representative of a larger opposition, he has the Red Star Line signed by a clerk, E. M. Tyrrel. Then follows the Leyland Line (never operated out of this port) signed P. F. Young, manager. Then the White Star Line (never operated out of this port) signed by W. T. Roach, a clerk. The Panama-Pacific Line (never operated out of this port) signed by one of his clerks, A. P. Detwiler. The Holland-American Line, signed by another clerk, W. C. Boyer, when I tell you who signed for those names they do not sound so potential—clerks in the office. The administrative bodies of those organizations in all human probability do not know that there is a bill in the Pennsylvania Legislature, and might, like very many of the very largest operators in the port of Philadelphia, have no objections to the bill. The American Petroleum Company, Joseph C. Gabriel, the Atlantic Refining Company, Joseph C. Gabriel, The Anglo-American Oil Company, Joseph C. Gabriel, The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Joseph C. Gabriel, the Standard Oil Company of New York, Joseph C. Gabriel, La Columbia Soc Marite.

Now, my friends and Senators, I do not want to take one moment more time than necessary but I do say that the opposition to this bill has not acted as I think honorable men should act, tell the whole truth when they came before this legislative body. You know, and I know, that the most difficult thing for a member of this legislative body, on either side, after he has listened to the arguments, is to know what the real facts are. If there is anything I think that provokes a Senator or member of the House of Representatives it is that he has to sit in committee and listen to men who try to becloud the truth and becloud the real issue. Senators, I know that it does happen, and I know that it has happened, and I know that it will happen again, and I want to say to you that I firmly believe that if there is one piece of meritorious legislation that has come to this house from poor men, knocking at the legislative hall door, owing none of us, almost afraid to approach us, to them we appear an august body above them, afraid almost to enter and tell us their story, and then the other large interest coming here trying to camouflage these conditions or it is a fact that when they say this association is top-heavy they are misrepresenting it, because they say the pilots can remedy it and they know they cannot. Now, perhaps the thing in the minds of the Senators, that will weigh the most in forming an opinion, is whether the question of this increase of ten per cent. will injure the port of Philadelphia and that indirectly injures the interests of this great State and the county that you and I represent. Let us analyze that proposition and see whether it will bear even a moment's thought. Suppose you should be coming down the coast with the option of a port either Philadelphia or Baltimore. Those men try to make you think that if there is fifteen dollars difference pilotage in favor of the port of Baltimore the boat will go on to Baltimore. The difference in distance from the port opposite Cape Henlopen and around Cape Charles and up Chesapeake Bay, would make an additional difference of one hundred and twenty miles. The average crew of that boat will be between thirty and forty men. The amount of coal necessary to drive a boat of that draft will amount to more in three miles than the fifteen dollars. The cost to keep the crew twelve hours longer in the service to carry the cargo into port in one hour will amount to more than the fifteen dollars. Now we will reverse it and say that the boat is coming North, and suppose that the pilotage down had not past the port of Baltimore to get to the port of Philadelphia before a like answer will come in, but the truth is this, and they know it and nobody knows it better than they do, and that is that no longer does the old custom exist if the ship owner being the trader. Today the ship owners are ship owners, they carry cargoes where the trade wants them to be carried, but the question whether a boat will come to the port of Philadelphia, or New York, is the question whether the trades from those two ports warrant the running of a ship from those two points. And then to say that an intelligent body of men such as this Senate that fifteen dollars additional, the cost being one hundred and fifty dollars the additional making one hundred and sixty-five dollars, will divert trade from the port of Philadelphia; my friends, I know you do not think that. One other question, and then I think that I have made the matter as plain as I am capable of; what do the pilots of New York earn annually? They draw forty-five hundred and five thousand dollars. What do the pilots in Boston earn annually? They draw forty-five hundred and five thousand dollars on an average, last year I believe the pilots in the port of Boston made forty-five hundred dollars and in the port of New York they made forty-eight hundred dollars. And one other thing; they have the nerve to say to this Senate that New York is able to provide for her pilotage with one hundred and seven men, and that the port of Philadelphia is overloaded because through the port of New York there comes very much more general traffic than comes to the port of Philadelphia, which we know, but when the pilot takes a boat into the port of New York he just covers 18 miles and when he takes it into the port of Philadelphia he covers 103 miles, and if the port of New York required a pilotage of 103 miles, it would require nearly seven hundred pilots instead of 107.

I feel that I have so thoroughly answered the arguments that were made. Now there is one other argument: They have absolutely told the Senators, because a Senator told me that certain parties told him that there was but one Pennsylvanian in this Pilots' Association. Fellow Senators, I care not whether it is one or whether it is a thousand, if he is an American citizen I would stand for what is right for the man who wears overalls as quick as I would for any one. I was told again and I have letters here, but I do not want to take your time, where they actually wrote to Senators in this Senate that were only nine. Suppose there were but nine, the answer is the same. What is the truth? The truth is that there are twenty-nine. The further truth is that Philadelphia has but one terminus, and Lewis, Delaware, is the other terminus, and like an engineer on the railway, who might desire to live in the City of Philadelphia and he gets an appointment to run between Altoona and Chicago, you know as well as I know where his occupation takes him, if he had any of that real American spirit he would want his family at one of the termini. So that that argument falls completely.

Now these are the facts. These men can get no relief except at your hands, they are knocking at your door in an humble way, it is true, their voice is feeble, while I know the voice on the other hand is loud and strong, and I do firmly believe and I hope the Senate will agree with me that it is absolutely no reflection upon the committee. Why, my friends, were I on a committee and had I made a mistake on a technical proposition, I would thank the members on the floor of this Senate to show me my error and would be up with both hands to correct it. I hope I have convinced you that these men deserve this increase. Gentlemen of the Senate, think of it! In the Judiciary General Committee I heard Mr. Gabriel, who represents the oil people, declare that these men were getting pay enough, and yet they were charging these men 200 per cent. more for the very products that they were selling them. The shipping interests that carry from the Port of Philadelphia to Chester, Wilmington, to Baltimore, where there was no war risk, have increased their charges on the public over 100 per cent., in many instances, and not a single instance has it been less than 50 per cent. The other interests that came here objecting to this bill are the tug boat interests that ply up the river. The Legislature did not control their prices, and, of course, to protect the Port of Philadelphia and the interests of the great State they were reasonable in their increase on the war charges perhaps. Prior to hostilities they charged $120 to tow a boat from Lewis to the Port of Philadelphia, and after hostilities began they raised that price to $1,015, and those same men come here and want this Senate to refuse the increase to these men of 10 per cent., when there is not a member on the floor of this Senate, nor do I believe an intelligent man or woman in the State of Pennsylvania who does not know that the expense of living and the expense of managing this business has increased fully 100 per cent. Why, my friends, the expense of managing this Pilots' Association prior to the war was a little over $33,000, and last year, 1918, $105,000 for identically the same organization.

Mr. President, I realize that I have not carefully gone into this question. I have tried to present it to you though so that you fully understand it. I court any inquiry that any Senator has in his mind to further clarify this proposition and I hope the Senate will allow this bill to go on the calendar and on its way to becoming a law that is so deservedly needed.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate, this seems to be an unusual proceeding. I have been sitting here in this Senate for the last twelve years and I do not remember when a motion of this kind was made before. There was one motion made during those twelve years when a committee would not give a hearing to a bill, and even that was turned down on the ground that the President of this Senate appoints committees for this very purpose. Suppose we carry this to a logical conclusion. Every bill that is defeated in committee some member would come on the floor and ask this Senate to reverse it, how far would you get? I do not know the first thing about the merits or demerits of the bill, but it certainly seems to me bad policy to upset any committee that has a bill in charge. I do not see a better way, if the Senator from Delaware is not satisfied with the hearing that the bill got and he thinks some of the Senators were mistaken in their judgment, then to ask for a rehearing before the committee, rather than to come here and to ask this Senate to upset the findings of the committee.

Mr. F. E. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I have not anything particularly to say on this matter, except this, that our committee gave this bill as they try to in all matters that come before the committee, a careful and fair hearing. It happens in this instance that a hearing before the committee one or two of them were laid before a sub-committee. Personally I believe, as I think every other Senator does, that the only way to expedite matters in the way of legislation is through you committees. I have been in this session and other sessions for some time and I have yet the first time to vote to discharge any committee from the consideration of any measure or to reverse the report of any committee and, Mr. President, I have only to say that I will still have my first time. I know that the sub-committee acted conscientiously and from all reports exercised their soundest and best judgement.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I stated in my opening remarks the regard that I had for committees and the difficulties that surround the proper consideration. I stated that in my legislative experience that I myself have never taken this action, and yet, Mr. President, the arguments made by the Senators in my mind is a dangerous system to establish. They know, and every Senator here knows that the Constitution fixes the method of legislative procedure, namely, that all bills must go to committee. If there is to be fixed in the minds of the legislative bodies of this government a principle that is contrary to that, this Constitution of the State should be changed. I realize that if on each and every bill you should happen to appeal to the Senate over the heads of a committee that some other method of handling legislation would have to be employed, but as a matter of fact, it occurs but rarely, on either side of the Legislature. And there is absolutely no danger, in my mind, that if a member comes on the floor of the Senate and convinces that body that a committee has made a mistake, it is a good healthy practice to prevail and would place in the public minds a greater confidence in this legislative body, and I do hope that the Senator from Philadelphia and the Senator from Potter will approach the subject with an open mind and not be controlled by a practice that has prevailed in this body. I am the last member on the floor of this Senate that wants to inject himself into this body with a revolutionary method of legislation, but I do feel so firmly that these poor men should have a hearing before this Senate and I do think the members should not be guided by the precedence but they should be guided by the fundamental principles of this great republic

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion.

The yeas and nays were required by R. J. BALDWIN and Mr. MEARKLE, and were as follows, viz:

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR SENATE BILL NO. 20.

Mr. NASON offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 26, 1919.

Resolved (If the House of Representatives concur), That Senate Bill No. 20, entitled "An Act to provide for and regulate the fees to be received by notaries public throughout the Commonwealth for making demand for payment or acceptances of commercial paper protesting and registering the same and for making out and mailing notices of protest," be it recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR SENATE BILL NO. 606.

Mr. F. E. BALDWIN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 26, 1919.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That Senate Bill No. 606, entitled "An Act to amend the nineteenth section of an act entitled 'An Act to regulate the employment in all kinds of industrial establishments, of women and children employed at wages or salary by regulating the age at which minors can be employed and the mode of certifying same and by fixing the hours of labor for women and minors to provide for the safety of all employees in all industrial establishments and of men, women and children in school-houses, academics, seminaries, colleges, hotels, hospitals, store-houses, office buildings, public halls and places of amusement in which proper fire escapes, exits, and extinguishers are required to provide for the health of all employees and of men, women and children in all such establishments, store-houses and buildings by proper sanitary appliances and to provide for the appointment of inspectors, office clerks, and others who with the Chief Factory Inspector shall constitute the Department of Factory Inspection to enforce the same, and providing penalties for violations of the provision thereof, fixing the term and salaries of the Chief Factory Inspector and his appointees' approved the second day of May, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and five (Pamphlet laws fifty-two) be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

TIME OF SPECIAL SESSION TO HEAR ADDRESS OF COLONEL JOSEPH H. THOMPSON.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, last week the Senate passed a resolution inviting Colonel Joseph H. Thompson to be present to address the Senate. In response to that invitation the Chief Clerk has received the following telegram:

"Glad to accept Senate invitation Tuesday evening, May twenty-seventh. Jos. H. Thompson."

Mr. President, I move you, therefore, that a special session of the Senate be held to-morrow evening at eight-thirty, for the purpose of hearing the address of Colonel Thompson.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

HOUSE MESSAGES

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR HOUSE BILL NO. 949.

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section one article eight of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?
Mr. CROW. Mr. President, this is a joint resolution providing a method for the submission of the question of woman suffrage to the electors of the State. When such an issue arises it is the right of the people of the State to have the question submitted to them for their determination. This is an American doctrine and principle and one to which the Republic party is committed. I, therefore, bespeak for this resolution the favorable consideration and support of the Republican members of the Senate to the end that the question may be submitted to the people of Pennsylvania for their determination.
And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O wondrous sovereign of heaven and land and sea, step down we pray Thee, unto our great Ship of State and be Thou the helsman thereof that we shall be guided on in the course that is true and proper; that ours shall not be the sad and sorry spectacle of shipwreck, either on the rocks of dissension or on the shoals of shallowness and fiction and emptiness; and grant, we beseech Thee, that there shall burn, in brightness and in brilliance, the North Star of Thy eternal truth to keep up to the true course of our endeavor. And may we be true and loyal unto the sailing of that great ship, and amid the buffeting of the waves of time, and amid all the endeavors of those who shall surround us in storm and stress, in tempest and tide, grant unto us that we may at least, by Thy divine decree, come into the harbor, safe and sound, according to Thine own infinite goodness and wisdom. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of Wednesday, May 21, 1919.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introdueed, presented a eommunieation in writing from His Excellency the Governor, whieh was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 775.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 26, 1919.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 775, entitled "An Act providing for the payment of certain claims for damages done to property by bear providing a method for the ascertainment of such damage and making an appropriation."

This bill provides for the payment, by the State, out of the Resident Hunters' License Fund, of all damages done by bears to fruit trees, growing crops, or personal property open to hunting.

It provides an elaborate system for a jury to assess damages, and appropriates $15,000 out of the Resident Hunters' License Fund for the payment of such damages.

This bill would introduce a new policy into the State. Its purpose, of course, is to encourage the opening of lands for hunting, but if there is to be compensation for damage done by bears, there is no reason why there should not be compensation under the same conditions for damage done by deer, which sometimes injure gardens and damage fruit trees or by rabbits which nibble growing vegetables and sometimes girdle trees.

I do not think the State should adopt the principle of paying for damage done by wild game, nor do I feel that the funds raised by the license upon hunters should be dissipated in any such manner.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

WM. C. SPROUL.

And the question being,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of His Exeellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

A motion was made by Mr. ALEXANDER, seconded by Mr. HEYBURN,

That the question, together with the further consideration of the communication, be laid upon the table.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section 34, page 21, line 10, by striking out the words "June" and "nineteen" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "January" and "twenty," respectively.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: This is the Department of Conservation bill, and the amendments that I offered were the amendments which were agreed to by the Governor and the department, and are the amendments asked for by the Wild Life League of Pennsylvania, and most of the sportsmen. These amendments are asked for by the Wild Life League and are approved by the department and are included in the general appropriation. The date fixed by the original bill is June 1st, 1919, and the fiscal year for the various departments ends on the thirty-first day of May. If the date on which this act shall take effect is postponed until January 1, it will really, as far as I am concerned, break faith with me and the Governor, with whom I had a conference last week on these amendments. I think he has been fair enough with the sportsmen and has given them almost everything they asked for.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, this amendment is asked for by the sportsmen of Pennsylvania and also by some of the gentlemen in the departments, and it will not break faith with the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Baldrige) and the Governor. This amendment comes from the sportsmen of Pennsylvania who are interested and they have asked to have it presented for this reason: So that this law will take effect on the first of January. You can readily see how you can do this by that date. As soon as this bill becomes a law the department will then be formed, and this law will put the matter in good shape. I think it is only fair to the sportsmen of Pennsylvania and those interested if we extend the time from the first of June to the first of January.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is informed that the same amendment is already inserted.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, to take effect on the first of January?

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, the amendment presented by the gentleman from Clearfield (Mr. Phillips) has not been inserted. It was stricken out at the request of the department.

Will the House agree to the amendment offered by the gentlemen from Clearfield (Mr. Phillips)?

The SPEAKER declared the "Noes" have it. Whereupon, a division was called for, and 63 gentlemen voting in the affirmative and 66 in the negative, the amendment was not agreed to.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the section?
It was agreed to.

The title was read as follows:

An Act creating a department of conservation charging the department with the enforcement administration and execution of laws heretofore enforced administered and executed by or through the Department of Fisheries the Department of Forestry the Board of Game Commissioners the Water Supply Commission and the State Forestry Reservation Commission defining the powers and duties of the department of conservation and prescribing penalties abolishing certain department boards commissions and offices providing penalties abolishing certain department boards commissions and offices providing for the disposition of certain moneys received by the department and making appropriations.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

BILL RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 1125, file folio 5027, from page 1 of today's calendar, bill recalled from the Governor, on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. RAMSEY,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1125, entitled

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the fifteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and seven (Pamphlet Laws eighty-six) entitled "An Act fixing the salary of the Superintendent of Public Instruction and of the Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction" fixing the salary of the superintendent of Public Instruction for all services required to be performed by law.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Ramsey permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman, does he not think that $12,000 per annum is too much for a newly appointed Superintendent of Public Instruction for the State of Pennsylvania?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I do not.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman, is it not a fact that we paid the former Superintendent of Public Instruction $5,000?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I ask, did we recall this bill from the Governor to increase the salary of the newly-appointed superintendent to $12,000?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: When the late Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Schaeffer, died, he left the State without a Superintendent of Public Instruction. The Governor of the Commonwealth, after going over all of the different means of securing a Superintendent of Public Instruction, felt that in rebuilding the Department of Education he wanted to get the best material possible to do that. For that reason, he had me introduce the bill which is the same one which is before you now, calling for a salary of $10,000, without reducing the amount of work that the State Superintendent of Public Instruction was called upon to do, but also without his receiving any extra or added compensation for those different secretaryships. After that bill had passed the Senate and was in the hands of the Governor who, I believe, had gone throughout the length and breadth of Pennsylvania, and almost throughout the United States, to secure a head of the school system of Pennsylvania whom he felt could restore that system to the place it ought to occupy among the several systems of the United States, and if you will remember, gentlemen, that we do occupy at the present time a lower place than we, as citizens of Pennsylvania, feel we ought to. The Governor of the Commonwealth failed to secure a man for $10,000 whom he thought was big enough to do the job which he was going to place before him. New York and several other states pay salaries ranging from $15,000 to $18,000 a year, and I submit to you men, what is a few dollars if we are going to place our school system in this Commonwealth where it belongs? I do not know the man to be selected, but I do know, and I feel, that you agree with me that one thousand dollars a month is not too much for a new man, because when we place this new man into this position he must produce results. We cannot try out a man for a few months and then increase his salary, to what we feel we ought to be paid. We are here to-night to ask you for a sufficient salary and you men who have the interest of Pennsylvania at heart, you ought to say to the Board of Education or to the Governor, "we are going to give you $12,000 and we expect you to produce results in Pennsylvania that will put the school system on the top rung of the ladder second to none in any State in the Union." $12,000 is not too much for a new man, because we must not consider that new man; we must consider the office. I am told that Allegheny County pays their superintendent of county schools $10,000, and if that is correct then $12,000 is not too much for the Superintendent of the State schools of Pennsylvania. I trust that the members of this House will vote favorably on this bill so that we can begin to build up the school system of Pennsylvania, following that act up with the other meritorious measure which this House has passed and which will give to the school teachers, who must assist this $12,000 superintendent, wages that will help them to live right and save some money for a rainy day. Gentlemen, this is a measure which is of interest to Pennsylvania and I hope that you will vote for it.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interogate the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Ramsey).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Ramsey) permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I will.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Clearfield (Mr. Phillips) will proceed.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware whether he knows how much Mr. Finnegan was getting before he was asked to come to Pennsylvania?

Mr. RAMSEY. I do not know, Mr. Speaker. I know that the Superintendent of State Schools in New York receives $18,000 a year. I do not know what Mr. Finnegan did before he came here.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, do we understand the gentleman from Delaware to say that the Governor had to offer the gentleman from New York, Mr. Finnegan $12,000 before he could secure him?

Mr. RAMSEY. I should think, Mr. Speaker, that when the Governor requests the House to pay $12,000, and if Mr. Finnegan is the man appointed, then I presume he feels that Mr. Finnegan is worth $12,000.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further ask the gentleman from Philadelphia whether the Governor has asked the members of the Legislature to vote for this bill?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: The Governor is behind this bill. It is his measure. It is at his request it is presented. I do not know whether he has asked members to vote for it or not. I don't know whether he would. I am only telling you what I know about. I have amended it at the request of the Governor.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

An Act to validate tax liens filed since the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirteen under the provisions of an act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and one entitled "An Act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements and for the removal of nuisances the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened and the manner of distributing the proceeds of such sales" and providing for their collection

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That all tax liens and claims heretofore filed under and by virtue of an act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and one (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and sixty-four) entitled "An Act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements and for the removal of nuisances the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened and the manner of distributing the proceeds of such sales" and its several supplements and amendments and any tax liens filed within six months after the approval of this act in accordance with the provisions of said act be and the same are hereby validated and made effectual as if the act of May twenty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred eighty-five) entitled "An Act providing for the return of taxes on seated lands in counties poor districts boroughs incorporated towns and townships for county poor borough town or township taxes respectively and providing for the sale of such lands for taxes" and the supplements and amendments thereto had not been passed and all such liens and clamis shall be collected in the manner provided in said act of June fourth one thousand nine hundred and one and with like force and effect as if properly filed prior to the passage of said act of May twenty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen Provided the tax liens shall in other respects be legal and valid And provided further That this act shall not apply to any cases already adjudicated or to any suits now pending and undetermined

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, the sponsor of this bill is not present, and as there were some amendments which he intended to explain, I move that the consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1549 (Senate Bill No. 914), entitled

An Act to amend sections three and thirteen of an act approved the thirty-first day of May, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws four hundred sixty-eight), entitled "An Act providing for the establishment of a State Highway Department, by the appointment of a State Highway Commissioner, two Deputy State Highway Commissioners, chief engineer, chief draughtsman, superintendent of highways, and a staff of assistants and employes; defining their duties and the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department, and fixing salaries of commissioner and deputies and other appointees; providing for taking over from the counties or townships of the Commonwealth certain existing public roads connecting county-seats, principal cities, and towns and extending to the State line; describing and defining same by route numbers as the State Highways of the Commonwealth; providing for the improvement, maintenance and repair of said State Highways solely at the expense of the Commonwealth, and relieving the several townships or counties from any further obligation and expense to improve or maintain the same, and relieving said townships or counties of authority over same; requiring boroughs and incorporated towns to maintain certain State highways wholly and in part; requiring the State Highway Commissioner to make maps to be complete records thereof; conferring authority on the State Highway Commissioner; providing for the payment of damages in taking of property, or otherwise, in the improvement thereof; providing for purchase or acquiring of turnpikes or toll-roads forming all or part of any State Highway, and procedure therein; providing for work of improvement of State Highways to be done by contract, except where the State Highway Commissioner decides the work be done by the State providing aid by the State to counties and township desiring the same in the improvement of township or county roads defining highways; providing method of application for State-aid in the improvement, maintenance and repair of township or county roads and prescribing the contents of township, county, borough, or incorporated town petitions; providing for percentage of cost of improvement or repairs to be paid by State, county, township, borough or incorporated town, and requiring contracts by counties, townships, boroughs, and incorporated towns with Commonwealth governing same; providing for the minimum width of State Highways and State-aid Highways and kind of materials to be used in the improvement; providing for payment of cost of improvement and repairs; providing penalty for injuring, or destroying State Highways; making appropriations to carry out the provisions of the act; and providing for the repeal of certain acts relating to Highway Department and improvement of roads, and of all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith; and providing that existing contracts are not affected by provisions of this act," so as to empower the State Highway Commissioner to acquire lands and the necessary equipment, and to quarry stone, and manufacture material used in the construction and maintenance of State highways and State-aid highways and to supply such stone and material to contractors, and so as to authorize the State Highway Commissioner in his discretion, to construct, build, or rebuild any highways by the employes of the State Highway Department.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 1073, file folio 2807, on page 1 of to-day's calendar, bills on third reading postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from postponed calendar by Mr. DAWSON,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1073, entitled

An Act providing for the election of councilmen in cities of the third class and extending the term of office of all councilmen of such cities who are now in office

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ROBERT L. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, this is an act providing for the extension of the terms of office of councilmen in cities of the third class. Now this is a new departure, and I want to say that I have investigated this question at considerable length, and the third class cities, generally speaking, are opposed to it. They are opposed to it for the reason that we want to elect our third class city councilmen, and not have their offices extended after they are elected. The law provides for the election of these men and fixes their terms of office. Under th new bill, the office is fixed at four years. I wish to call your attention also to the fact that the Constitution of Pennsylvania, I think, very plainly prohibits what this bill intends to do. The Constitution does not permit the extension of the terms of public officials. I do not know why this bill really is before us. I do not believe that any of you men representing third class cities believe we should elect our men for a term of office and then have this legislature extend those terms, giving them an additional term. It is not the purpose of this law-making body to create or extend the term of office of any public official in my city or in any other city in this Commonwealth. We have prescribed by law a provision that the people shall elect for a term of office. That is satisfactory, and I think it ought to be left to the people. Do not forget that this bill is clearly unconstitutional. Do not forget that it is the province of the citizens of third class cities to elect their public officials, and it is not the province of the members of this House or General Assembly to change that term of office or to continue men who happen to be holding these positions. I think, gentlemen, as a matter of wisdom, this House ought to defeat this bill.

Shall the bill pass finally?

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 254.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 21, 1919.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I herewith return, without my approval, House Bill No. 254. This bill increases the salaries of certain employes of the registration commissioners in cities of the first and second classes, making the salaries in these cases from one-fourth to one-half higher than at present. The salary of the clerk is increased from $1,500 to $2,000, the stenographer from $1,200 to $1,800, and others in like or approximate proportion.

I am of the opinion that these increases are not warranted, and that the salaries as provided under existing law are adequate and sufficient to secure competent persons to serve in these places. The salaries now paid compare favorably with the pay of the servants of the Commonwealth generally in like positions. For example, many stenographers of long experience and tried ability in various departments of the State Government receive only $1,200 per annum. There must be some halt called on the tendency to raise salaries.

Furthermore, this bill contains a provision permitting the employment of "as many other clerks as may be necessary at a compensation not exceeding $4 per diem for the time actually employed." This provision might lead to grave abuses.

WM. C. SPROUL.

And the question being,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

A motion was made by Mr. MARCUS, seconded by Mr. VICKERMAN,

That the question, together with the further consideration of the communication, be laid upon the table.

Which was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1632 (Senate Bill No. 917), entitled

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and thirty-five) entitled "A supplement to an act approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and sixty-eight) entitled 'An Act providing for the establishment of a State Highway Department by the appointment of a State Highway Commissioner "two Deputy State Highway Commissioners chief engineer chief draughtsman superintendents of highways and a staff of assistants and employes defining their duties and the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department and fixing salaries of commissioner and deputies and other appointees providing for taking over from the counties or townships of the Commonwealth certain existing public roads connecting county-seats principal cities and towns and extending to the State line describing and defining same by route numbers as the State highways of the Commonwealth providing for the improvement maintenance and repair of said State highways solely at the expense of the Commonwealth and relieving the several townships or counties from any further obligation and expense to improve or maintain the same and relieving said townships or counties of authority over same requiring boroughs and incorporated towns to maintain certain State highways wholly and in part requiring the State Highway Commissioner to make maps to be complete records thereof conferring authority on the State Highway Commissioner providing for the payment of damages in taking of property or otherwise in the improvement thereof providing for purchase or acquiring of turnpikes or toll-roads forming all or part of any State highway and procedure therein providing for work of improvement of State highways to be done by contract except where the State Highway Commissioner decides the work be done by the State providing aid by the State to counties and townships desiring the same in the improvement of township or county roads defining highways and State-aid highways providing method of application for State-aid in the improvement maintenance and repair of township or county roads and prescribing the contents of township county borough or incorporated town petitions for percentage of cost of improvement or repairs to be paid by State county township borough or incorporated town and requiring contracts by counties townships boroughs and incorporated towns with Commonwealth governing same providing for the minimum width of State highways and State-aid highways and kind of materials to be used in the improvement providing for payment of cost of improvement and repairs providing penalty for injuring or destroying State highways making appropriations to carry out the provisions of the act and providing for the repeal of certain acts relating to Highway Department and improvement of roads and of all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith and providing that existing contracts are not affected by provisions of this act" and further providing that the State Highway Commission and the several counties townships boroughs or incorporated towns shall have authority to make and enter into contracts to reconstruct or improve a State highway or portion thereof in the same manner as a State-aid highway and authorizing counties townships boroughs or incorporated towns to incur indebtedness and pay their respective shares of the cost thereof making valid all such contracts heretofore made such highway to remain a State highway

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1919 — 123rd of the General Assembly

Vol. 5. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MAY 27, 1919. No. 53.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, MAY 27, 1919.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward E. Beidleman) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, in our Republican form of government the needs of our people, expressed in varied forms, are hard to classify. Representative men and women are chosen in the various walks of life to discover these needs and supply them. Insofar as these demands can be furnished by legislation it is up to this distinguished body to solve their problems. We pray that this Senate may honor themselves by such legislative enactments as will command the respect of all law-abiding citizens and insure the welfare and prosperity of our people. These favors we ask in our Saviour's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. SALUS, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILLS RECOMMITTED.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 786 (House Bill No. 966), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the twenty-second day of April one thousand nine hundred and seven (Pamphlet Laws ninety-six) entitled "An Act to confer upon street railway companies and the lessees or operators thereof the right to do an express business and to transport light freight and property and to charge and collect reasonable compensation therefor" be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Affairs for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 810 (House Bill No. 941), on third reading, entitled:

An Act relating to eggs prohibiting the sale offering for sale exposing for sale or having in possession with intent to sell eggs for and as fresh that are not fresh eggs or of branding or of labelling or marking eggs as being fresh eggs that are not fresh eggs prescribing certain duties of the Dairy and Food Commissioner in reference thereto and providing penalties for the violation thereof be recommitted to the Committee on Forestry for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. SASSAMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, before recommitting this bill in such an absurd way as that I think the Senate ought to be advised that this is really a good and meritorious bill. Mr. President, the object of this bill is to sell eggs for what they are.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Perry, Mr. Leiby, will state his point of order.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, this question is not debatable as to the merits of the bill.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order is sustained.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Perry, Mr. Leiby.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Perry, Mr. Leiby, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Perry, Mr. Leiby, in what committee this bill was before?

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, in the Committee on Library.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, why refer it to the Committee on Forestry now?

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, we think it is a more appropriate committee.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 810 (House Bill No. 941), entitled:

An act relating to eggs prohibiting the sale offering for sale exposing for sale or having in possession with intent to sell eggs for and as fresh that are not fresh eggs or of branding or of labelling or marking eggs as being fresh eggs that are not fresh eggs prescribing certain duties of the Dairy and Food Commissioner in reference thereto and providing penalties for the violation thereof.

And said bill having been read at length the third time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, what I intended to say was this, that in many stores in the State eggs are sold for fresh which are not fresh, and the vendor of those eggs knows they are not fresh. I know that a great many people must eat fresh eggs, anaemics and tubercular patients, must use them. People with very weak stomachs are sometimes advised by their physicians to use them. We have perfeetly good eggs for ordinary purposes, which are preserved lime, also in a solution of water glass, silicate of soda; you cannot tell those eggs in the stores from fresh laid eggs, but the dealer knows whether they are freshly laid or not. So these people whose health depends upon fresh-laid eggs are deceived and they do not get the benefit which thy should. This is one particular reason why this bill should become a law.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Blair, Mr. Snyder.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair, Mr. Snyder, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask what the penalty is for violating this law?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I do not know. I did not notice the penalty in the bill.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I was glad to see this bill go over in its order last night. I desired very much to read it carefully before it came before this body for final passage. I, early in the session, read the bill and I was under the impression at the time I read it, and I would like the Senator to explain if I am incorrect, that a person who happened to sell eggs not knowing their exact age,—and I might say the age has little to do with the freshness of eggs—because it is the temperature in which they are kept. Now having been a country merchant myself and having taken in eggs in the trade and sold them to my customers, I could not tell whether the customer who brought the eggs to me had kept them a week or two weeks before he traded them in at the store. I sold these believing conscientiously that I was selling fresh eggs. If this bill is going to place a penalty upon the merchant who is going to make a mistake of that character, certainly it should be corrected so far as that feature of it is concerned. I would hesitate to vote for the bill unless I would have it more fully explained than at the present time.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of the bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 845, entitled:

An act to amend section eight of an act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and one (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and tweney-three) entitled "An Act to provide for the incorporation and government of passenger railways either elevated or underground or partly elevated and partly underground with surface rights."

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. PATTON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend section 1, page 5, line 22, by inserting after the word "direct" the following: "Provided, however, that such right of eminent domain hereby given shall not be exercised by any such corporation except on, over, across or along any public street, highway or bridge, until said corporation shall have applied for and secured from the Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a certificate of public convenience evidencing the Commission's approval of the exercise of such right of eminent domain. Said certificate shall be issued by said Public Service Commission only if and when said Commission after public hearing shall find and determine that the service to be furnished by said corporation for which the property to be condemned is required is necessary or proper for the service, accommodation, convenience or safety of the public."

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The amendment was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered. That the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

BILL OVER IN ORDER.

Mr. NASON. Mr. President, I ask that Senate Bill No. 910 (House Bill No. 964), on third reading, entitled:

An act to amend an act approved the twenty-eighth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen entitled "An Act to revise amend and consolidate the law relating to fish and providing penalties."

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 975 (House Bill No. 1230), entitled:

An Act to amend section twelve and section twenty-one as amended of an act approved the eighteenth day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and three) entitled "An Act to provide for the more effectual protection of the public health in the several municipalities of this Commonwealth"

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—31.

Baldwin, F. E.,	Crow,	Gray,	Phipps,
Baldwin, R. J.,	Daix,	Haldeman,	Salus,
Barnes,	Davis,	Heaton,	Smith,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1150 (House Bill No. 1523), entitled:

An act to establish a separate Orphans' Court in and for the county of Cambria.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Tompkins.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Tompkins permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Cambria, whether or not in his opinion this judge that is asked for in this bill, is necessary in the county of Cambria?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. President, I think we need it. The business of the Orphans' Court in Cambria County has about doubled in the last ten years. In 1907 there were two hundred and twenty-five letters granted; in 1917 about four hundred; in 1918 something over five hundred. The bill has the endorsement of the members of the Cambria County Bar and the judges that are now on the bench. We have now about one quarter of a million people and our two judges there are taking care of all of that work, and we feel that we should have an Orphans' Court Judge.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 2 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1153, as follows:

An Act amendatory of an act entitled "An Act providing for the escheat of deposits of money or property of another received for storage or safe-keeping the dividends profits debts and interest on debts of corporations companies banks trust companies insurance companies limited partnerships and partnership associations organized under the laws of this Commonwealth except mutual saving-fund society not having a capital stock represented by shares and except also building and loan associations and property held for the benefit of another by the same and the profits accretions and interest on such property as well as interest thereon accrued or which should have accrued between the fixing of the amount of such property by the award of any court and the actual distribution thereof" approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred fifteen Pamphlet laws page eight hundred seventy-eight as said act was amended by the act approved the sixth day of July Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred seventeen Pamphlet Laws page seven hundred twenty-five further amending the title thereof and amending the first and third section and further amending the second section of said act so as to make the provisions of the act as so amended applicable to National banks and all other banks and corporations engaged in Pennsylvania in the business of receiving moneys on deposit except saving-funds savings institutions and savings banks subject to the provisions of an act entitled "An Act relating to unclaimed deposits in savings banks and transfer of stock" approved the seventeenth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-two Pamphlet Laws page thirty-two

Whereas The Supreme Court of the Commonwealth has recently held to be constitutional the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred fifteen Pamphlet Laws page eight hundred seventy-eight the title whereof is recited in the title of this act but has also held that the provisions of the same are not applicable to National banks because such banks are not included within the meaning of the word "bank" as the same is used in said act and

Whereas The failure of the General Assembly to use language in said act sufficient to properly express an intent to make National banks subject to the provisions of the act has defeated to a large extent the purposes for which the act was adopted therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the title of an act entitled "An Act providing for the escheat of deposits of money or property of another received for storage or safe-keeping the dividends profits debts and interest on debts of corporations companies banks trust companies insurance companies limited partnerships and partnership associations organized under the laws of this Commonwealth except mutual saving-fund society not having a capital stock represented by shares and except also building and loan associations and property held for the benefit of another by the same and the profits accretions and interest on such property as well as interest thereon accrued or which should have accrued between the fixing of the amount of such property by the award of any court and the actual distribution thereof" approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred fifteen Pamphlet Laws page eight hundred seventy-eight which title as amended by the act approved the sixth day of July Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred seventeen Pamphlet Laws page seven hundred twenty-five reads as follows

"An Act providing for the escheat of certain property received for storage or safe-keeping or otherwise and of certain deposits of money also for the escheat of certain dividends profits debts and interest on debts of corporations companies banks trust companies insurance companies limited partnerships and partnership associations organized or doing business under the laws of this Commonwealth except mutual saving-fund societies not having a capital stock represented by shares and except also building and loan associations also for the escheat of certain moneys property and estates held by persons partnerships associations or corporations in any fiduciary capacity whatsoever and the profits accretions and interest on such moneys property and estates as well as the interest thereon accrued between the date of the decree of any court ordering the distribution of such moneys property and estates and the actual distribution thereof also for the escheat of certain moneys deposited in courts of common pleas or orphans' courts or with officers thereof and for the escheat of certain other moneys property and estates held in any manner by any person association or body corporate for the benefit of another" be and the same hereby is further amended so that the same shall as so amended read as follows

An Act providing for the escheat of certain property received for storage or safe-keeping or otherwise and of certain deposits of money also for the escheat of certain dividends profits debts and interest on debts of corporations companies banks National banks trust companies insurance companies limited partnerships and partnership associations doing business in this Commonwealth except saving funds savings institutions and savings banks subject to the provisions of an act entitled "An Act relating to deposits in savings banks and transfer of stock" approved the seventeenth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-two (Pamphlet Laws page sixty-two) and except also building and loan associations also for the escheat of certain moneys property and estates held by persons partnerships associations or corporations in any fiduciary capacity whatsoever and the profits accretions and interest on such moneys property and estates as well as the interest thereon accrued between the date of the decree of any court ordering the distribution of such moneys property and estates and the actual distribution thereof also for the escheat of certain moneys deposited in courts of common pleas or orphans' courts or with officers thereof and for the escheat of certain other moneys property and estates held in any manner by any person association or body corporate for the benefit of another

"Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That every person bank safe-deposit company trust company and corporation organized or doing business under the laws of this Commonwealth except mutual saving-fund societies not having a capital stock represented by shares which receives or has received deposits of moneys shall make a report to the Auditor General under oath in the month of January of each year hereafter of such deposits of money which shall have not been increased or decreased or if not increased or decreased on which interest shall not have been credited in the pass-book at the request of the depositor within fourteen or more consecutive years next preceding the first day of said month" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That every person copartnership bank National bank safe-deposit company trust company association and corporation doing business in this Commonwealth except saving funds savings institutions and savings banks subject to the provisions of an act entitled "An Act relating to unclaimed deposits in savings banks and transfer of stock" approved the seventeenth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-two (Pamphlet Laws page sixty-two) which receives or has received deposits of moneys shall make a report to the Auditor General under oath in the month of January of each year hereafter of such deposits of money which shall have not been increased or decreased or if not increased or decreased on which interest shall not have been credited on the pass-book or certificate of deposit of the depositor at his request within fourteen or more consecutive years next preceding the first day of said month.

Section 3 That the second section of the said act as the same was amended by section two of the act approved the sixth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (Pamphlet Laws page seven hundred twenty-five) which reads as follows

"Section 2 Every trustee guardian committee executor administrator assignee receiver or other person or corporatoin acting in any fiduciary capacity whatever shall make a report under oath to the Auditor General in the month of January in each year of all moneys or other estate held by him or it under a dry trust or under or by reason of an active trust which has terminated the beneficial owner or owners of which moneys or estate shall have been unknown or the whereabouts thereof shall have been unknown for period of seven years next preceding the first day of said month.

"Every prothonotary of a court of common pleas and every clerk of an orphans' court shall annually make a report under oath to the Auditor General in the month of January in each year hereafter of any estate or effects which shall have been paid into and deposited in the court of which he is an officer or shall be in the custody of any depository receiver or other officer of said court the rightful owner or owners of which estate or effects shall have been unknown or the whereabouts of such owner or owners shall have been unknown for the period of seven or more successive years next preceding the first day of said month.

"Every person corporation partnership limited partnership or partnership association which has received and holds in any manner not elsewhere in this act mentioned any money belonging to another person or which has received and holds any other property or estate of another person for storage or safe-keeping or otherwise in any manner whatsoever shall make a report under oath to the Auditor General in the month of January of each year hereafter of all such money or property so far as is known the amount of which money has not been claimed or access to which property has not been had by the person for whom the same is held within seven or more successive years next preceding the first day of said month" be and the same is hereby further amended so as to read as follows

Mr. F. E. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to read a bill in place at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. F. E. BALDWIN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1167, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the thirteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (P. L. 295), entitled "An Act authorizing companies incorporated under the laws of any other State of the United States for certain purposes to erect and maintain buildings and manufacturing establishments, and to take, have, and hold real estate necessary and proper for such purposes," as amended.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING CONGRESS TO INVESTIGATE TREATMENT OF NATIONAL GUARD OFFICERS.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. EYRE offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

Whereas certain Officers who have had long and honorable military careers in the service of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, and have served with distinction on the Mexican Border in the United States Service, and

Whereas, many of these officers, during their service in the National Guard, had been trained at numerous schools and encampments, and having become a part of the Twenty-eighth Division during the ten months of its training at Camp Hancock, were further trained in their duties and many of them graduated from Machine Gun, Infantry and Artillery School at Camp Hancock, Fort Sill and other places, and

Whereas, these officers performed their duties with efficiency, and displayed both zeal and valor on the various battlefields in France, and

Whereas, many of these officers were relieved from their commands about the time that it became evident that a cessation of hostilities was about to take place, and Regular Army Officers who had not taken part in the actual service during hostilities, were assigned to take their places, and

Whereas many of these National Guard Officers were relieved from their commands without cause, and in an unjust and arbitrary manner, and

Whereas in some cases the reason given for such removals were totally unfounded and unsupported by evidence, and the officers relieved were not accorded the opportunity of contradicting the statements, or to vindicate themselves, or to have such impartial consideration as is required by the principles of justice, and

Whereas the exercise of the arbitrary power of Commanding Officers who were of the Regular Army, was invariably directed against the former National Guardsmen to such an extent that there appears to have been a definite plan and design to discredit the National Guard,

Therefore, be it resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the United States Congress, be requested to make such investigation of the whole subject as shall seem necessary and proper, and if it shall appear that the said Officers have been treated unfairly, that proper recognition and vindication be given them, and that suitable reprimand or other punishment be given those guilty of such unjust treatment, and that proper and adequate laws be enacted to prevent the recurrence of such injustice in the future.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended, and that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I feel very deeply on this question. We have from our county that I have the honor to represent, one whom I consider one of the bravest soldiers that went to the front, both in the engagement with Mexico and in the World War, and that person is a man who was a member of this Legislature, Captain Samuel A. Whitaker. He was in the command of a Colonel on the Mexican border, who sat here as a member of this Senate, Colonel McKee, of Allegheny, told me personally that on the Mexican border Captain Whitaker was the best artillery officer in his regiment. Captain Whitaker was in command of the battery from Phoenixville when the first call was made for troops. He was at Camp Hancock for a period of several months and was sent to Fort Sill for training. He graduated from the Fort Sill school and was sent overseas. For three months he stood out on the frone line, without cessation and without a moment's rest to himself or his battery. The day before the armistice was signed, on the 10th day of November, he received notice to go back for reassignment and the only reason given, after he had spent three months and had done valued service before Fismes and Vaux, as well as in the Argonne Forest, the only reason assigned for his being sent back, was that he was temperamentally unfit. There was no opportunity given to him by the Colonel, who had been but a few days before set up in command of that regiment, in the person of a Texan, regular army officer, Colonel Burleson, a cousin of the Postmaster General of the United States. He was given no opportunity to defend himself, but was simply separated from his command and sent back for reassignment, with Major Reily, another member of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, besides several other officers. I say to the people of Pennsylvania and the United States that this sort of treatment to the National Guard of Pennsylvania should not be allowed to go unnoticed. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I say that the very strongest protest should be made to the Government of the United States against such treatment to the boys of the 28th Division, who won the world's war and it is so conceded by all the students of history who have written on the subject, and I, therefore, hope that this Senate will add its protest against the treatment that was accorded to the brave boys of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, and will give unanimous consent that this resolution may be considered at this time.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate, I for one shall object to the consideration of this resolution, not that I have any less regard for the National Guard of Pennsylvania than the distinguished Senator from Chester, however, I feel on this resolution as I felt on many other resolutions that have found their way into this Senate, and I believe that it is proper that when there are any national ills to be corrected this State, as the opposition will easily agree, has representatives down there to bring it before Congress. It is the duty of the Senate of Pennsylvania, and this Legislature to pay attention and pass upon matters that are of vital importance to the State of Pennsylvania. This State elects two United States Senators, as well as Congressman, to represent it in national affairs, and the Senator from Chester, who is high in the councils of his party and has special favor with those men who represent this State at Washington, surely can bring his complaint to their attention. There have been many complaints, which are the natural outcome of matters of this kind, because whenever we do not receive the attention we think we should have, whenever we do not get the promotions we think we should have, not only in military affairs, naturally we are hurt, and we have complaint to make. Not for a minute speaking disparagingly of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, among whom are some of my very closest and best friends, without speaking discourteously of them, I do not believe there is any man in the Senate of Pennsylvania would compare the training of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, who have their armories and go for a two weeks encampment during the summer, with the training and schooling and the discipline that the men from West Point, or the men in the Regular Army of the United States. If that were a fact it would be a sad comment upon the Regular Army of the United States, which has been with us for these many years. I have no disregard for Captain Whitaker; if he has been injured it should be corrected and the parties offending should be punished. These resolutions do not originate properly in this State. If the Senate of Pennsylvania and the House of Representatives attend strictly to the business of the State of Pennsylvania they will have all that they can handle, and I say if we have any grievence of a national character there is not one here who does not have a friend in Congress and if that grievence is properly presented, there is where the resolution will originate, there is where the investigation will be made, and for this body to set themselves up as a dictator, as a body that dictates national legislation and national conduct sometimes comes with very poor grace, and I say in this case, as in general, these resolutions that find there source in this Senate or in the House of Representatives are ill-advised, they are improper, and this state organization and State Legislature, should not propose to dictate and to suggest to the national body, which does not only legislate for Pennsylvania but legislates for the United States, every state in this grand old Union.

Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate, understand I have no disrespect for the National Guard of Pennsylvania and it is not done with that thought; they have done their full duty and nobody speaks disparagingly of them, nobody points the finger of scorn at them in any way, we respect them greatly for what they have done, but when I hear these many dickerings that have come from those who have seemingly been dealt with wrongly, just because one or two men may make that statement, when you do not understand the reasons for those things, in military affairs, and especially in times when a great World's War is in progress, these investigations and explanations as we well know, are impossible and impracticably at such a time, and it is a time that calls to men to be over our Armies and Navies who have been schooled at West Point and Annapolis, which are second to no schools of their kind—it is a time when such men should guide and dictate the policies of our Army and Navy, and then for us as laymen and even for those schooled in the National Guard, I say it ill-becomes us that we should set ourselves up as dictators; and I say to you, gentlemen, if you have any grievance, if there is a grievance, lay it before your Congressman or United States Senator from this State and if they do not act, then they are remiss in their duty and you have done your part, but it is not for the Legislature of Pennsylvania, or this Senate or the House of Representatives to set themselves up, may it be personal or may it be for any other reason to try to dictate matters of national policy. We have not been elected for that purpose, it is for the purpose to defend the Constitution of this State and to pass laws for the citizens of Pennsylvania. Mr. President, and gentlemen of this Senate, if we do that we have performed our full duty. I am not rising at this time to object to this for any personal reason, but as I have thought all through this session of the Legislature, there has been too much disposition on the part of some of us to dictate in matters over which we have no control and that should not concern us as a legislative body.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I understand that the Senator from Perry objects.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair has not heard objection. Does the Chair hear objections?

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I object.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, if the Senator from Perry gets any satisfaction out of his objection to the passage of this resolution he is welcome to all the satisfaction that he can take out of it. If he fears that there will be no investigation by the National Congress I can assure him to the satisfaction of himself and his party that there will be unlimited investigations that will show them up in a mighty bad fashion, in my judgment, before the National Congress will get through with their investigations. He undertakes to say that this is no place for a resolution of this kind, that we are sworn to uphold the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania. If we are not upholding the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania by upholding the most gallant National Guard that any State in the Union ever produced, then I fail to understand my duty as a Senator of Pennsylvania. I am willing and ready at all times to raise my voice in defense of the National Guard of this State after the valiant service that they rendered to this State and the Nation and the world in their Twenty-Eighth Division by downing the Germans in the World War, and while I can see that this resolution will go over for a day under the rules to the Military Committee, I am of the opinion that when it comes out, if the Senator from Perry is of the same mind, that he will be the only vote in opposition to the passage of the resolution to do justice to our National Guardsmen of the State of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR SENATE BILL NO. 148.

The PRESIDENT. This being the time fixed by resolution for the meeting of the Senate to hear the Honorable Joseph H. Thompson, late a member of this Senate, recently returned from France, where he rendered distinguished service as the Colonel of the 110th Regiment, the Senate will be in order.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT MEMBERS OF HOUSE TO SENATE CHAMBER.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I move that the Chair appoint a committee of two to escort the members of the House of Representatives to the Chamber of the Senate.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair appoints the Senator from Delaware, Mr. R. J. Baldwin, and the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Mearkle, as said committee.

COMMITTEE TO ESCORT COLONEL JOSEPH H. THOMPSON TO SENATE CHAMBER.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that a committee of two be appointed to escort Colonel Thompson to the Chamber of the Senate.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair appoints the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, and the Senator from Berks, Mr. Sassaman, as said committee.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. President, your committee has the honor to present to you the Speaker of the House and the members of the House, who desire to be with us to hear the address of Colonel Thompson.

The PRESIDENT. The Speaker of the House will approach the President's chair and the members of the House will find seats that are unoccupied with the Senators and of the front of the Senate.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Your committee has the honor to present to you Colonel Joseph H. Thompson, lately a member of this Senate.

The PRESIDENT. Colonel Thompson, I am very glad to meet you.

It hardly seems necessary upon my part to introduce the distinguished speaker and citizen of Pennsylvania who is with us to-night. Colonel Thompson served in this Senate, where he was well known to a number of the Senators who still have membership in this body. We recognized Joe at that time as one who was able to fight and we knew that when he would go to France it would be a question of but a short time until he would render distinguished service that would reflect glory to these United States and to this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Colonel Thompson left the State as a Major and returned as the Colonel of the 110th regiment of the distinguished 28th Division, which Division, as we all know, was the one that stemmed the tide and turned the Germans to defeat at Chateau-Thierry. I do not propose to take up the time of this Senate endeavoring to enlarge upon the achievements of Colonel Thompson and his soldier boys. I will leave that story for him to tell and I take very great pleasure in introducing to you at this time Joseph H. Thompson, Colonel of the 110th Regiment of the 28th Division of the United States Army.

ADDRESS OF COLONEL JOSEPH H. THOMPSON.

COLONEL THOMPSON. Mr. President, Members of the Senate and House of Representatives, ladies and gentlemen: Beyond the reception that I received from my own friends and neighbors of Beaver County, I consider this one of the greatest honors that can become any one. This is certainly a great pleasure for me to be here, not because of what I may tell you, because you possibly know more than I do, but by virtue of the fact that this body asked me to speak here, and for that I am most grateful. There might be many questions that I might dwell on with perhaps some pleasure and some profit, but I have no doubt that you are all interested in knowing something about the little personal incidents in connection with what the 28th Division accomplished. You know about our calling out, our training period in the south, our going over to France, our training period there under the British, and then our moving north of Paris, I believe on the 4th of July,—at this time I was not with the Division. Colonel Martin, who is here present this evening, thought that I was young enough to be sent to school and he sent me there, so that I had a very pleasant time going to school in Langres, and I joined the regiment on the 8th or 9th, and I remember in coming from school to join the regiment I visited Paris, and I was on the go there for two days and two nights and saw many sights of interest, some of those wonderful historic buildings and some other things that I may not tell the Senate about, and I had not gotten very much sleep and when I joined the regiment Colonel Martin was up in the front line, and the Colonel who was then in charge said to me, "I want you to relieve Colonel Martin." I said, "For Heaven's sake give me a day or two to get a chance to rest." He said, "That is the best place in the world up there to rest, sleep all day do a little observing at night, it is a picnic, the very place you need after coming from Paris." I went there and found there were a lot of places much better and easier resting place than that was, it was not much of a place for rest."

It might be of interest to you, it is of particular interest to me now as showing somewhat about the caliber of our men, to recite to you an incident of which the President has just spoken. On the night of the fourteenth and the morning of the fifteenth you will recall, was the fifth offensive, as they term it in the army circles. The barrage was laid down about 12:15 that night, then about five o'clock in the morning the Dutch started to come across the river. The word came to the Commanding Officer of the one hundred and thirteenth French Infantry, that the Boche were coming in force, and to that end they made some preparations. It might perhaps be misunderstood, unless I should explain to you briefly what my observation was of how the French fight. They fight somewhat different from what we do. It has always been my observation that when the American Army retired it was licked, I never saw that though, but the French fight differently, they take up a position and if the enemy becomes too strong they retire to some other position in the rear and they will take up a defensive position there again, and then will retire if the enemy becomes too strong they retire somewhat farther, and get another defensive position, until such time as the enemy gets beyond where supplies can reach them in any great quanity, then they make a stand there. Although I never saw it, except once, they tell me in these counter-attacks the French are very wonderful. In any event, on that memorable morning, and I think it had great influence on the future of the morals of the Twenty-Eighth Division, so that you may understand how we were in there, there was a company of French soldiers escheloned, they might be fifty in front and fifty at the back and so on, until the company would be exhausted; and then there was a company of Americans on the right escheloned, another company of French and so on. The one hundred and tenth infantry had in there at that time Company B, of New Brighton; Company C, of Somerset. The one hundred and ninth Infantry, composed of troops from Philadelphia and Scranton had in Companies L and M in the same position. I have never heard, nor do I know what the reply of the Captains of those two companies was, but from the work they did I have no doubt that it was somewhat similar to the Captains of B and C. These troops were in there absolutely under the direction of the French Majors, who had charge of the front lines, and they sent word to the Captains by runners that the Boche were coming in force, and to retire, and the very laconic reply of Captain Truxel, of Somerset, and Captain Fish, of New Brighton, was "No, we were put here to fight and we are going to stick." That had a wonderful influence. Though it was all right for us, and we can do it now with perfect grace, and with pardonable pride; you know there were many prior to the war who would stick their fingers in their vests and inflate their chests, flop their wings and say "Why! America can beat the world." Though the man who said that thought possibly they could, but he did not know, and I want to tell you, gentlemen here present tonight, that I do not believe any man knows just what he would do when he gets into battle. He does not know. This fight in the Conde Woods, south of the Marne River has proved not only the work of the Twenty-Eighth Division of our own Commonwealth, but that of every single soldier in the American Army. So carefully did these men guard the passages of the river where they put down pontoon bridges or foot bridges, and thereby crossed or forded the river, they guarded all of their sector so thoroughly that not a single Boche crossed the river at that point.

On the wings, where there were no American soldiers and where they fought, as I have described just a moment ago, the French retired and the Boche have a system, and I think a very excellent one too, that wherever he meets resistance he will hold fast, and where he does not meet resistance he filters through, and the first thing that these companies knew they were surrounded on every side by Boche. Unfortunately for the companies who were placed on the right there were greater numbers of the enemy than there were on the left and consequently more of them were either killed, wounded or taken prisoners. Some of the men there did splendid work and they were all Pennsylvanians, nearly every one of them, because our Division at that time was composed wholly, or almost wholly of men from this State. I remember that one of the boys—it sounded a good bit like a fairy tale,—he told me that he had killed personally eighteen Germans. It hardly sounded logical and I remember some time later when the Boche were driven from this place and Colonel Martin sent me up to the Conde Woods with a detail to bury these boys, he took me and showed me where twelve of these men ought to have been and the twelve were there. I did not have time to investigate the balance, but I have no doubt some one else did and I have no doubt that every word that he said was true. He had no chance in the world of making any reconnaisance whatever, he simply had not been back in that woods from the time he had left it; it was not a very healthy place to be; he would say "now we ought to find behind that tree there two dead Boche, I saw them fall." We would go and we would find them. We kept on like that until I had personally seen twelve and then some one else followed up the balance of them. I mention that not to eulogize that man particularly, but to show the character of men of which Pennsylvania National Guard was made up. Before I leave that subject, you know, or if you do not you ought to, that our National Guard Division, all of the high offices, were filled by Regular Army officers. I am not offering that as criticism, but simply stating it as a fact. With the regular army officers fighting is a business. They would just as soon have hold of one division as another, other things being equal, but they are not much for the side that you and I and the citizens of this great Commonwealth love, they are not much for the sentimental side, it is simply with them a matter of business, and I think that the matter ought to be taken up with the Adjutant General or with the legislature that is now in session, or with the Governor or perhaps with our Major General, who has recently been confirmed by the State Senate, a very splendid man, who bears an excellent reputation as a soldier and citizen, I think that something should be done whereby the history of a lot of these things that will be of great interest to the Commonwealth in some years to come should be properly set forth. Let me illustrate just one simple little incident what I mean by that, and I see here throughout the audience, I think, men who were there and who will bear testimony to this, because to-night I shall only speak of that which I know and not what some one else has told me. I can remember the Ourcq river, and the woods north of the Ourcq river. We spent three days taking the Drumpet woods. When I tell you, gentlemen, that we lost in that engagement approximately 1100 men in either killed or wounded, you may know that there was some trouble there. Now that was the strong point, the strategic point, the fortified point between the Ourcq and the Vesle river, consequently when we were relieved after we had taken that strong point, and in that drive we did not gain over one kilometer possibly, maybe two. We had taken that strong point, taken all the prisoners there, fortified the hill beyond it, and then we were relieved and then the division who relieved us on that particular night, with a small rear guard engagement here and there, simply marched over there straight ahead to the Vesle river. They perhaps took 25 or 30 kilometers of ground, where we only took two. Now when these are set face to face without those facts being explained, and I am afraid the historian will not explain to the average individual who reads that particular fact, and he will say the Keystone Division just took two kilometers and on this very same ground another division took thirty-two or thirty-five kilometers, as the case might be, which certainly puts us in a position we have got to explain why we took so little ground. Why I can remember one division, whose name I will not mention set forth in the paper the other day whereby they had taken more ground than any other division in the A. E. F. forces. Why, damn them, they never took a man nor a gun there, they could not go forward. You have read some stories about that. If it had not been for this Keystone Division, this 28th Division, why a whole division would have been lost.

The average citizens will not know that and I do not think we ought to claim anything that we did not do but we have clearly earned the right to have facts recorded in accordance with the work done. It was because the question has been asked several times how we came to get the name of the Iron Division. Generally after going through such things as these and after being in line from the fourth of July up until the eleventh of November, and being under shell fire and in danger all the time, we were in that danger zone so steadily that, as General Muir said in Philadelphia at the banquet tendered to him there by the citizens of that city, after we were in this zone all of the time with the exception of three weeks, because of these facts and because of the bull dog tenacity of the men who opposed this division, they were cited by General Orders of G. H. Q. as the men of iron. On the first of the year I was taken from the division and sent with the Second Army as Athletic Officer there. I got to know several of the men down there exceptionally well and while we do not want to rob any other unit of any of the glory coming to them nor of any of the points they have taken, because if there is anything in the world I despise it is the individual who won the war, or the unit who won the war, or for that matter the division who won the war; I do not believe the Twenty-Eighth Division won the war, but I do know that they did their duty and did it fully.

The Fifty-Fifth Brigade took two strategic points directly north of Chateau-Thierry for which other units have gotten credit. Unless history on that matter is written other than the facts are recorded now, another unit will get the credit for the taking of those two points. Now the Conde Woods is the same battle as Chateau-Thierry, because Conde Woods are just a little east of Chateau-Thierry. That was the turning point of the entire war, so far as the Allied Nations were concerned. And we know, or thought we knew that we were thoroughly brave fighters. I can best express it in the language of the Boche what kind of fighters we were. These are their own words, in substance, what they said, they said "why the Americans, the Yankees, they know nothing about warfare, they can not fight;" they said though "if it would be the British, or the French, we would know just exactly what they were going to do, but these Yankees you cannot make any defence for them, they do not know when they are licked, but they keep on coming." He said "they are fools, they just keep on coming," he said "they may lose men but they never give up, they always take their objective," and it was that very thing, that spirit at Chateau-Thierry that spirit in the Conde Woods, which practically won, and the same fight that turned the tide, that had more to do with the breaking of the enemy moral than anything else that I know of. At this Drumpet Woods affair there were several things there that show thoroughly what propaganda had been spread in the German Army. I remember the first batch of prisoners that come in there and they were shaking like a leaf on a tree. There were two of them there that could speak very good English and I said to them "What is the matter with you fellows, what is wrong, why all this nervousness?" They said "Why we are going to be scalped, the Americans scalp all their prisoners, that is why we fought so hard the last three days." I assured them that the American Nation treated the prisoners as honorable prisoners of war so long as they behaved themselves and they were very much pleased, so much pleased that two of their men had agreed to go back to their own lines and spread that propaganda throughout their own units, but on second thought they said they would not go for the reason if they went back there again their N. C. O.'s would in all probability shoot them, and they did not go. While the German Army and troops may have thought something different from that, before the armistice was signed, I don't think they thought a great deal differently, they were still afraid of something unusual happening after they were taken prisoners. In the sector in which we were located last, I remember I was up in the front line and had relieved a battalion of French Infantry who were in there and they told me they had a sign printed in German which read that anyone who wanted to surrender could do so between five and six o'clock in the morning, and that they would be taken as prisoners of war. There was not a single night the French officer told me, while they were in there, that some of them, and the number reached from one to eight did not surrender every morning during that time that they were in there. We were in there perhaps four weeks and did not get a single prisoner except when we went out and got them, not one surrendered, which shows that some sort of propaganda like that had been distributed.

One other incident may be of interest to you. One of our men, Captain Truxel, who had been taken prisoner on the morning of the fifteenth of July, a prisoner of war, an officer, has only got to give certain data and when he gives that data he can stand mute and the nation that has him has got to respect him and quizz him no further than that.

Captain Truxel answered the questions he should have answered and then stood mute and one of the officers said "Why do you do this?" He said "There is no use in you trying to evade the question" and he took down a chart and showed it to the Captain, in which — I mention Captain Truxel's name because he could speak German fairly well and could understand it very well — and he showed him a chart of every company in the 28th Division, the name of every general, the major general, the brigade generals, the colonels, the lieutenant colonels, the majors and the captains, in fact they told him where each company practically came from and the men who composed it, what their sentiments were and what their ancestry was. I mention that to show you just what a thorough knowledge they had of our army and arms. Now I know many of you wondered during the war why you were forbidden to speak in public places of the movement of your armies, or regiments, whatever it might be, and that was the cause of it. I want to tell you that before the war was over, so far as we were concerned, we had exactly the same information about them, every bit, we knew just what troops there were in front of us, what their moral was, whether they were holding troops or fighting troops or shock troops, whatever they might me. In that respect it was possibly fifty-fifty. It is simply marvelous how they go this information.

There might be a number of things that I could tell you that would possibly be of some interest, because of just little incidents that perhaps you would not know about unless told by some of the boys as you came in contact with them and perhaps not then, unless they knew you very well. We had a tradition in our Division that sort of said "We are not going to advertise, we shall let the facts speak for themselves," and I remember that caused some inquiry throughout the Division, and I remember reading with a great deal of pleasure two editorials, one in a Scranton paper and one in a Pittsburgh paper. Prior to that time there were quite a number of the Divisions that were doing a great deal of exploiting or telling facts back home of what they had accomplished, and it appeared as though the 28th Division was not doing very much. These two editorials, in substance, were as follows: Some of the other divisions were complaining bitterly about the treatment that they had received and you would have thought to have listened to them, to their complaint, that they were the only divisions in the war, and these editorials went on to explain "Here are the mute, dumb figures, they tell their own tale." Our division in major casualties was third of the entire American forces. I have been told when the facts are recorded that as far as war casualties are concerned it will perhaps be first in war casualties. That is not very much to glory in at this particular time, to have casualties, and we always tried to avoid it wherever possible, and it is a great grief to the fathers and mothers whose boys have been left over there, but in twenty-five or thirty years that shall have all passed away and then we will be known as we really are. I wonder if I were to go through this audience to-night, and for that matter through the entire Commonwealth, and I should ask any of these Grand Army men, "did so-and-so when he gave up his life in the Civil War die in vain?" "Why no" they would say "No, he died an honorable death" and it is true of our men who died over there, they all died an honorable death, very honorable, and let me tell you one or two little personal incidents in connection with the boys that I happened to see, that will perhaps illustrate to you again and again the spirit of the men of this Division. Personally I do not like the name Iron Division. I think the Keystone Division means more. It is like saying something about your mother. That involves everything under the sun that is beautiful and noble. If you say a mother is a good mother or she is a fine looking mother, it does not add anything in the world to it, mother covers everything, and to me the Keystone Division does exactly the same thing. I remember in one of our engagements we had a boy in the first battalion, and he was certainly a mischief maker, he was always in trouble, one of those little devils that are always causing anxiety. I remember this day in the battle of the Drumpet Woods he marched forward with his line, did splendid work, never faltered for a minute, and I wish you men and women of Pennsylvania could have seen that noble picture when those men marched up that hill about five or six hundred yards, and here and there you would see a boy fall, but no faltering in the ranks, they kept on marching, then as we got up close to the woods somebody in the tree top yelled out the Boche have retired and there was the semblance of a halt for a moment or two; the officers urged them on and when they got into the woods and they cleaned up their first trenches, again from the tree tops some one yelled out the Boche have retired, or the Boche have surrendered. It was too late, they had then tasted blood and nothing in the world could have stopped this division that time until they had taken their objective. It was the greatest sight, the noblest sight that I have ever seen in my life. This boy was one of those men and on that night when we were relieved after taking this objective we went back a short distance and went into the woods and the following night the Germans bombed us. If you do not know anything about that no one could describe it, because you are absolutely helpless with those aerial bombs, and I remember on that evening partieularly I had gone around and talked to the Fourth Platoon of Company D, of Connelsville and Uniontown, I knew nearly all of that platoon, quite a number of them were down with us on the border and we joked around for quite a little while and that night they dropped a bomb in the center of this platoon and practically wiped out the platoon, and I remember this boy I spoke of a moment ago, who had caused so much trouble and so much inconvenience. He was laid down very close to where I was by Doctor Sheaffer, one of our Surgeons, and he said to me, "Major do you think I will get better?" "Why" I said "of course you will get better, a man who has the pluck you have is bound to pull through," and along came Dr. Sheaffer a moment after that, very busy, because we were all busy that night, we lost one hundred and eight that night, killed and wounded from those aerial bombs, and I asked Doctor Sheaffer if he had a chance. He said "no he has no chance at all," and I talked to him again because I knew him very well; both his legs were broken, his left arm blown away, his side entirely lacerated, bleeding from every place possible, and he said "Major I have just got one regret," he said "you know I am afraid this finger is blown away, I will not be able to shoot any more if I do get better, I wish you would look at it." His whole hand was cut off, and he said "well Major I have been a bad boy and I have caused you a lot of trouble, but" he said, "didn't I fight alright yesterday?" I said "you bet you did." He said "well if any thing should go wrong, I want you to tell my mother that I died facing the enemy, that I was not a coward, and if I do die I am not afraid to." I tell you that little story to exemplify the spirit of our men. I can remember seeing a Captain who had been very severely wounded, being carried on a stretcher, and as I was going up the hill towards the front lines, and his whole shirt was torn and he was laid open, his whole chest, clear across his shoulders down his back to the hips, and he was going down there with a smile on his face, he said "go on Major, Give them hell, I will soon be with you again." Another thing to exemply the spirit of these men of this division, because I think you men ought to know it, there had been not one man, but over a hundred I know of personally who left the hospital, and went A. W. O. L. and came back on the front lines to help the Twenty-Eight Division. They are the most wonderful men I have ever known in my life, taking in their hands the chance taking upon themselves the chance of being court-martialed for going A. W. O. L., and I am very glad to say for the American forces that I do not know a single case where charges were preferred for men coming from the rear to the front lines to fight for their own division and for their own cause.

You have heard a great deal about this battle for Democracy, I venture to say, without fear of contradiction, that not one soldier out of fifty knew anything about it. They knew they were fighting for a just cause, and then over and above all that they were fighting because they represented you folks at home. I have known many men of our division, and I am sure of every other division, that a little kind word from home, from the father, from the mother, from the wife, from the sweetheart, "God bless you, go on" did more than all this great talk that you heard about democracy.

It meant far more to that boy. I have seen boys many times tired, dead tired, going for several nights without sleep, and not always warm meals either, who got a letter from home and you could watch that smile spread all over their faces, and they were satisfied then to go on and on and on. Now I know back here you have all thought about doing something big, something wonderful. I trust that we shall never have a war in the history of the world like this last one. Personally I am very much opposed to war and will do everything in my power to prevent it in the future, because I do not believe we are a military people or nation. I do not mean to say by that that we should not prepare for it, because I think the best preventative for war is to be ready always, but I mention this point that if your relatives go away from you again do not stop to do something big or great or wonderful, simply write a note to the boy and tell him the folks back home are with him, that you are all watching what he is doing, congratulate him in his work and it will sound a whole lot better, and it will go much further than if you use some great big phrases about which he knows little or nothing. I wish I could tell you personally what great comfort I got from letters from men in this body. I do not beieve I ever appreciated letters more in my life except from my own family, some of the letters I got from Senator Crow, and from Charley Snyder. They were about the only information in the world we got of what was going on here. I particularly appreciated Senator Crow's letter, I think ten or twelve pages written in long hand, just after he had gotten over a sickness. It is that kind of a thing, gentlemen, that make you go on and make you almost the superhuman, so that if any of you have any relatives over there do not be too busy to send a word. It is simply wonderful. And then I received several letters from other people, all along the very same line. It is the best thing in the world you can do, do not fail to do it. I can remember several instances that will be of unusually importance to you here to-night, or to know. Just before we left France there was a bulletin gotten out, not officially, but practically so, whereby a resume of this great Meuse-Argonne drive had been set out in full detail, what each division had done when it gained objective and how all the divisions in this Meuse-Argonne drive, and I say this fearlessly and publicly and without fear of contradiction, that up to and including the 4th of October, this was the only division that gained its objective and held it. Some others in the American army had gained objective before we had, but for various reasons, because of the fact that the division on the right or the left, or because of enemy opposition, they had to retire some distance. I remember in one of the places when this division had been attacked, and attacked in force, with the idea of driving it away from that place, this was in the Argonne,—not because the place was of much service to the American force, but it would have been of immense service to the enemy, it would have given them command of the entire Aire Valley, and they attacked that night in numbers and as the prisoners said, with the determination of taking the place and they came very nearly doing it; one of the things that happened this night that is of special interest,—our one pounder section, those of you who do not know the one pounder, it is simply a gun of opportunity, you have got to do your work with it quickly and then move it to some place of safety, because it will in a very short time draw fire, and they were left on a hill that evening and when the enemy came in on us the left of the line had given away, they came in there. They went up, this lieutenant and five or six men, went up and took away the guns and they brought them to a place of safety and in bringing them back their lieutenant had been take a prisoner and the sergeant in charge of them at the time noticed when he laid down the gun that his lieutenant was not there and he said he must have been taken a prisoner because at that time they were right in the midst of the Boche. He organized a party of five or six men to go back after him and they went back.

They were just twenty-five yards apart at that particular time and he found they had taken him away. He knew this fellow, a little bit of an Irish sergeant, you could almost throw him away, and his Lieutenant heard him coming and he hit the man who had hold of him and threw himself flat on the ground and yelled to open fire. At that particular place they killed fourteen Germans, took five of them prisoners and rescued their Lieutenant. To show the caliber of the men from all over the State, the Lieutenant, so that you know that I am not talking in riddles, was Mayer Jacobs, of Philadelphia, and one of Senator Vare's water rats from the wharf was Sergeant Lynch, and a braver fellow never lived, another fellow from Indiana, Jeffries, they were some of the men in that particular party. So that the men of this division, no matter from what place they come, they were all wonderful, very wonderful, and I can remember after they had done this, not satisfied with that, the little shrimp of an Irishman, about five feet four inches tall, said to the Major in charge, "Major is there anything else to be done?" the Major replied, "Yes, get some of those fellows who do not have any more sand and get them into this fight and drive those fellows out of here." There were about seventy-five of those fellows stood there in one place, this little bit of an Irishman put his hand in his pocket and after the Major talked to him for a minute or two, drew out his Luger revolver and said, "Who will follow me?" Seventy-five of those men from every nook and cranny started out for the Boche and never stopped until they had chased them at least a thousand yards from where they were and re-established the lines, and it was in this particular point that this division did not lose a single inch.

I regret much that the man who did so much for the National Guard of this Commonwealth did not see the products of his labor, because I am sure that no division did more to uphold the honor of their country—you have done just so much—as did this division, and I am exceptionally sorry that a member of the National Guard of this State, our former Adjutant General, Thomas J. Stewart, did not live to reap the benefit, because he was a wonderful man, who loved with all his heart the National Guard, which has got a place as the first police power of this country. You have now at the present time a splendid Major General, General Price.

I remember just before General Bullard left us and was given charge as commander of the Fourth Corps he sent for me and read me a letter in which he read the most complimentary things I think I have ever heard in my life from any artillery and he said your artillery has done splendid work, and I am most glad to command them, and he spoke then of our own artillery, and I hope and trust that the weaknesses of the National Guard,—it has weaknesses as well as strength,—that they may be eliminated. I have no doubt that you body of men will make it a strong organization, to go forth again if our country has ever had any need, to do just the service and even better than has been done this time, and I remember the day General Pershing reviewed the troops of the 28th Division, General Nolan, that we love, he took command of the 55th Brigade, when our former General left us, a wonderful soldier to me, a splendid fellow, and as they were going by he asked me if I would not point out the 55th Brigade as it went by; and he had been recommended for decoration and he turned to General Pershing, who was on his right, he said, "General," pointing to the medal that had just been pinned on, he said, "General, I never earned this, those two regiments going by there did this, together with the machine gun companies who were stationed with us." He said "there may be just as good brigades in the American forces as the 55th, but there is none better." That came from a regular army officer. I was mighty glad to hear it. I am just as sure he might have said the same thing about the 56th, but he had no chance of fighting with them, he was only with us for two or three weeks and was altogether stationed with the 55th Brigade. General Bullard told General Hayes, who had charge when General Bullard was away from us, that 28th Division was second only to the First Division, his own division; he said he may not be very competent to judge of it, because it was his own division. I mention these things from regular army officers to show you that the 28th Division, my own men, earned unstinted praise.

I think it would be amiss if I quit speaking this evening before saying one word about what the fathers and mothers of this great Commonwealth did in our absence. Yours was the real sacrifice. There were many times when we were not in danger and you did not know it. Your heart strings were always burning for us. Some times we did not deserve it, and then again you have made labor noble. I know of some of the women that I have met since I came back again who have almost worked themselves to utter physical wrecks to help out the boys over there. God bless them, for they have done wonderful work for us and I am sure that the boys appreciate it.

We have over there several welfare organizations, all of whom did very noble work and I wish you men and women here could know of the wonderful things some of those American girls did for those boys. I have seen one or two American girls work with two or three thousand boys, getting for them hot chocolate. This was of course after the armistice, and I never in my life saw such profound respect as the average doughboy has for the American girl. It is simply marvelous. All you sent over to us did marvelous work, did splendid work. Now to me you have crowned labor. Labor should have needed no crown, but you have done it. Let us not get to the point again where it is looked upon in certain circles that the men who earns his bread by the sweat of his brow is not just as good as you are, because in many instances he is very much better. You have crowned labor thoroughly and gone just a little beyond. In the battle field when you have something to be done that means life or death you choose many times, not the brilliant fellow, not the fellow of great genius, but the fellow of bull dog tenacity and the one who is loyal. Nothing in the world compares to loyalty, the man who will stay with you when things are going against you. It would be a wonderful thing if many of us would bring that to civil life. You cannot estimate what that means in war. I can remember hearing a story some years ago of a captain who asked two of his men to volunteer and go out and do some particularly hazardous duty and he said to two of those men who volunteered, he said the chances of returning again are poor and I want you to be very careful in doing this and the two that volunteer will step forward one pace, and he walked off a few paces and came back and glanced along the line and he found the line intact. He said several unkind things to his company, when the man at the left of it stepped forward and saluted properly and said "sir, the entire company has stepped forward." A wonderful story that struck me as something majestic at one time. I have seen Colonel Martin here and I have seen other officers, not once twice, but fifty times, hundred times, volunteer for duty when they knew away down in their hearts that at least fifty per cent. of them would never return. Such loyalty I never saw in my life as the men from our Commonwealth showed, willingly and freely, giving up their lives any time for this great cause, because they represented you out there.

I want to pay tribute to a very brave officer. I can remember down on the Vesle one of our Captains, who I believe is present this evening, a Harrisburg man, who had been very badly wounded, who had several pieces of shrapnel in his body, and he was ordered by the Colonel to the P. C. He came out there and got some of the shrapnel removed he could not get it all removed and his company was going to be relieved that night and I personally said to him that it is not worth your while going back there again because in a few hours you will be taken from the lines, stay here and get a much needed rest. He said "no, my company needs me, I am going to go down there with them." The officers were in many cases just as brave as the men, because good officers mean good men, in nine cases out of ten.

I want to make a personal appeal to you on behalf of the doughboy, as he is termed. There are going to be a lot of you men back here engaged in business. These men have offered their lives cheerfully and freely not once but many times, and I don't know yet just what the percentage of casualties in the division will be, but I do know approximately one hundred and twenty per cent of our own regiment were casualties. I am informed the others were almost as much, so that you can readily see what they have done. Now when the American doughboy comes home most of them are back home now, it may be that you cannot give them the position that they ask for at that particular time. Treat them kindly, tell them to come back and see you again because there is not a single one of them that has been in this Commonwealth that has not been willing to give up his life for you and for his Commanding Officer, not one of them. I think they are the noblest men in the world today and it is splendid to get these grand receptions and it is good to get these banquets, it is splendid to be welcome by your friends, but that all fades into significance in comparison to what the boy has done for you and he deserves the very finest treatment at your hands because the American doughboy has done something that the Statesmen of this country has never done and I say that without exception, you can recall, if you will admit it, and I can recall the time when the flag was not respected one cable throw beyond where the tide ebbs and flows, but by virtue of what the doughboy has done and practically alone, it matters not where Old Glory is thrown to the winds it will be respected, not by what the officers did, not by what the statesmen did, but by what the doughboy did.

Now there is just one more and then I am through the religion of the trenches and of the battlefields is not the religion of the churches. It is not the religion of the shorter catechism as you understand it, it is a different kind of religion, because I think this war has taught men that they almost love each other as the love that exists between husband and wife. I have seen those boys go along and the fellow who was not as careful of his provisions as his buddy would say to him "well now buddy give me something to eat." The other fellow would answer "what do you think I am doing, carrying grub along for you, you just go and fast now." And the next minute he would give him two-thirds of what he had. The American doughboy is the greatest sport in the world. There is nothing to be compared to him, I have often seen him, I remember one time, at Ravigny, where we were stationed there was a German aeroplane came over and burned down two of our observation balloons, and the third one he went after twice and missed it, the third time there were about one hundred guns shooting at him, and he set it on fire. Much as the doughboy despised him, hated him and would have shot him the next minute if he could have got him, he applauded because this particular Boche had taken a sporting chance and gotten away with it and the American doughboy applauded him, not by hand clapping, but by simple word of mouth, and I say perhaps one of the most wonderful demonstrations I ever saw in my life just before we come from St. Nazaire there was a prison crowd of Germans, and in that prison crowd a very wonderful opera singer, and in that crowd a splendid music instructor and a simply wonderful choruses. Colonel Kemp, who had been formerly commander of our regiment asked us if we would not like to hear these fellows sing and they were sent for. I have heard the American doughboy encore, not once, but five consecutive times and I want to say to you, gentlemen, if this war, any war for that matter, was left to the fellows in the front line to patch up their difference, they could do it in twenty-five minutes. There is the most wonderful demonstration of good feeling that I have ever seen in my life, which shows to the people that the American doughboy can fight and then he can forget. It was simply marvelous. And yet it is hard for you men who have not been over there to believe, but it is absolutely the fact. I said a moment ago that the language of the trenches is perhaps not that of the church nor that of the Sunday School nor perhaps of the best home. Let me illustrate this point by a little story I have in mind.

One boy who had been in battle, and he had been saying lots of things you would not find in the shorter catechism or in well regulated homes, when he came in there with both legs blown off and his whole abdominal region torn apart, practically, he said to the doctor, "Doctor have I got a chance, he said tell me the truth;" One of those rough boys, he said "just tell me the truth I am not afraid to die." The doctor examined him very carefully and he said no, you have no chance," and he said "Is there a chaplain here?" he said "yes," and he asked the chaplain, a young boy about eighteen years old, he said to the chaplain, "put your hand in that pocket and take out that envelope." The chaplain did it, this was our own chaplain, and he said "yes;" he said "that is a picture of my mother," he said "I know you are busy, but would you please write, when you have time, a line to her." He said "will you not put your hand in this other pocket." He did so and he said "that is a picture of my girl, won't you please write them and tell both of them that I have died facing the enemy and that I am a Christian and not afraid to die." A few minutes before perhaps that boy was saying that you might find fault with but there was never a single time when the doughboy went over the top that he did not offer up a silent prayer. I think he is the noblest creature in God's world. I hope that you men and you women will receive him kindly, help him wherever you can. God bless them, I think he is the salt of the earth. I thank you.

VOTE OF THANKS TO COLONEL JOSEPH H. THOMPSON.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate of Pennsylvania extend a vote of thanks to Ex-Senator and Colonel Joseph H. Thompson for the very interesting and instructive address that he has delivered to us here this evening.

Mr. SASSAMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. I desire to say to you Colonel Thompson that we are very glad to have had you with us. We have enjoyed you and every word you have had to say to us. We wish you God-speed on this trip that you are about to make to the boys over there to further comfort and help them. We hope for your early and safe return and trust you will live many happy days in Pennsylvania during a peace which have been accomplished by the wonderful work of the boys that you led to victory.

I desire to announce that Senator Thompson will be in front of the bar of the Senate, where he will be very glad to meet every one that has had the pleasure of hearing him to-night, and I now declare the Senate in recess.

AFTER RECESS.

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until 10.30 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 10.15 P. M. until Wednesday morning, May 28, 1919, at 10.30 o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, May 27, 1919.

The House met at 10:30 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

We would gather in spirit under the dome of this building, O Thou living God, and bring before Thee the words that crown the pillars upon which that dome rests. There it says that religion, art, law and science shall uphold that great and mighty structure. So we ask that Thou wilt bless us in all these aspects that they may prove of value to the State and serve the purpose for which they are intended. May religion inded be mighty in its truth, broad and generous in its charity, convincing in its piety and all-embracing in its love. Grant that the fruits of science, through the test tube, the retort, the spectrum, the microscope and telescope, may give unto us the secrets of nature and bless us with those creature comforts that shall make our lives more pleasant. May we not be satisfied with the material only, but may the richness of art, in music, the chisel and pencil, and all that shall tend to beautify and adorn, make our lives rich in all things that are asthetic and spiritually edifying. And may law, with its righteousness, its justice and equity, and its ability to serve all mankind without fear or without favor, be so brought together that it shall all conspire to Thy glory and our good. Even as the dome sweeps above all this, so may our hearts be lifted this morning towards Thee, the author of every good and perfect gift. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on motion of Mr. Goodnough, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

Mr. McINTYRE, from the Committee on Elections, reported as amended House Bill No. 1460 (Senate Bill No. 850), entitled

An Act to further amend an act approved the fifth day of March one thousand nine hundred and six (Pamphlet Laws sixty-three) entitled "An Act to provide for the personal registration of electors in cities of the third class of this Commonwealth to make such registration a condition of the right to vote in such cities and to provide penalties for violation of its provisions" as amended.

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

House Bill No. 599.

An Act fixing the salaries of the first and second assistant district attorneys in certain counties

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested,

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, first line, by striking out the word "salary" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "salaries;" also by adding after the word "first" the words "and second;" also in line 2, strike out the word "attorney" and insert in lieu thereof the word "attorneys."

Amend section 1, line 5, page 1, by inserting after the first word "hundred" the words "and fifty;" in line 6, strike out the words "and fifty;" in line 7, strike out the word "two" and insert in lieu thereof the word "three;" in lines 7 and 8, strike out the words "five hundred;" in line 8, strike out the numerals "($2,500)" and insert in lieu thereof "($3,000);" in line

8, after the word "annum" add the words "and the salary of the second assistant district attorney shall be two thousand ($2,000) dollars per annum."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1474, entitled

An Act creating in counties having a population of from eight hundred thousand to one million five hundred thousand a board for the assessment and revision of taxes providing for the appointment of the members of such board by the county commissioners fixing their salaries payable by the county defining the powers and duties of such board and regulating the assessment of property and occupations for state and county purposes authorizing the appointment of subordinate assessors and clerks defining their duties and providing for their compensation payable by such counties imposing a penalty on subordinate assessors for failure to comply with certain provisions of this act and abolishing the office of ward borough and township assessor insofar as respects the assessment of property and occupations for State and county purposes

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House: May I be permitted for just a very short time to express my opinion of House Bill No. 1474 which provides for a board for the assessment and revision of taxes. As our board is now constituted, it is composed of a membership of three, each of whom receives a salary of $5,000 and grants the board the number of assistants or assessors and other employes as is necessary. It is a well known fact that the business of our government centers around the levying and disbursement of taxes, and that feature, so I should ordinarily be in favor of any legislation where the taxing system of this Commonwealth would grant us legislation of assured efficiency, and whether or not this bill is a bill of that nature I leave to your own sound discretion. This bill provides for further increasing the county tax boards. It provides for an increase of four members on the board at a salary of $5,000 each, or a total salary of $20,000, and the thought that runs in my mind further increase in this board. If there is any sentiment in Pittsburgh or in Allegheny County for the increase of this board, I would like to be further enlightened as to whether or not the work of the board as now constituted, has been incompetent or has not been of merit and has not been one of such degree of efficiency as to warrant its continuance without any further increase and without any further increase in salaries for Allegheny County. I might say with all due regard to the sponsor of the bill, for whom I entertain the kindest feeling, that it strikes me as merely a multiplication or duplication of jobs; in other words, in the biblical phrase, "line upon line, a little bit here and a little bit there," without regard to the city taxing bodies. In the course of a little time this legislative body has seen fit to take away from Allegheny County whatever of home rule we have. You have begun by taking the appointment of mercantile appraisers out of the hands of the county commissioners and giving it to the Auditor General and increased the number. You have gone further and increased the number of magistrates, not only increasing the number but taking that power out of the hands of council and giving it to someone else. Council as now constituted represents the tax payers of the State and that right is taken away from them. I think this is a very poor time for experimenting and letting Harrisburg take away all our home rule. We are entitled to have some home rule and by reason of the fact that I know of no petition of the Allegheny County commissioners asking for this further increase, I see no reason why the bill should pass. To judge public sentiment is to get the test of our newspapers. In my estimation that is the best criterion as to how the people of Pittsburgh feel in regard to this particular bill. Without wishing to take much of your time, I would quote a few editorials on this subject. In the Pittsburgh Post of May 7, 1919, the following appeared:

"Protest by the county commissioners against some of the bills put through in the Legislature, or proposed, bring out how little regard the delegation from this community has for the principle of home rule. It is shown that measures putting extra expenses upon the county have been passed without reference to the judgment of its chief administrative officers, among these being the increasing of the number of mercantile appraisers from one to five, and adding three more members to the board for the assessment and revision of taxes. The commissioners show that the extra officers provided for are unnecessary. The sentiment of the community naturally is with the commissioners in their fight against the salary grabbers, and the Governor should heed their request that he disapprove of the obnoxious measures."

Permit me to read to you an editorial that appeared in the Pittsburgh Gazette Times on May 23, 1919:

"A bill to increase from three to seven the membership of the county board for the assessment and revision of taxes would place an additional expense of no less than $20,000 annually on the taxpayers of Allegheny County without any corresponding benefit to them. This bill is not a salary raiser; it would make four new $5,000 jobs for which no necessity has been shown. It would be defeated unless the Legislators can be convinced the places are necessary. Increased taxation is inescapable and the State is pressed to find new sources of revenue. This situation cries out for economy in expenditure. As to public offices, the slogan of the lawmakers should be "fair salaries and no more jobs than are imperatively needed." Apply this to this county tax board."

There are other editorials that have appeared in the Pittsburgh Leader and Pittsburgh Press of a similar nature, but it is not my purpose to take more of your time in reading them to you, but I want to say to you that this merely reminds us of catching the mice and allowing a whole herd of elephants to go. If you persist in passing legislation of this nature you will be letting measures to increase the salaries of teachers and other imperative necessities get into a very dangerous position by putting on extra taxes for the communities. There being no need for this additional increase in this board for the assessment and revision of taxes, I would respectfully ask the members of this House to vote this bill down.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I rise, of course, to try to enlighten the House on some of the questions that the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Marcus) asked to have some enlightenment thereon; and I feel that he dealt with almost everything else that this session has done with the exception of the bill we have before us, and I would say now for his benefit that I believe that the very best thing that can be said about those good old things is that they are gone and cannot possibly be recalled. I believe that we should answer that and try to take the questions up in a seriatim order. He talked about depriving Allegheny County of home rule, about taking away from the people of Allegheny County all that they possess, about taking all power to the Capital at Harrisburg. I want to say in the beginning that this bill does not do any of those things, none of them. This bill allows the power to remain just where it is today, in that grand old state of Allegheny County. This bill only affects Allegheny County, and I am here sponsoring this bill for Allegheny County, and for the sole and express purpose of placing the electors of Allegheny County in a position to know just exactly what money is being spent for the purpose of making the assessment of Allegheny County; and I say now, without the slighest fear of contradiction, that the electors of Allegheny County today are not aware of what money is being spent by the county commissioners for the purpose of making the assessment that is necessary to be made in order that the County of Allegheny might run its municipal affairs. Let me read one section, or one line from section one of this act: "The members of such board shall be appointed by the county commissioners of such county, and shall hold their office for the term of four years"

This is a verbatim copy of the present act for the board of assessment and revision of taxes that we are working under in Allegheny County; so it places the power just exactly where it is, and it makes no change in the system, with the exception of increasing the number, so they will be able to make the assessment; and that is one of the things that I deem is absolutely necessary. There is where the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Marcus) and I agree that without a proper board for the purpose of assessing the properties and taxables in Allegheny County, it would be absolutely impossible to run the business of Allegheny County. I took the trouble to look the matter up, and I do say that we have nothing whatever against any of the men that are in office; and I sincerely hope and I feel satisfied that they will remain on that board. But they have more work than they can possibly do, and let me tell you how they were able to get the work through—and I say this without the slightest fear of contradiction—they were compelled last year to hire what they termed expert assessors for the express purpose of getting around the county and making the assessment for them. It was absolutely impossible for them to get out of the office in order to do that, and they hired those men, and did not put them on the payrool—and I defy contradiction—they hired those men and paid them under a warrant in order that it might be covered; and I am one of the men who believes that when it is necessary for Allegheny County to employ men, it is necessary for them to pay them, and the people are entitled to know what they are being paid for and what they are doing.

Now that is all this bill does, and they hired those men at thirty-six hundred dollars a year and expenses—I defy contradiction of that. This bill provides that the county should be divided, and then provides that these men shall do the work; and if they do the work they should be paid. These men that the county commissioners did hire were paid, and they should be paid; so that I say the only thing that this does is to allow the people of Allegheny County to know just exactly what their officers are getting for performing a work that is absolutely necessary in order that the government of Allegheny County may continue to run.

Let me read to you the figures taken from the county treasurer's book. They do not tell anything but the truth. You can see whether it is a bill for the purpose of raising salaries and taking home rule away from Allegheny County. Of course, they have to do their work. If you look at the first section, you will find there is not a change in it, and the government of Allegheny County will be conducted from Allegheny County, and this board, if it be the same, will be the board that conducted it under the old act. Last year the regular assesors and interpreters in Allegheny County cost Allegheny County $96,423.25. Now gentlemen, when you go to Allegheny County and see the assessment there, with $1,285,000,000 in round figures, and then talk about having the sufficient number of men to conduct that work, and only employ three, it is absurd, it is absolutely absurd. This bill is absolutely necessary in order that the assessments of Allegheny County might be properly and efficiently made.

Now that is all it is for. Let me see if we have not got another argument.—and I am not claiming that these men are not efficient, and my bill shows clearly that I have nothing of that kind in view or else I would have placed the appointive power in some other body. The placing of the appointive power in the same body in which it is now lodged, shows clearly that I have no malice towards the men who are there now. As I said before, there is no reason why they should not stay and the only change that would be made would be the putting of the four men they have now employed on the books of the County Commissioners as assessors for Allegheny County, instead of paying them by warrant. Now let us see whether we ought to have them. In Allegheny County the books from the Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes should be placed in the hands of the County Treasurer so that the taxes could be collected by the County Treasurer beginning on the first day of May of each year. I say to you, gentlemen, and without the slightest fear of contradiction, that the books were not placed in the County Treasurer's hands so that he could commence that work last year on the first of May, and I say to you in all candor that the books are not there this year, and will not be there ready for the purpose of starting the collection of taxes until the first day of June. Now that is the month. That is not by reason of the inefficiency of the members of the Board but by reason of their not being able to get through with the work. I say it is more important to have the Board increased in order that they might get through with the work and hand the books over to the proper county official so that he might go on with the collection of taxes in order to relieve the county, than it is to stand here and cry about the raising of the salaries of the members of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, and creating more jobs in order that home rule might be taken away from Allegheny County. I would be one of the men that would stand up and defend Allegheny County against any infraction of that kind, but when we find that it is necessary in order that the business of the county might be transacted and transacted properly, I am one of the men who is ready to sponsor a bill for the purpose of increasing this Board in order that the business of Allegheny County might be conducted as a business, and not carried on partly as a business and partly by warrant, in order that the people might not know what it is costing them. I ask you, gentlemen, in all seriousness, to vote for this bill.

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Simpson), in his remarks, said that the best thing for us to do was to forget what happened to Allegheny County. I want to say to you that back in Allegheny County the voters are not forgetting. We have an election coming along this fall in which we shall likely remember at the ballot box what has been done in this session. I come from a country district in our county and I have not heard one person in my district express a desire that a bill of this kind should pass at this session. Usually a measure of this kind of so much importance, as my colleague from Allegheny (Mr. Simpson) has said, would at least awaken some interest in some parts of the county. Now you heard what my colleague (Mr. Marcus) said about there being no sentiment in favor of it in the city, and I say to you that no person in the county, outside of the city, has expressed any desire for this bill to pass this House.

Of course it is necessary to collect the taxes and collect them promptly, but it does not follow that it is necessary to create four jobs to do that thing. There has been no criticism offered nor any fault found with the present system and if my good friend thought that it was not done promptly enough, that question might have been raised back home. Now you have added judges to our county: you have increased the salaries of various men in different offices and you have added more jobs. All that this is for is to create more jobs. We have no need for it and there has been no expressed desire on the part of the people for this increase. This is simply an added expense to the county. I would ask the House to vote this bill down as being unnecessary.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. MEHRING. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1658 (Senate Bill No. 814), entitled

An act amending the third section of an act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred and seven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and six) entitled "An Act to regulate and improve the civil service of the cities of the second class in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania making violations of its provisions to be misdemeanors and providing penalties for violations thereof" providing for the method of making the annual appropriations to conduct the business of the Civil Service Commission.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have some one explain the provisions of this bill to the House.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, the act of 1907, providing for the various salaries of employes under the Civil Service Commission differs from this — in that respect differs from any other departments in the city or all other departments of the city government. The number of employes is fixed by council and the salary of the employes is also fixed by Council, but as to the Civil Service Commission, it being recognized that they should be kept as far apart from any other departments as possible, there was a provision made in the act to regulate and improve the civil service of the cities, providing for the business of the Civil Service Commission. Now the only difficulty that arises in interpreting the law is on one word in the clause, "that the Council shall annually appropriate such sum as was necessary to carry out this work— it is on the meaning of the word, "necessary." In other words, whether, when the Civil Service Commission fixes on the number of employes or the salaries, counties must do that or can interfere with the work of the Civil Service Commission by refusing to make appropriation. If councils can do that, then the provision intended by the Legislature is entirely defeated, because they cannot in any way interfere or hamper the work of the commission by refusing to make the appropriation. If this was a matter of council fixing a salary, of course council could say what the appropriation should be, but, the act reads, in section 3:

"Section 3 The Civil Service Commission in each city of the second class shall employ a chief examiner who shall also act as secretary and such other clerks examiners and employes as it may deem necessary or proper to carry out the purpose of this act The clerks examiners and employes shall receive salaries to be fixed by the Civil Service Commission and approved by the mayor"

Under the provisions of the act, they have the authority to make the appointments and fix the salaries and necessarily they must be able to get the appropriation, otherwise the sole purpose of the Civil Service Act would be defeated. That is the only purpose of this bill, whether they can hinder the work or clarify it and make the appropriation the Civil Service Commission asks for.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Dithrich).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Dithrich) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, does this civil service bill apply to all the employes of the city?

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, no, sir. Only those who come within the civil service requirements and take the examination.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, that is nothing more than the old bill provides?

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, no, sir.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, the sponsor of this bill has requested me to state to the House that the bill has been carefully prepared, and that there is very little increase as far as fees are concerned. You will notice that it has been amended since it came from the Senate. As to the particulars in reference to the increases in fees, I want to say that a fee of four dollars was provided for a minute clerk and a fee of seven dollars for a desertion clerk. The fee of seven dollars for a desertion clerk has been reduced to four dollars and the four dollar fee for the minute clerk has been removed by the Judiciary General Committee. The other amendments refer to fees which are charged, but they do not charge them to the county whose duty it is to pay them. Under the decisions of the Supreme Court, before a county can be called upon to pay fees the act of Assembly shall specifically charge that county with the payment of those fees. The bill has been amended in that respect. The bill is also to cover a lot of charges heretofore omitted from the general fee bill for clerks of courts. It is practically a sister bill to the prothonotaries bill which we passed in this House two weeks ago.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, not hearing very well, I did not catch what the gentleman said. I would like to know how this bill compares with the Geary bill which we passed in the House not long ago.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I did not hear what the gentleman said.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander) know how this bill compares with the Geary bill, dealing with the same subject, which we passed in the House a week or two ago?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, my recollection is that the Geary bill is a prothonotary bill, and not a clerk of the courts bill.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, there was a clerk of the courts bill passed a week or so ago.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I do not remember that. This is a general bill for the whole State.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, this is an amendment to the Act of 1868?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, yes; and increases a great many charges, as I said, not heretofore provided for.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1125.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 27, 1919.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen: I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 1126, entitled "An Act to amend section one of an act approved the fifteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and seven (Pamphlet Laws eighty-six) entitled "An Act fixing the salary of the Superintendent of Public Instruction and of the Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction" fixing the salary of the superintendent of Public Instruction for all services required to be performed by law."

WM. C. SPROUL.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE RECALLED FROM GOVERNOR.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1045, as follows:

An Act to amend sections one two and three of article five chapter two of an act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws three hundred twelve) entitled "An Act providing a system of government for boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of article five chapter two of an act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws three hundred twelve) entitled "An Act providing a system of government for boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" which reads as follows

"Section 1 The court of quarter sessions may with the concurrence of the grand jury and upon application in writing of two-thirds of the taxable inhabitants of any borough annul or alter the charter of such borough" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 The several courts of quarter sessions within this Commonwealth shall have power upon petition of two-thirds of the taxable inhabitants of any borough heretofore incorporated to decree the annulment of the charter of such borough The petition for the annulment shall set forth that the petitioners desire that the territory embraced within such borough shall revert to and become a part of the township from which it was taken

Section 2 That section two article five chapter two of said act which reads as follows

"Section 2 The application shall be signed by the petitioners within three months immediately preceding its presentation to the court Public notice of the intended application for such annulment or amendment shall be given in at least one newspaper of the county for a period of not less than thirty days immediately before the application shall be presented" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2 That upon presentation of such application for annulment as aforesaid to the court it shall be filed with the clerk and notice thereof shall be given in at least one newspaper of the proper county for a period of not less than thirty (30) days immediately preceding the date of such hearing and during which time exceptions may be filed to such application by any person interested and at such hearing the court shall make a full investigation of the case and if it shall find that the conditions prescribed by law have been complied with and shall believe that it is expedient to grant the prayer of the applicants shall grant the same and make a decree accordingly and said application and decree shall be recorded in the recorder's office of the proper county

Section 3 That section three of article five chapter two of said act which reads as follows

"Section 3 The application shall be laid before the grand jury at the same term of court when presented if the same can be conveniently done and in no case later than the next subsequent term of the court. If the grand jury shall find that the conditions prescribed by this article have been complied with and shall believe it expedient to grant the prayer of the petitioners they shall certify the same to the court which certificate shall be entered of record No further proceedings shall be had until the succeeding term of the court at which term the judgment of the grand jury may be confirmed If the decree of the court shall be in conformity with the prayer of the petitioners the petition and decree shall be recorded in the recorder's office of the county at the expense of the applicants who shall pay all other expenses and costs in connection with said application" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 3 That upon the entry and recording of such decree the lands embraced within the limits of such borough whose charter is annulled shall thereupon revert to and become a part of the township from which it was taken and be under and subject to its government and control Provided however that any indebtedness of such borough shall be paid from the taxes assessed and collected from that portion of said township formerly included within the limits of such borough

All costs and expenses incident to the proceedings for the annulment of the charter as aforesaid shall be paid by the petitioners

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 5, 1919.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen: I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed a resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 342, for the purpose of amendment.

Accordingly the Bill is herewith returned.

WM. C. SPROUL.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. BROOKS. Mr. Speaker, I move to reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 342, file folio 2139, entitled

An Act to amend clause twelve section thirty-nine of an act approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws seventy-three) entitled "An Act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations" passed finally.

Mr. McCURDY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. BROOKS. Mr. Speaker, I move to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed third reading.

Mr. McCURDY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BROOKS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 1, page 2, line 13, by inserting after the word "may" the following: "by action of its board of directors from time to time."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1243, entitled

An Act to amend sections one thousand and eighty and one thousand and eighty-three and to repeal sections one thousand and eighty-four and one thousand and eighty-five of an act approved the fourteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred forty) entitled "An Act concerning townships and revising amending and consolidating the law relating thereto"

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—1.

Mallery,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideratio nof House Bill No. 1642, entitled

An Act to safeguard human life and health through the Commonwealth by providing for the reporting quarantining and control of diseases declared communicable by this act and by regulation of the Department of Health providing for the prevention of infection therefrom and prescribing penalties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Gans), permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GANS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander), will proceed.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether the amendment on page 4 of the act is a mistake or not. It says; "and for such information and report the Commissioner of Health and the Advisory Board shall make provisions for and pay to every physician making such report not less than twenty-five cents." The amendment provides for the payment of a fee of not less than twenty-five cents?

Mr. GANS. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir, that is right.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, then there is nothing to prevent them paying twenty-five dollars, is there, so far as the provisions of this act are concerned?

Mr. GANS. Mr. Speaker, No.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he don't think it better to have a maximum fee fixed rather than a minimum.

Mr. GANS. Mr. Speaker, no, I do not.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: It seems to me that ordinarily it is proper in these bills to have a maximum fee fixed rather than a minimum one. This bill provides for the payment of a fee and it provides a minimum of not less than twenty-five cents.

The maximum carries the limit. It does not seem to me that this House wants to vote for a bill as loosely drawn and amended as this is.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

CONFERENCE COMMITTEE REPORT ON HOUSE BILL NO. 476.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER called up the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 476.

The report as agreed upon was read as follows:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 476.

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 476, entitled An Act to amend section eight, clause (b), of an act approved June 7, 1917, (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and three), entitled "An Act relating to the form, execution, revocation and interpretation of wills, to noncupative wills, to the appointment of testamentary guardians, to spendthrift trusts, to forfeiture of devise or legacy in case of murder of testator, to elections to take under or against wills and to the recording and registering of such elections and of decrees relative thereto and to the fees therefor," by giving to any mother or adopting mother the right to appoint a testamentary guardian for her minor child when the father or adopting father of such child has forfeited his right to appoint a testamentary guardian under clause (c) of said section and when the said mother, or adopting mother, has left an estate real or personal to such child the said amendment to apply to the wills of all persons dying on or after the thirty first day of December one thousand nine hundred and seventeen respectfully submit the following bill as our report

FRANK A. BALDWIN,
JOHN S. MILLER,
SCOTT S. LEIBY,
Committee on the part of the Senate.
JAMES A. WALKER,
A. B. HESS,
LEOPOLD C. GLASS,
Committee on the part of the Houseof Representatives.

An Act to amend section eight clause (b) of an act approved June seventh one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and three) entitled "An Act relating to the form execution revocation and interpretation of wills to noncupative wills to the appointment of testamentary guardians to spend-thrift trusts to forfeiture of devise or legacy in case of murder of testator to elections to take under or against wills and to the recording and registering of such elections and of decrees relative thereto and to the fees therefor" by giving to any mother or adopting mother the right to appoint a testamentary guardian for her minor child when the father or adopting father of such child has for one year or upwards immediately preceding the death of the mother or adopting mother wilfully neglected or refused to provide for such child and when the said mother or adopting mother has left an estate real or personal to such child the said amendment to apply to the wills of all persons dying on or after the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and seventeen

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section eight clause (b) of "the Wills Act of one thousand and nine hundred and seventeen" approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and three) which reads as follows

"(b) Every person competent to make a will being the mother or adopting mother of any minor child unmarried may appoint a testamentary guardian for such child during his or her minority or for any shorter period whenever the father or adopting father of such child shall be deceased and has not appointed such a guardian Such mother or adopting mother who shall leave to such child an estate either real or personal may appoint a testamentary guardian for such estate of the child whether the father or adopting father of such child shall be living or dead and whether he shall or shall not have appointed a testamentary guardian for such child" be and the same is hereby amended so as to read

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1069 (Senate Bill No. 955), entitled

An Act to amend part of clause (d) section seven of the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and ninety-eight) entitled "An Act to establish a county court for the county of Allegheny and prescribing its powers and duties regulating the procedure therein and providing for the expenses thereof" as amended by providing that informations in cases of desertion and non-support may be made before aldermen and justices of the peace and providing for the binding over of persons arrested on warrants issued on such informations

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I wish someone in this House would explain this bill.

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, as I understand this bill, it gives the aldermen jurisdiction in certain cases that they do not have at the present time. In other words, if you desire to make an information for desertion or non-support, that information must be made in our County Court. If a wife should make an information against her husband who has disappeared, and if subsequently she should find on a Saturday afternoon or Sunday that the husband is in town, she would have to wait until Monday morning to make that information or serve the papers. If a woman lived thirty miles from the court house, she would have to come to town to make the information. This act provides that an information may be made before an alderman or justice of the peace and gives them jurisdiction in these cases. It is merely giving to the injured party the right to bring that case in an alderman's office.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

WILLIAM T. RAMSEY,
GEORGE W. WILLIAMS,
J. W. SIMPSON,
HUGH A. DAWSON,
JOHN M. FLYNN,
Committee on Rules.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to announce at this time that the resolution just adopted by the House will be rigidly enforced in the future. The Chair has been very much displeased the last few weeks with the meager attendance and the light way in which the members of the House regard their responsibility both to the Chair and to their constituencies, and trusts that the members will see to it themselves that the resolution is carried out in letter and in spirit. The Chair desires to make the work of the House as easy for the members as possible; but, under the rules and under the law, is compelled to insist that the House perform its constitutional duties.

INVITATION FROM THE SENATE TO HEAR ADDRESS BY COLONEL JOSEPH H. THOMPSON.

A committee of the Senate being introduced, the Chairman (Senator Richard J. Baldwin), on behalf of the President and members of the Senate, invited the Speaker, officers and members of the House of Representatives to attend a meeting of the Senate to hear the address of Colonel Joseph H. Thompson.

The SPEAKER accepted the invitation on behalf of the House and extended its thanks therefor.

RECESS.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, in view of the invitation extended by the Senate, I move you that the House recess until 9:30 o'clock P. M. and proceed to the Senate to listen to the address of Colonel Joseph H. Thompson.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 8:50 o'clock P. M.) the House took a recess until 9:30 o'clock P. M. and proceeded to the Senate in a body.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 9:30 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. LAFFERTY, from the Committee on Printing, reported as amended House Bill No. 1659 (Senate Bill No. 895), entitled

An Act creating a devision of documents defining its powers and duties regulating the number of documents to be printed bound and the requisition distribution and sale of the public documents of this Commonwealth providing penalties for the violation of this act and repealing certain acts

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. JENNINGS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 10:10 o'clock P. M.), the House adjourned until Wednesday morning, May 28, 1919, at 10:30 o'clock.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1919 — 123rd of the General Assembly

Vol. 5. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, MAY 28, 1919. No. 54.

SENATE.

WEDNESDAY, May 28, 1919.

The Senate met at 10.30 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. Clarence J. Buckman) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we thank Thee for the spirit of the American soldier as exemplified last night, in special session, in the inspiring address of Colonel Joseph H. Thompson, a former member of this Senate. We thank Thee for life with all its blessings and opportunities; for the uplifting and inspiring influences of Thy Word. Help us to observe the teachings and promises of these sacred writings. With these fundamental precepts as the guide of our lives we cannot go astray. Help us to dedicate ourselves to the great purpose of translating into a universal brotherhood these eternal doctrines. These favors we ask in our Saviour's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. McCONNELL, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. PHIPPS, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported as committed, the following resolution:

In the Senate, May 27, 1919.

Whereas certain Officers who have had long and honorable military careers in the service of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, and have served with distinction on the Mexican Border in the United States Service, and

Whereas many of these officers, during their service in the National Guard, had been trained at numerous schools and encampments, and having become a part of the Twenty-eighth Division during the ten months of its training at Camp Hancock, were further trained in their duties and many of them graduated from Machine Gun, Infantry and Artillery Schools at Camp Hancock, Fort Sill and other places, and

Whereas these officers performed their duties with efficiency, and displayed both zeal and valor on the various battlefields in France, and

Whereas many of these officers were relieved from their commands about the time that it became evident that a cessation of hostilities was about to take place, and Regular Army Officers who had not taken part in the actual service during hostilities, were assigned to take their places, and

Whereas many of these National Guard Officers were relieved from their commands without cause, and in an unjust and arbitrary manner, and

Whereas in some cases the reason given for such removals were totally unfounded and unsupported by evidence, and the officers relieved were not accorded the opportunity of contradicting the statements, or to vindicate themselves, or to have such impartial consideration as is required by the principles of justice, and

Whereas the exercise of the arbitrary power of Commanding Officers who were of the Regular Army, was invariably directed against the former National Guardsmen to such an extent that there appears to have been a definite plan and design to discredit the National Guard.

Therefore, be it Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the United States Congress, be requested to make such investigation of the whole subject as shall seem necessary and proper, and if it shall appear that the said Officers have been treated unfairly, that proper recognition and vindication be given them, and that suitable reprimand or other punishment be given those guilty of such unjust treatment, and that proper and adequate laws be enacted to prevent the recurrence of such injustice in the future.

Mr. J. S. MILLER from the Committee on Education reported as committed Senate Bill No. 871 (House Bill No. 1155), entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand three hundred and twelve of an act approved the 18th day of May, 1911 (P. L. 309), entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof, providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general, special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith."

Also from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed Senate Bill No. 865, entitled:

A joint resolution proposing an amendment to section eleven of article sixteen of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WEAVER from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed Senate Bill No. 1136 (House Bill No. 1602), entitled:

An Act requiring the State Board of Law Examiners to register as law students all honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines who had made application to take the preliminary law examination but were prevented by reason of being in the service of the United States.

Mr. WHITTEN from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed Senate Bill No. 937 (House Bill No. 1251), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of article three, chapter three of an act approved the 14th day of May, 1915 (P. L. 312), entitled "An Act providing a system of government for boroughs, and revising, amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs."

Mr. McCONNELL from the Committee on Judiciary Special re-reported as committed Senate Bill No. 285, entitled:

An Act to amend section twelve of an act approved the 7th day of June, A. D. 1915 (P. L. 898), entitled: "An Act to supervise the operations of fire insurance rate-making bureaus, and providing for their examination by the Insurance Commissioner; prohibiting discrimination in fixing and collecting fire insurance rates; requiring companies to maintain and cooperate in maintaining and operating rate-making bureaus; requiring inspection and survey by such bureaus of all risks specifically rated; and regulating agreements between companies or other insurers with respect to fixing and collecting fire insurance rates, and repealing existing laws"; by granting to the Insurance Commissioner authority to ascertain whether rates made by such insurance company, individual, association or rate-making bureau are excessive or inadequate and to determine reasonable rates in such cases.

Mr. DAIX from the Committee on Appropriations reported as committed Senate Bill No. 960, entitled:

An Act reorganizing the Department of State Police, creating herein a Bureau of Fire Protection, providing for a State Police force and defining the powers and duties of the same, including the enforcement of laws relating to game, fish, forestry and water supply and certain other laws, and including the collection of information useful for the detection of crime and the apprehension of criminals, providing for the equipment, maintenance and transportation of such police, providing for barracks and sub-stations therefor, and prescribing penalties.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. WOODWARD read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1172, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Philadelphia Art Alliance Association of Philadelphia.

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR SENATE BILL NO. 348.

Mr. EYRE offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to.

In the Senate, May 28, 1919.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That Senate Bill No. 348, file folio 883, entitled "An Act defining consolidation of schools, providing for the establishment and regulation of consolidated schools and providing for State-aid for the transportation of pupils to and from consolidated schools," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Agreeably to order,
